Yankees Gave Aachen A Real Old-Fashioned House-Cleaning

By HAL BOYLE

Aachen, Germany, Oct. 19 (Delayed) (AP)—You have "bankers' hours" in street fighting but it is too much like trying to box Joe Louis to be any fun—one slip and you are through.

You have to work only from 7 a. m. until about 4 p. m., when you knock off for the day and set up night outpost guards. It seems like that 4 o'clock whistle will never blow though when you are sweating out a sniper's bullet from every doorway, window ledge and rubble heap.

"It's the guy you never see who gets you," is the first rule of street fighting. So you keep your eyes peeled.

Had the Germans been able to keep their supply lines open into the city, it might have been a different tale. But the trapped Nazi garrison knew the cause was lost and fought chiefly to delay rather than avert American occupation of Aachen, which was inevitable. As it is, the Army got splendid training at relatively slight cost in the type of close-quarter fighting which may become much more deadly as the Allied armies leap-frog deeper into Germany.

Yankee Teamwork

It was as pretty a sight as watching a pack of bird dogs flush quail to see how smoothly tanks and doughboys worked together to capture hidden Nazis in the ruins of the city, which had been damaged more by earlier Allied bombings than by the wear and tear of street fighting.

I watched this technique from a street near Aachen's storied cathedral in which rests the boxed bones of Charlemagne. The Germans were banging away with an anti-tank gun from a hill outside the town and one of their busy little supermen was throwing over occasional mortar shells to make the dull, drizzly day even less attractive.

Directing men along a rain-soaked street on which shattered glass gleamed like ice cubes was tall Capt. Ozell Smoot, former Oklahoma city high school basketball player.

Pick Off Snipers

Sgt. Joseph Herbert, of Dawson, Pa., had a group of soldiers set up two machine guns at the corner and cover a street they had to clean up with crossfire. Doughboys waiting in the shelter of doorways looked on incuriously as guns opened up to pin down any Nazi sniper.

As a Sherman tank commanded by T/5 Richard R. Saldana, Chicago, backed into the street from behind a wall shattered by shelling, Staff Sgt. William Stelna, Cleveland, Ohio, ordered a squad of four riflemen to move along with it and pick off any enemy bazooka man who might try to ambush it.

The tank lumbered up within a few yards of a cement wall surrounding the nearest house and blasted a hole in it.

Tenseness spread among the group of waiting figures in the doorway although no enemy had been seen. In a moment they would slip through that hole into the backyard of the first house and begin a long, tedious, room-by-room search of every building in the block. Each man carried an extra bandolier, a rifle, five hand grenades and a day's rations in his pack.

Real House-Cleaning

The tank crawled slowly around the corner and down the street, its long snout poised to blow apart any house where Nazis were entrenched in force.

"Its no good—this street fighting," said a sergeant from Brooklyn, a squad leader standing next to me in a doorway. "Its hard to keep from getting mixed up with your own men, those streets don't come out as they look on maps. It is not so bad if you drive these Jerries into the basement first. You can give them a grenade. We have been using grenades by truckloads. We toss one in every cellar that looks the least bit suspicious—and this work makes you awful suspicious."

He and his men ran through the blasted wall with the furtive, crouching, flatfooted gait familiar to all infantrymen. The tempo of covering machinegun fire was stepped up. A few seconds later the smothered sound of a grenade burst came from inside the first building.

The Yanks were giving Aachen a good, old-fashioned fall house-cleaning.

Sunday Evening Musicales Begin

Sunday evening musicales at Gettysburg college will be resumed for the winter season Sunday evening at 8:45 o'clock, it was announced today. The programs will be presented each Sunday evening in the lobby of the SCA building on the campus.

Artists for the first program include Russell Riethmiller, baritone, to be accompanied by Miss Miriam McCarney; Miss Marian Fish, soprano, to be accompanied by Miss Elsie Hartzell, and Prof. Frederick Shaffer, who will present piano selections.

Dr. Francis C. Mason of the faculty will be the reader. The public is invited to attend.

Japan's Sea Losses Are Mounting

Daring U. S. Admiral Split His Fleet To Crush Nips' Armada

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass Nippon's 35-warship tragedy of 1942 off Guadalcanal, stemmed today from an amazing gamble which actually succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to America's invasion beaches on Leyte.

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships in a trio of naval-air encounters off the Philippines, tells a far from completed story.

Remnants of the once proud Imperial Fleet which, it now can be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landings, still were under relentless air pursuit. MacArthur announced today his land-based Liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao sea.

Several Jap Destroyers Sunk

Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, whose outnumbered Seventh Fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history-making triumph in Leyte gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially.

It was Kinkaid who split up his fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarines and warships and carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr.'s Third Fleet surprised and dealt mortal blows on enemy flattops attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

Today Kinkaid told Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent in the Philippines, that the Japanese risked from 39 to 46 warships in the two battles near Leyte and only 20 retired. That general summary suggested from 19 to 26 enemy ships were bagged although it did not differentiate between sunk and damaged. But the 20 which got away were pursued by planes and, doubtless, as yet undisclosed damage was heaped on them.

MacArthur-Nimitz communiques on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Admiral Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those two battles.

Eight of the 14—two battleships, three cruisers and three battleships—were sunk. Four battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were damaged.

Twelve more of the 27 confirmations have come as incompleted reports on Halsey's powerhouse blows dealt south of Formosa. It is known that two enemy carriers and two cruisers were sunk, a large carrier and two battleships probably sunk, two battleships and three cruisers damaged. Still to be added to the confirmations are several destroyers damaged.

The 27th confirmation was the light cruiser hit by Liberators in the Mindanao Sea, a sector through which one segment of the Japanese fleet naturally would flee after being forced back through Surigao Strait. This was the fleet group which approached Leyte from the southeast and actually penetrated the gulf.

Used Large Fleet

Kinkaid's estimate of perhaps 46 enemy warships sent into action through narrow straits of the Philippines was added to the known 12 sent south of Formosa. That means at least 58 enemy warships were committed by Japan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion. Of course, the figure is much higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports that this group even comprised the bulk of the imperial fleet. Attempting surprise, it was surprised.

The American losses acknowledged were in striking contrast with those inflicted on the enemy. A light American carrier, the 10,000-ton Princeton, and an escort carrier went down. An undisclosed number of patrol torpedo boats were lost. Several escort carriers and destroyers were damaged.

Destruction of six Japanese warships, including an aircraft carrier and a battleship, in the three-pronged naval-air battle off the Philippines was admitted by Imperial Japanese headquarters in a broadcast today.

(The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications, admitted in addition to the carrier and battleship sunk two cruisers and two destroyers were sunk and one carrier and one Japanese battleship "substantially damaged.")

DR. ANSON HAMM IS ELECTED HEAD OF PSEA BRANCH

Dr. Anson Hamm, supervising principal of the Fairfield schools, was reelected president of the local branch of the Pennsylvania State Education association at the business session of the eighty-eighth Adams county teachers' institute this morning.

Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools, was named vice president and Caroline Rex, a Biglerville teacher, was chosen secretary. The treasurer, Margaret S. Benner, of Mount Joy township, was reelected.

The two PSEA delegates named were Doctor Hamm and Clyde McCauslin, principal of the Franklin township school. J. Blaine Bushey, of Menallen township and Grantas Hoopert, of York Springs, were picked as auditors and a legislative committee consisting of Professor Stock, C. P. Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; and Professor McCauslin, also was elected.

Treasurer's Report

The Rev. Charles K. Gibson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was in charge of the devotionals opening the meeting this morning. During the business session Clarence P. Keefer, as chairman, presented the report of the nominating committee. S. Ray Shetter, chairman of the ushers led that group in acting as teller for the election.

The report of the resolutions committee, of which Dr. Hamm was chairman, will be published Saturday in The Gettysburg Times. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools and treasurer of the institute, reported total receipts of last year's institute as $1,910.95. Expenses were $1,851.28, leaving a balance of $59.67. The report, which was attested by Winfield G. Horner, was audited October 28, 1943.

In her report as treasurer of the local branch of the PSEA, Margaret S. Benner listed total receipts for the year as $875.31 and expenses as $872.47. Under new business Richard S. Lighter, county vocational educational adviser, who is chairman of the county milkweed pod collection, asked teachers to assemble the bags for transportation to Gettysburg.

Attorney Speaks

Lighter asked that the teachers conclude the collection of the milkweed now because the frost has eliminated further usefulness of unpicked pods. The bags of pods should be taken to the county collection centers, he said, from where trucks from the State highway department will carry them to the central collection point in Gettysburg.

The main address of the morning was given by Donald V. Hock, an attorney from Utica, New York. Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, reviewed the chapter's activities, and told the institute members of the county Red Cross program.

A third address was given by Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Salvage division of the War Production board, with headquarters in Harrisburg.

Music on the program was under the direction of Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, music supervisor in the Arendtsville schools. She accompanied Jean Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville Vocational school, who sang two selections. A male chorus from the Arendtsville school also sang.

Almost 300 teachers and guests attended the institute banquet held at noon at the St. James Lutheran church. Doctor Bream was toastmaster and Hock presented the main talk. He spoke on "The Rebirth of a Nation."

Rites Held Today For Mrs. Warner

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth E. Warner, 76, 145 West High street, were held from the late home this afternoon at 3 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt and Dr. H. C. Alleman. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

The pallbearers were Franklin Swope, Blaine Kitzmiller, Carl Menchey, Paul Oyler, Horace Bender and Ernest Kranias.

Bond Quota Is $2,290,000

Adams county's quota for the Sixth War Bond drive is $2,290,000 for all types of bonds, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams County War Finance committee, announced today. This represents a reduction of $507,000 from the quota for the Fifth Bond Drive.

The quota is divided as follows:

"E" bonds to individuals, $450,000. All other types of bonds to individuals, $660,000 or a total of $1,110,00 to individuals. The balance of $1,180,000 is assigned to corporations.

The drive officially opens November 20 and continues through December 16.

MORE SURGICAL DRESSING HELP NEEDED BY R.C.

Lagging far behind its quotas set by national Red Cross because of the shortage of help, the Red Cross Surgical Dressing service here issued an urgent appeal today for more volunteers to help make the critically needed dressings at work centers in Gettysburg, Cashtown and Arendtsville.

"There must be many women in the county who have a few hours a week to give to making surgical dressings to be used in treating our wounded fighting men in Europe and the Pacific," Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, surgical dressing chairman, said today. "Women who have sons, brothers or husbands in the armed forces must be eager to help with this work that is so important.

"Next to the Blood Donor service, there is no more direct way for women at home to aid the fighting men than by helping to make surgical dressings to be turned over by the Red Cross for the use of the army and navy."

Work Each Afternoon

With a much depleted staff of volunteers, the September quota lacks 7,200 dressings of being filled and when that quota is met there are 36,000 to be folded and packed during the months of October and November, Mrs. Winebrenner said.

The work room in the American Legion building is open each afternoon of the week, Monday through Friday, from 1:30 to 4 p. m. and on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Volunteers at Arendtsville should contact Mrs. Eva Rexroth and those at Cashtown, Mrs. Dale Bream, surgical dressings chairmen for their respective communities.

Women who give 50 hours in surgical dressing work qualify for the Red Cross Volunteer Service pin.

LABOR CAMPS BEING CLOSED IN THIS AREA

All activity at the Cross Keys emergency farm labor camp ended Thursday evening and the camp at Old Forge, Franklin county, for Jamaican workers will close November 1, Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, announced today.

The 37 high school boys from Dauphin and Perry counties, who worked on Adams county farms for the past several weeks, left the Cross Keys camp Sunday, and the supervisor, George D. Keller of Schuylkill Haven, finished his work Thursday.

Collins said that all work contracts for the 127 Jamaicans who have been living at the Old Forge camp would expire by the end of October and consequently the workers would leave this area. Although there had been speculation that the Jamaicans would remain to work in Adams county, the labor situation has improved sufficiently to eliminate the need for the camp.

Jamaicans Helped Since June

The Jamaicans probably will remain in the United States to work in some other part of the country, but Collins said he had not learned where they would be transferred. The first group of the Jamaicans came to the Od Forge camp in June and since that time have been helping in general farm work, mostly on

"ACUTE" LABOR SHORTAGE PAST; PUPILS PRAISED

Adams county's acute shortage of farm labor "is over the hump," County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman said today and he expects the next week will "see the clean up of most of the apple picking."

Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, reported the labor situation greatly improved over the conditions three weeks ago. He said the county fruit growers had been aided materially by the efforts of the high school children and "we want to congratulate them for the part they have played in helping to harvest the crop."

Enough for Canneries

Other help came from farm workers who were shifted north from Maryland where the work had been completed; county farmers who had completed their fall tasks and could devote more time to the orchards; and the Jamaican workers. Few growers used the German prisoners of war.

Collins said the county labor picture "is very much better" and that he did not anticipate any further shortage over the winter. Cannery work, which will need the bulk of the help, can be handled by employes from the county, he stated.

Both Collins and Hartman expressed thanks to the high school children of the county for the work they did during September and October. Hartman said, "we want them to know they were appreciated and that they did their part in food production in the county. We never could have gotten along without the help from the school children this year."

Snow Falls In South Mountains

Snow was falling in the mountains of northern and western Adams county at noon today and some parts of that area reported the first flakes were noted about 9:30 a. m. Flakes were seen at intervals after that until mid-afternoon.

Here the temperature was 44 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon, lowest mid-day reading taken here this fall. The low Thursday night and early this morning was 38 degrees, official instrument of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, showed.

SGT. H. F. SWOPE WOUNDED OCT. 12

Sgt. Howard F. Swope, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Swope, New Oxford R. 2, near New Chester, was slightly wounded in action in Germany on October 12, according to a War department telegram received by his parents, Thursday afternoon.

Swope, who formerly was employed as a barber at the Willis Eckert shop on York street, serves with a tank destroyer battalion.

Several days ago the family received a letter from Sergeant Swope, written in Holland on September 29, in which he told of having seen a "fine USO show right from Broadway" a few miles from the battle lines.

The young countian went overseas about April 1 and has seen action in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He first was stationed in England.

Sergeant Swope, who is unmarried, entered service in June, 1941. He trained at Camp Croft, S. C.; Camp Hood (North), Texas, and then went overseas.

A brother, Roy D. Swope, served for 13 months in the army and then received a medical discharge. He is now employed at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot.

Mother Of Local Woman Expires

Mrs. Carmela diFilippo, 67, widow of Dominic diFilippo, died suddenly at her home in Philadelphia, Thursday from a heart attack.

Among the nine children surviving are Mrs. Albert Cardenti, 327 Hanover street. A brother, and sister also survive.

GUEST TEACHER

The Rev. Robert B. Rau will be the guest teacher for the Men's Bible class of St. James Lutheran church which meets Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock.

The Peace Light Inn will be closed Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Convalescing

Cpl. Ellis B. Rohrbaugh, 29, who is now convalescing in a hospital in England from a wound in his right arm received in action July 11 in France.

A Purple Heart award from the War department was received last month by his wife who resides on Fairfield R. 2. The couple has a 16-month-old daughter.

Corporal Rohrbaugh entered the service June 4, 1941. He received his training with the infantry at Camp Wheeler, Ga.; Camp Blanding, Fla., and Ft. Benning, Ga., before going overseas last January.

Yankees Carve 40 Mile Front In Philippines

By MURLIN SPENCER

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fast-moving American doughboys have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front on Leyte island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counterattack which was repulsed on Samar island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassing raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when the 10th and 24th Army Corps joined forces. The juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles below Tacloban.

Close Valley Trap

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte valley trap was being closed tighter by tank-led doughboys who captured two key towns in a double-pronged drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Buri, previously bypassed because of its strong defenses, was captured after severe fighting by Seventh Division forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Burauen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town near the center of the roadway.

The 96th Division, pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami, captured Tabontabon, a river town eastward. The town is 3½ miles west of Catmon hill, where strong Japanese entrenchments have been encircled.

Down 76 Planes

The 24th Division, attempting to close the northern end of the Leyte trap, encountered increasing Japanese opposition in its advance westward from Palo.

Farther north, the American hold was tight on San Juanico straits, after elements of the First Cavalry Division repulsed a small enemy counterattack at Lapaz on Samar island.

Japanese aerial assaults against shipping in San Pedro bay and the beachhead areas, said the communique, were "again limited to intermittent harassing raids causing light damage and casualties."

Antiaircraft fire shot down 39 of the raiders, fighters got 14 and carrier planes downed 23—a total of 76.

LT. BROWN IS AWARDED DFC

Fifteenth AAF In Italy (By Mail)—First Lieutenant John C. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brown, of Fairfield, navigator of a B-24 Liberator, was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, for "extraordinary achievement during aerial flights over enemy territory."

A veteran of 50 missions, Lt. Brown has seen action over important targets in Germany, France, Austria, Hungary, Rumania, and Italy. He has also been awarded the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters, for meritorious achievement during aerial flights over enemy territory."

Lt. Brown entered the service early in 1943, and received his wings and commission at San Marcos, Texas, October 23, 1943. He was graduated from Fairfield high school, class of '40.

Bitter Fight Is Raging On Dutch Front

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Walter Von Model's Germans leaped into a counter-attack along a 10-mile front against the eastern side of the British salient in Holland today after a heavy artillery barrage.

The attack, which was spread from the Dutch town of Venlo on the German border south to Roermond, in a sector last reported held by American armor, ran into a wall of fire and steel, front line dispatches said.

Von Model was striking desperately to relieve his forces caught in a series of tightening pincers in west Holland.

Canadian forces fighting on both sides of the Schelde in westward advances to open Antwerp, were reinforced by British troops who landed on south Beveland island north of the estuary and established a seven-square mile beachhead.

Take Several Towns

Berlin accounts said this beachhead was "several kilometers deep" and was in the neighborhood of Hoedekenskerke, 5½ miles ahead of Canadian spearheads driving into the island from the east.

A second attempt to land several thousand troops in American amphibian tanks and landing craft at Hansweert, to the east of this bridgehead and across the south Beveland canal just ahead of the Canadian spearhead was broken up this morning, the Germans declared.

Field dispatches said several towns were captured in the beachhead by the British who crossed the three to five-mile wide Schelde at 4 a. m. yesterday, swarmed up the 20-foot dike and surprised thinly strung German machinegunners. The beachhead was strengthened.

The Canadians, completing their drive down the two-mile wide, 10-mile long neck of land connecting the mainland with the island, reached the south Beveland canal which cuts across the neck.

The British, after a 15-mile westward drive in five days from their Nijmegen salient, had hemmed the Germans into a collapsing box and

By HAL BOYLE

Aachen, Germany, Oct. 19 (Delayed) (AP)—You have "bankers' hours" in street fighting but it is too much like trying to box Joe Louis to be any fun—one slip and you are through.

You have to work only from 7 a. m. until about 4 p. m., when you knock off for the day and set up night outpost guards. It seems like that 4 o'clock whistle will never blow though when you are sweating out a sniper's bullet from every doorway, window ledge and rubble heap.

"It's the guy you never see who gets you," is the first rule of street fighting. So you keep your eyes peeled.

Had the Germans been able to keep their supply lines open into the city, it might have been a different tale. But the trapped Nazi garrison knew the cause was lost and fought chiefly to delay rather than avert American occupation of Aachen, which was inevitable. As it is, the Army got splendid training at relatively slight cost in the type of close-quarter fighting which may become much more deadly as the Allied armies leap-frog deeper into Germany.

Yankee Teamwork

It was as pretty a sight as watching a pack of bird dogs flush quail to see how smoothly tanks and doughboys worked together to capture hidden Nazis in the ruins of the city, which had been damaged more by earlier Allied bombings than by the wear and tear of street fighting.

I watched this technique from a street near Aachen's storied cathedral in which rests the boxed bones of Charlemagne. The Germans were banging away with an anti-tank gun from a hill outside the town and one of their busy little supermen was throwing over occasional mortar shells to make the dull, drizzly day even less attractive.

Directing men along a rain-soaked street on which shattered glass gleamed like ice cubes was tall Capt. Ozell Smoot, former Oklahoma city high school basketball player.

Pick Off Snipers

Sgt. Joseph Herbert, of Dawson, Pa., had a group of soldiers set up two machine guns at the corner and cover a street they had to clean up with crossfire. Doughboys waiting in the shelter of doorways looked on incuriously as guns opened up to pin down any Nazi sniper.

As a Sherman tank commanded by T/5 Richard R. Saldana, Chicago, backed into the street from behind a wall shattered by shelling, Staff Sgt. William Steina, Cleveland, Ohio, ordered a squad of four riflemen to move along with it and pick off any enemy bazooka man who might try to ambush it.

The tank lumbered up within a few yards of a cement wall surrounding the nearest house and blasted a hole in it.

Tenseness spread among the group of waiting figures in the doorway although no enemy had been seen. In a moment they would slip through that hole into the backyard of the first house and begin a long, tedious, room-by-room search of every building in the block. Each man carried an extra bandolier, a rifle, five hand grenades and a day's rations in his pack.

Real House-Cleaning

The tank crawled slowly around the corner and down the street, its long snout poised to blow apart any house where Nazis were entrenched in force.

"Its no good—this street fighting," said a sergeant from Brooklyn, a squad leader standing next to me in a doorway. "Its hard to keep from getting mixed up with your own men, those streets don't come out as they look on maps. It is not so bad if you drive these Jerries into the basement first. You can give them a grenade. We have been using grenades by truckloads. We toss one in every cellar that looks the least bit suspicious—and this work makes you awful suspicious."

He and his men ran through the blasted wall with the furtive, crouching, flatfooted gait familiar to all infantrymen. The tempo of covering machinegun fire was stepped up. A few seconds later the smothered sound of a grenade burst came from inside the first building.

The Yanks were giving Aachen a good, old-fashioned fall house-cleaning.

Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; and Professor McCauslin, also was elected.

Treasurer's Report

The Rev. Charles K. Gibson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was in charge of the devotionals opening the meeting this morning. During the business session Clarence P. Keefer, as chairman, presented the report of the nominating committee. S. Ray Shetter, chairman of the ushers led that group in acting as teller for the election.

The report of the resolutions committee, of which Dr. Hamm was chairman, will be published Saturday in The Gettysburg Times. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools and treasurer of the institute, reported total receipts of last year's institute as $1,910.95. Expenses were $1,851.28, leaving a balance of $59.67. The report, which was attested by Winfield G. Horner, was audited October 28, 1943.

In her report as treasurer of the local branch of the PSEA, Margaret S. Benner listed total receipts for the year as $875.31 and expenses as $872.47. Under new business Richard S. Lighter, county vocational educational adviser, who is chairman of the county milkweed pod collection, asked teachers to assemble the bags for transportation to Gettysburg.

Attorney Speaks

Lighter asked that the teachers conclude the collection of the milkweed now because the frost has eliminated further usefulness of unpicked pods. The bags of pods should be taken to the county collection centers, he said, from where trucks from the State highway department will carry them to the central collection point in Gettysburg.

The main address of the morning was given by Donald V. Hock, an attorney from Utica, New York. Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, reviewed the chapter's activities, and told the institute members of the county Red Cross program.

A third address was given by Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Salvage division of the War Production board, with headquarters in Harrisburg.

Music on the program was under the direction of Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, music supervisor in the Arendtsville schools. She accompanied Jean Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville Vocational school, who sang two selections. A male chorus from the Arendtsville school also sang.

Almost 300 teachers and guests attended the institute banquet held at noon at the St. James Lutheran church. Doctor Bream was toastmaster and Hock presented the main talk. He spoke on "The Rebirth of a Nation."

Bond Quota Is $2,290,000

Adams county's quota for the Sixth War Bond drive is $2,290,000 for all types of bonds, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams County War Finance committee, announced today. This represents a reduction of $507,000 from the quota for the Fifth Bond Drive.

The quota is divided as follows:

"E" bonds to individuals, $450,000. All other types of bonds to individuals, $660,000 or a total of $1,110,00 to individuals. The balance of $1,180,000 is assigned to corporations.

The drive officially opens November 20 and continues through December 16.

MORE SURGICAL DRESSING HELP NEEDED BY R.C.

Lagging far behind its quotas set by national Red Cross because of the shortage of help, the Red Cross Surgical Dressing service here issued an urgent appeal today for more volunteers to help make the critically needed dressings at work centers in Gettysburg, Cashtown and Arendtsville.

"There must be many women in the county who have a few hours a week to give to making surgical dressings to be used in treating our wounded fighting men in Europe and the Pacific," Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, surgical dressing chairman, said today. "Women who have sons, brothers or husbands in the armed forces must be eager to help with this work that is so important.

"Next to the Blood Donor service, there is no more direct way for women at home to aid the fighting men than by helping to make surgical dressings to be turned over by the Red Cross for the use of the army and navy."

Work Each Afternoon

With a much depleted staff of volunteers, the September quota lacks 7,200 dressings of being filled and when that quota is met there are 36,000 to be folded and packed during the months of October and November, Mrs. Winebrenner said.

The work room in the American Legion building is open each afternoon of the week, Monday through Friday, from 1:30 to 4 p. m. and on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Volunteers at Arendtsville should contact Mrs. Eva Rexroth and those at Cashtown, Mrs. Dale Bream, surgical dressings chairmen for their respective communities.

Women who give 50 hours in surgical dressing work qualify for the Red Cross Volunteer Service pin.

LABOR CAMPS BEING CLOSED IN THIS AREA

All activity at the Cross Keys emergency farm labor camp ended Thursday evening and the camp at Old Forge, Franklin county, for Jamaican workers will close November 1, Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, announced today.

The 37 high school boys from Dauphin and Perry counties, who worked on Adams county farms for the past several weeks, left the Cross Keys camp Sunday, and the supervisor, George D. Keller of Schuylkill Haven, finished his work Thursday.

Collins said that all work contracts for the 127 Jamaicans who have been living at the Old Forge camp would expire by the end of October and consequently the workers would leave this area. Although there had been speculation that the Jamaicans would remain to work in Adams county, the labor situation has improved sufficiently to eliminate the need for the camp.

Jamaicans Helped Since June

The Jamaicans probably will remain in the United States to work in some other part of the country, but Collins said he had not learned where they would be transferred. The first group of the Jamaicans came to the Od Forge camp in June and since that time have been helping in general farm work, mostly on

"ACUTE" LABOR SHORTAGE PAST; PUPILS PRAISED

Adams county's acute shortage of farm labor "is over the hump," County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman said today and he expects the next week will "see the clean up of most of the apple picking."

Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, reported the labor situation greatly improved over the conditions three weeks ago. He said the county fruit growers had been aided materially by the efforts of the high school children and "we want to congratulate them for the part they have played in helping to harvest the crop."

Enough for Canneries

Other help came from farm workers who were shifted north from Maryland where the work had been completed; county farmers who had completed their fall tasks and could devote more time to the orchards; and the Jamaican workers. Few growers used the German prisoners of war.

Collins said the county labor picture "is very much better" and that he did not anticipate any further shortage over the winter. Cannery work, which will need the bulk of the help, can be handled by employes from the county, he stated.

Both Collins and Hartman expressed thanks to the high school children of the county for the work they did during September and October. Hartman said, "we want them to know they were appreciated and that they did their part in food production in the county. We never could have gotten along without the help from the school children this year."

Snow Falls In South Mountains

Snow was falling in the mountains of northern and western Adams county at noon today and some parts of that area reported the first flakes were noted about 9:30 a. m. Flakes were seen at intervals after that until mid-afternoon.

Here the temperature was 44 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon, lowest mid-day reading taken here this fall. The low Thursday night and early this morning was 38 degrees, official instrument of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, showed.

The young countian went overseas about April 1 and has seen action in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He first was stationed in England.

Sergeant Swope, who is unmarried, entered service in June, 1941. He trained at Camp Croft, S. C.; Camp Hood (North), Texas, and then went overseas.

A brother, Roy D. Swope, served for 13 months in the army and then received a medical discharge. He is now employed at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot.

Daring U. S. Admiral Split His Fleet To Crush Nips' Armada

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass Nippon's 35-warship tragedy of 1942 off Guadalcanal, stemmed today from an amazing gamble which actually succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to America's invasion beaches on Leyte.

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships in a trio of naval-air encounters off the Philippines, tells a far from completed story.

Remnants of the once proud Imperial Fleet which, it now can be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landings, still were under relentless air pursuit. MacArthur announced today his land-based Liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao sea.

Several Jap Destroyers Sunk

Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, whose outnumbered Seventh Fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history-making triumph in Leyte gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially.

It was Kinkaid who split up his fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarines and warships and carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr.'s Third Fleet surprised and dealt mortal blows on enemy flattops attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

Today Kinkaid told Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent in the Philippines, that the Japanese risked from 39 to 46 warships in the two battles near Leyte and only 20 retired. That general summary suggested from 19 to 26 enemy ships were bagged although it did not differentiate between sunk and damaged. But the 20 which got away were pursued by planes and, doubtless, as yet undisclosed damage was heaped on them.

MacArthur-Nimitz communiques on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Admiral Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those two battles.

Eight of the 14—two battleships, three cruisers and three battleships—were sunk. Four battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were damaged.

Twelve more of the 27 confirmations have come as incompleted reports on Halsey's powerhouse blows dealt south of Formosa. It is known that two enemy carriers and two cruisers were sunk, a large carrier and two battleships probably sunk, two battleships and three cruisers damaged. Still to be added to the confirmations are several destroyers damaged.

The 27th confirmation was the light cruiser hit by Liberators in the Mindanao Sea, a sector through which one segment of the Japanese fleet naturally would flee after being forced back through Surigao Strait. This was the fleet group which approached Leyte from the southeast and actually penetrated the gulf.

Used Large Fleet

Kinkaid's estimate of perhaps 46 enemy warships sent into action through narrow straits of the Philippines was added to the known 12 sent south of Formosa. That means at least 58 enemy warships were committed by Japan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion. Of course, the figure is much higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports that this group even comprised the bulk of the imperial fleet. Attempting surprise, it was surprised.

The American losses acknowledged were in striking contrast with those inflicted on the enemy. A light American carrier, the 10,000-ton Princeton, and an escort carrier went down. An undislosed number of patrol torpedo boats were lost. Several escort carriers and destroyers were damaged.

Destruction of six Japanese warships, including an aircraft carrier and a battleship, in the three-pronged naval-air battle off the Philippines was admitted by Imperial Japanese headquarters in a broadcast today.

(The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications, admitted in addition to the carrier and battleship sunk two cruisers and two destroyers were sunk and one carrier and one Japanese battleship "substantially damaged.")

Yankees Carve 40 Mile Front In Philippines

By MURLIN SPENCER

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fast-moving American doughboys have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front on Leyte island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counterattack which was repulsed on Samar island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassing raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when the 10th and 24th Army Corps joined forces. The juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles below Tacloban.

Close Valley Trap

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte valley trap was being closed tighter by tank-led doughboys who captured two key towns in a double-pronged drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Buri, previously bypassed because of its strong defenses, was captured after severe fighting by Seventh Division forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Burauen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town near the center of the roadway.

The 96th Division, pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami, captured Tabontabon, a river town eastward. The town is 3½ miles west of Catmon hill, where strong Japanese entrenchments have been encircled.

Down 76 Planes

The 24th Division, attempting to close the northern end of the Leyte trap, encountered increasing Japanese opposition in its advance westward from Palo.

Farther north, the American hold was tight on San Juanico straits, after elements of the First Cavalry Division repulsed a small enemy counterattack at Lapaz on Samar island.

Japanese aerial assaults against shipping in San Pedro bay and the beachhead areas, said the communique, were "again limited to intermittent harassing raids causing light damage and casualties."

Antiaircraft fire shot down 39 of the raiders, fighters got 14 and carrier planes downed 23—a total of 76.

Bitter Fight Is Raging On Dutch Front

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Walter Von Model's Germans leaped into a counter-attack along a 10-mile front against the eastern side of the British salient in Holland today after a heavy artillery barrage.

The attack, which was spread from the Dutch town of Venlo on the German border south to Roermond, in a sector last reported held by American armor, ran into a wall of fire and steel, front line dispatches said.

Von Model was striking desperately to relieve his forces caught in a series of tightening pincers in west Holland.

Canadian forces fighting on both sides of the Schelde in westward advances to open Antwerp, were reinforced by British troops who landed on south Beveland island north of the estuary and established a seven-square mile beachhead.

Take Several Towns

Berlin accounts said this beachhead was "several kilometers deep" and was in the neighborhood of Hoedekenskerke, 5½ miles ahead of Canadian spearheads driving into the island from the east.

A second attempt to land several thousand troops in American amphibian tanks and landing craft at Hansweert, to the east of this bridgehead and across the south Beveland canal just ahead of the Canadian spearhead was broken up this morning, the Germans declared.

Field dispatches said several towns were captured in the beachhead by the British who crossed the three to five-mile wide Schelde at 4 a. m., yesterday, swarmed up the 20-foot dike and surprised thinly strung German machinegunners. The beachhead was strengthened.

The Canadians, completing their drive down the two-mile wide, 10-mile long neck of land connecting the mainland with the island, reached the south Beveland canal which cuts across the neck.

The British, after a 15-mile westward drive in five days from their Nijmegen salient, had hemmed the Germans into a collapsing box and

By HAL BOYLE

Aachen, Germany, Oct. 19 (Delayed) (AP)—You have "bankers' hours" in street fighting but it is too much like trying to box Joe Louis to be any fun—one slip and you are through.

You have to work only from 7 a. m. until about 4 p. m., when you knock off for the day and set up night outpost guards. It seems like that 4 o'clock whistle will never blow though when you are sweating out a sniper's bullet from every doorway, window ledge and rubble heap.

"It's the guy you never see who gets you," is the first rule of street fighting. So you keep your eyes peeled.

Had the Germans been able to keep their supply lines open into the city, it might have been a different tale. But the trapped Nazi garrison knew the cause was lost and fought chiefly to delay rather than avert American occupation of Aachen, which was inevitable. As it is, the Army got splendid training at relatively slight cost in the type of close-quarter fighting which may become much more deadly as the Allied armies leap-frog deeper into Germany.

Yankee Teamwork

It was as pretty a sight as watching a pack of bird dogs flush quail to see how smoothly tanks and doughboys worked together to capture hidden Nazis in the ruins of the city, which had been damaged more by earlier Allied bombings than by the wear and tear of street fighting.

I watched this technique from a street near Aachen's storied cathedral in which rests the boxed bones of Charlemagne. The Germans were banging away with an anti-tank gun from a hill outside the town and one of their busy little supermen was throwing over occasional mortar shells to make the dull, drizzly day even less attractive.

Directing men along a rain-soaked street on which shattered glass gleamed like ice cubes was tall Capt. Ozell Smoot, former Oklahoma city high school basketball player.

Pick Off Snipers

Sgt. Joseph Herbert, of Dawson, Pa., had a group of soldiers set up two machine guns at the corner and cover a street they had to clean up with crossfire. Doughboys waiting in the shelter of doorways looked on incuriously as guns opened up to pin down any Nazi sniper.

As a Sherman tank commanded by T/5 Richard R. Saidana, Chicago, backed into the street from behind a wall shattered by shelling, Staff Sgt. William Steina, Cleveland, Ohio, ordered a squad of four riflemen to move along with it and pick off any enemy bazooka man who might try to ambush it.

The tank lumbered up within a few yards of a cement wall surrounding the nearest house and blasted a hole in it.

Tenseness spread among the group of waiting figures in the doorway although no enemy had been seen. In a moment they would slip through that hole into the backyard of the first house and begin a long, tedious, room-by-room search of every building in the block. Each man carried an extra bandolier, a rifle, five hand grenades and a day's rations in his pack.

Real House-Cleaning

The tank crawled slowly around the corner and down the street, its long snout poised to blow apart any house where Nazis were entrenched in force.

"Its no good—this street fighting," said a sergeant from Brooklyn, a squad leader standing next to me in a doorway. "Its hard to keep from getting mixed up with your own men, those streets don't come out as they look on maps. It is not so bad if you drive these Jerries into the basement first. You can give them a grenade. We have been using grenades by truckloads. We toss one in every cellar that looks the least bit suspicious—and this work makes you awful suspicious."

He and his men ran through the blasted wall with the furtive, crouching, flatfooted gait familiar to all infantrymen. The tempo of covering machinegun fire was stepped up. A few seconds later the smothered sound of a grenade burst came from inside the first building.

The Yanks were giving Aachen a good, old-fashioned fall house-cleaning.

Sunday Evening Musicales Begin

Sunday evening musicales at Gettysburg college will be resumed for the winter season Sunday evening at 8:45 o'clock, it was announced today. The programs will be presented each Sunday evening in the lobby of the SCA building on the campus.

Artists for the first program include Russell Riethmiller, baritone, to be accompanied by Miss Miriam McCarney; Miss Marian Fish, soprano, to be accompanied by Miss Elsie Hartzell, and Prof. Frederick Shaffer, who will present piano selections.

Dr. Francis C. Mason of the faculty will be the reader. The public is invited to attend.

DR. ANSON HAMM IS ELECTED HEAD OF PSEA BRANCH

Dr. Anson Hamm, supervising principal of the Fairfield schools, was reelected president of the local branch of the Pennsylvania State Education association at the business session of the eighty-eighth Adams county teachers' institute this morning.

Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools, was named vice president and Caroline Rex, a Biglerville teacher, was chosen secretary. The treasurer, Margaret S. Benner, of Mount Joy township, was reelected.

The two PSEA delegates named were Doctor Hamm and Clyde McCauslin, principal of the Franklin township school. J. Blaine Bushey, of Menallen township and Grantas Hoopert, of York Springs, were picked as auditors and a legislative committee consisting of Professor Stock, C. P. Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; and Professor McCauslin, also was elected.

Treasurer's Report

The Rev. Charles K. Gibson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was in charge of the devotionals opening the meeting this morning. During the business session Clarence P. Keefer, as chairman, presented the report of the nominating committee. S. Ray Shetter, chairman of the ushers led that group in acting as teller for the election.

The report of the resolutions committee, of which Dr. Hamm was chairman, will be published Saturday in The Gettysburg Times. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools and treasurer of the institute, reported total receipts of last year's institute as $1,910.95. Expenses were $1,851.28, leaving a balance of $59.67. The report, which was attested by Winfield G. Horner, was audited October 28, 1943.

In her report as treasurer of the local branch of the PSEA, Margaret S. Benner listed total receipts for the year as $875.31 and expenses as $872.47. Under new business Richard S. Lighter, county vocational educational adviser, who is chairman of the county milkweed pod collection, asked teachers to assemble the bags for transportation to Gettysburg.

Lighter asked that the teachers conclude the collection of the milkweed now because the frost has eliminated further usefulness of unpicked pods. The bags of pods should be taken to the county collection centers, he said, from where trucks from the State highway department will carry them to the central collection point in Gettysburg.

The main address of the morning was given by Donald V. Hock, an attorney from Utica, New York. Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, reviewed the chapter's activities, and told the institute members of the county Red Cross program.

A third address was given by Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Salvage division of the War Production board, with headquarters in Harrisburg.

Music on the program was under the direction of Mrs. Elmira S. Deardorff, music supervisor in the Arendtsville schools. She accompanied Jean Taylor, a senior in the Arendtsville Vocational school, who sang two selections. A male chorus from the Arendtsville school also sang.

Almost 300 teachers and guests attended the institute banquet held at noon at the St. James Lutheran church. Doctor Bream was toastmaster and Hock presented the main talk. He spoke on "The Rebirth of a Nation."

LABOR CAMPS BEING CLOSED IN THIS AREA

All activity at the Cross Keys emergency farm labor camp ended Thursday evening and the camp at Old Forge, Franklin county, for Jamaican workers will close November 1, Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, announced today.

The 37 high school boys from Dauphin and Perry counties, who worked on Adams county farms for the past several weeks, left the Cross Keys camp Sunday, and the supervisor, George D. Keller of Schuylkill Haven, finished his work Thursday.

Collins said that all work contracts for the 127 Jamaicans who have been living at the Old Forge camp would expire by the end of October and consequently the workers would leave this area. Although there had been speculation that the Jamaicans would remain to work in Adams county, the labor situation has improved sufficiently to eliminate the need for the camp.

Jamaicans Helped Since June

The Jamaicans probably will remain in the United States to work in some other part of the country, but Collins said he had not learned where they would be transferred. The first group of the Jamaicans came to the Od Forge camp in June and since that time have been helping in general farm work, mostly on

"ACUTE" LABOR SHORTAGE PAST; PUPILS PRAISED

Adams county's acute shortage of farm labor "is over the hump," County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman said today and he expects the next week will "see the clean up of most of the apple picking."

Jennings B. Collins, manager of the county Emergency Farm Labor office, reported the labor situation greatly improved over the conditions three weeks ago. He said the county fruit growers had been aided materially by the efforts of the high school children and "we want to congratulate them for the part they have played in helping to harvest the crop."

Enough for Canneries

Other help came from farm workers who were shifted north from Maryland where the work had been completed; county farmers who had completed their fall tasks and could devote more time to the orchards; and the Jamaican workers. Few growers used the German prisoners of war.

Collins said the county labor picture "is very much better" and that he did not anticipate any further shortage over the winter. Cannery work, which will need the bulk of the help, can be handled by employes from the county, he stated.

Both Collins and Hartman expressed thanks to the high school children of the county for the work they did during September and October. Hartman said, "we want them to know they were appreciated and that they did their part in food production in the county. We never could have gotten along without the help from the school children this year."

Snow Falls In South Mountains

Snow was falling in the mountains of northern and western Adams county at noon today and some parts of that area reported the first flakes were noted about 9:30 a. m. Flakes were seen at intervals after that until mid-afternoon.

Here the temperature was 44 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon, lowest mid-day reading taken here this fall. The low Thursday night and early this morning was 38 degrees, official instrument of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, showed.

SGT. H. F. SWOPE WOUNDED OCT. 12

Sgt. Howard F. Swope, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Swope, New Oxford R. 2, near New Chester, was slightly wounded in action in Germany on October 12, according to a War department telegram received by his parents, Thursday afternoon.

Swope, who formerly was employed as a barber at the Willis Eckert shop on York street, serves with a tank destroyer battalion.

The young countian went overseas about April 1 and has seen action in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He first was stationed in England.

Sergeant Swope, who is unmarried, entered service in June, 1941. He trained at Camp Croft, S. C.; Camp Hood (North), Texas, and then went overseas.

A brother, Roy D. Swope, served for 13 months in the army and then received a medical discharge. He is now employed at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot.

As the second week of the drive nears its close, the campaign headquarters has compiled partial reports from most of the districts of the county showing total collections to date of $5,258.95, not quite a fifth of the county's quota of $29,959. The drive will close November 1. Some areas have yet to make their initial reports in the drive.

Daring U. S. Admiral Split His Fleet To Crush Nips' Armada

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass Nippon's 35-warship tragedy of 1942 off Guadalcanal, stemmed today from an amazing gamble which actually succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to America's invasion beaches on Leyte.

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships in a trio of naval-air encounters off the Philippines, tells a far from completed story.

Remnants of the once proud Imperial Fleet which, it now can be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landings, still were under relentless air pursuit. MacArthur announced today his land-based Liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao sea.

Several Jap Destroyers Sunk

Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, whose outnumbered Seventh Fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history-making triumph in Leyte gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially.

It was Kinkaid who split up his fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarines and warships and carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr.'s Third Fleet surprised and dealt mortal blows on enemy flattops attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

Today Kinkaid told Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent in the Philippines, that the Japanese risked from 39 to 46 warships in the two battles near Leyte and only 20 retired. That general summary suggested from 19 to 26 enemy ships were bagged although it did not differentiate between sunk and damaged. But the 20 which got away were pursued by planes and, doubtless, as yet undisclosed damage was heaped on them.

MacArthur-Nimitz communiques on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Admiral Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those two battles.

Eight of the 14—two battleships, three cruisers and three battleships—were sunk. Four battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were damaged.

Twelve more of the 27 confirmations have come as incompleted reports on Halsey's powerhouse blows dealt south of Formosa. It is known that two enemy carriers and two cruisers were sunk, a large carrier and two battleships probably sunk, two battleships and three cruisers damaged. Still to be added to the confirmations are several destroyers damaged.

The 27th confirmation was the light cruiser hit by Liberators in the Mindanao Sea, a sector through which one segment of the Japanese fleet naturally would flee after being forced back through Surigao Strait. This was the fleet group which approached Leyte from the southeast and actually penetrated the gulf.

Used Large Fleet

Kinkaid's estimate of perhaps 46 enemy warships sent into action through narrow straits of the Philippines was added to the known 12 sent south of Formosa. That means at least 58 enemy warships were committed by Japan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion. Of course, the figure is much higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports that this group even comprised the bulk of the imperial fleet. Attempting surprise, it was surprised.

The American losses acknowledged were in striking contrast with those inflicted on the enemy. A light American carrier, the 10,000-ton Princeton, and an escort carrier went down. An undislosed number of patrol torpedo boats were lost. Several escort carriers and destroyers were damaged.

Destruction of six Japanese warships, including an aircraft carrier and a battleship, in the three-pronged naval-air battle off the Philippines was admitted by Imperial Japanese headquarters in a broadcast today.

(The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications, admitted in addition to the carrier and battleship sunk two cruisers and two destroyers were sunk and one carrier and one Japanese battleship "substantially damaged.")

Yankees Carve 40 Mile Front In Philippines

By MURLIN SPENCER

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Leyte, Philippines, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fast-moving American doughboys have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front on Leyte island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counterattack which was repulsed on Samar island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassing raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when the 10th and 24th Army Corps joined forces. The juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles below Tacloban.

Close Valley Trap

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte valley trap was being closed tighter by tank-led doughboys who captured two key towns in a double-pronged drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Buri, previously bypassed because of its strong defenses, was captured after severe fighting by Seventh Division forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Burauen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town near the center of the roadway.

The 96th Division, pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami, captured Tabontabon, a river town eastward. The town is 3½ miles west of Catmon hill, where strong Japanese entrenchments have been encircled.

Down 76 Planes

The 24th Division, attempting to close the northern end of the Leyte trap, encountered increasing Japanese opposition in its advance westward from Palo.

Farther north, the American hold was tight on San Juanico straits, after elements of the First Cavalry Division repulsed a small enemy counterattack at Lapaz on Samar island.

Japanese aerial assaults against shipping in San Pedro bay and the beachhead areas, said the communique, were "again limited to intermittent harassing raids causing light damage and casualties."

Antiaircraft fire shot down 39 of the raiders, fighters got 14 and carrier planes downed 23—a total of 76.

Bitter Fight Is Raging On Dutch Front

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Walter Von Model's Germans leaped into a counter-attack along a 10-mile front against the eastern side of the British salient in Holland today after a heavy artillery barrage.

The attack, which was spread from the Dutch town of Venlo on the German border south to Roermond, in a sector last reported held by American armor, ran into a wall of fire and steel, front line dispatches said.

Von Model was striking desperately to relieve his forces caught in a series of tightening pincers in west Holland.

Canadian forces fighting on both sides of the Schelde in westward advances to open Antwerp, were reinforced by British troops who landed on south Beveland island north of the estuary and established a seven-square mile beachhead.

Take Several Towns

Berlin accounts said this beachhead was "several kilometers deep" and was in the neighborhood of Hoedekenskerke, 5½ miles ahead of Canadian spearheads driving into the island from the east.

A second attempt to land several thousand troops in American amphibian tanks and landing craft at Hansweert, to the east of this bridgehead and across the south Beveland canal just ahead of the Canadian spearhead was broken up this morning, the Germans declared.

Field dispatches said several towns were captured in the beachhead by the British who crossed the three to five-mile wide Schelde at 4 a. m., yesterday, swarmed up the 20-foot dike and surprised thinly strung German machinegunners. The beachhead was strengthened.

The Canadians, completing their drive down the two-mile wide, 10-mile long neck of land connecting the mainland with the island, reached the south Beveland canal which cuts across the neck.

The British, after a 15-mile westward drive in five days from their Nijmegen salient, had hemmed the Germans into a collapsing box and

JAPAN LUCKY SEA DISASTER WAS NOT WORSE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the Yankee hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine archipelago is that their disaster was no worse.

With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the Nipponese have suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the Allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

Big Navy Crippled

Japan's Navy, which was estimated to total about 200 ships before the current engagement, has been crippled. Its back has been broken by the heavy loss in capital ships.

The Japs lost more than 27 important ships—how many more remains to be confirmed. These included 10 battleships which Secretary of Navy Forrestal estimates as representing two-thirds of all Japan had of these leviathans.

It may help up to assess the full significance of the catastrophe that has overtaken the Mikado's Navy if we recall what happened to us at Pearl Harbor in 1941. The brigands from the orient sank or damaged 18 of our warships—and 8 of these were battleships. That pretty well ham-strung us in the Pacific for a long time, and vastly contributed to the enemy success in overrunning strategic islands.

Cannot Recover

Well, that's the misfortune—multiplied—which now has been handed back to the Japanese. But their position is desperate, for they haven't the resources to recover from the blow as did the United States. They no longer are capable of facing the American Naval forces for our Pacific fleet has several times the numerical strength of the best that Japan can muster. Not only that, but the British admiralty announced the other day that it had started to move into the orient a huge fleet capable of giving battle to the entire Japanese Navy—and this was before the Japs suffered disaster off the Philippines.

What chance has the Japanese fleet in face of all this? I think we may expect it to pull out of the South China sea and return to the defensive. Probably much of it will be retained in home waters to shield the motherland against the Allied assault which already is boiling up.

Luck For Allies

This means that Nippon—already short of warships to guard her long and vulnerable communications to the East Indies—is still further weakened in this respect. Upon those communications rests her ability to continue the war, for she is dependent on Java and other Indonesian territory for numerous vital supplies. In short, those communications represent Japan's lifeline.

So far as concerns General MacArthur's invasion, it's hardly likely that the Japs will attempt another heavy stab at him by sea. Admittedly that's a great relief, for any big scale amphibious operation is vulnerable in its initial stages.

It would appear that MacArthur narrowly escaped a wholly nasty situation, for the Japanese attack was perfectly timed, and had it been backed by skill and initiative it might have gone places. As it was, they were out-smarted and out-fought.

LOCAL YOUTHS AT LST NAVAL BASE

Julius H. Swope, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Franklin Swope, Carlisle street, and Robert L. Shroyer, of 131 South Washington street, are training for duty with the amphibious forces aboard an LST (Landing Ship Tank) at the Camp Bradford Naval Base, Norfolk, Va.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 328-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes.

Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Camp Bradford, where the young men are stationed, is one of a group of bases operated by the Amphibious Training Command of the U. S. Atlantic fleet along the eastern seaboard. The Bradford base alone is readying thousands of Navy men to operate the ships of the amphibious fleet, fast growing toward its year-end goal of 80,000 new landing craft.

"No one can be more anxious than I am for the party to so measure up and no one will work harder than I will to bring this about."

SIX AMERICAN WARSHIPS LOST IN SEA BATTLE

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese Navy in the battle of the Philippines totaled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers and a destroyer escort.

Names of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the Navy's brief communique today, pending notification of next of kin of casualties aboard the ships.

No details, the Navy said, are yet available on circumstances of the loss of the ships, which probably carried a total of about 3,900 men.

A large portion of this total personnel was aboard the light carrier Princeton from which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, has said more than 1,300 officers and men were rescued.

170th SHIP LOST

The lost carrier escorts each carried a complement of probably 1,000 men, and each had a squadron of more than 21 planes.

Destroyers carry a normal complement of about 200 men, and destroyer escorts about 160.

The six losses raise to 170 the number of warships definitely listed as sunk since the war started.

In addition 38 American vessels are overdue and presumed lost. They include 27 submarines, and nine ships destroyed to prevent capture. The total of ships overdue or destroyed consequently comes to 217.

Japanese losses in the battle which cost the six ships, with official reports still incomplete are:

Two carriers, five cruisers and one battleship definitely sunk; one carrier and two battleships probably sunk; and seven battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers and "several" more destroyers damaged. This makes a total of 26, plus the "several destroyers." Another cruiser subsequently was reported hit, bringing the toll to 27.

To aid householders in continuing to budget their ration to last through the winter, the OPA today issued its third weekly report showing the maximum per cent of the total fuel oil ration which should have been used to date.

As of this week, consumers in this locality should have burned not more than 6 per cent of their total yearly fuel oil ration, according to the OPA report.

The weekly reports as based, first on the type of weather prevailing in each particular area as charted during the winter months by weather stations throughout the country, and second, on the proportion of the heating season which has elapsed. Thus, the figures will vary for each individual locality with the difference in weather.

The percentages are issued to help consumers do an effective job of budgeting their ration over the heating season.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the Yankee hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine archipelago is that their disaster was no worse.

With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the Nipponese have suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the Allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

Big Navy Crippled

Japan's Navy, which was estimated to total about 200 ships before the current engagement, has been crippled. Its back has been broken by the heavy loss in capital ships.

The Japs lost more than 27 important ships—how many more remains to be confirmed. These included 10 battleships which Secretary of Navy Forrestal estimates as representing two-thirds of all Japan had of these leviathans.

It may help up to assess the full significance of the catastrophe that has overtaken the Mikado's Navy if we recall what happened to us at Pearl Harbor in 1941. The brigands from the orient sank or damaged 18 of our warships—and 8 of these were battleships. That pretty well ham-strung us in the Pacific for a long time, and vastly contributed to the enemy success in overrunning strategic islands.

Cannot Recover

Well, that's the misfortune—multiplied—which now has been handed back to the Japanese. But their position is desperate, for they haven't the resources to recover from the blow as did the United States. They no longer are capable of facing the American Naval forces for our Pacific fleet has several times the numerical strength of the best that Japan can muster. Not only that, but the British admiralty announced the other day that it had started to move into the orient a huge fleet capable of giving battle to the entire Japanese Navy—and this was before the Japs suffered disaster off the Philippines.

What chance has the Japanese fleet in face of all this? I think we may expect it to pull out of the South China sea and return to the defensive. Probably much of it will be retained in home waters to shield the motherland against the Allied assault which already is boiling up.

Luck For Allies

This means that Nippon—already short of warships to guard her long and vulnerable communications to the East Indies—is still further weakened in this respect. Upon those communications rests her ability to continue the war, for she is dependent on Java and other Indonesian territory for numerous vital supplies. In short, those communications represent Japan's lifeline.

So far as concerns General MacArthur's invasion, it's hardly likely that the Japs will attempt another heavy stab at him by sea. Admittedly that's a great relief, for any big scale amphibious operation is vulnerable in its initial stages.

It would appear that MacArthur narrowly escaped a wholly nasty situation, for the Japanese attack was perfectly timed, and had it been backed by skill and initiative it might have gone places. As it was, they were out-smarted and out-fought.

LOCAL YOUTHS AT LST NAVAL BASE

Julius H. Swope, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Franklin Swope, Carlisle street, and Robert L. Shroyer, of 131 South Washington street, are training for duty with the amphibious forces aboard an LST (Landing Ship Tank) at the Camp Bradford Naval Base, Norfolk, Va.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes.

Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Camp Bradford, where the young men are stationed, is one of a group of bases operated by the Amphibious Training Command of the U. S. Atlantic fleet along the eastern seaboard. The Bradford base alone is readying thousands of Navy men to operate the ships of the amphibious fleet, fast growing toward its year-end goal of 80,000 new landing craft.

SIX AMERICAN WARSHIPS LOST IN SEA BATTLE

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese Navy in the battle of the Philippines totaled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers and a destroyer escort.

Names of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the Navy's brief communique today, pending notification of next of kin of casualties aboard the ships.

No details, the Navy said, are yet available on circumstances of the loss of the ships, which probably carried a total of about 3,900 men.

A large portion of this total personnel was aboard the light carrier Princeton from which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, has said more than 1,300 officers and men were rescued.

170th SHIP LOST

The lost carrier escorts each carried a complement of probably 1,000 men, and each had a squadron of more than 21 planes.

Destroyers carry a normal complement of about 200 men, and destroyer escorts about 160.

The six losses raise to 170 the number of warships definitely listed as sunk since the war started.

In addition 38 American vessels are overdue and presumed lost. They include 27 submarines, and nine ships destroyed to prevent capture. The total of ships overdue or destroyed consequently comes to 217.

Japanese losses in the battle which cost the six ships, with official reports still incomplete are:

Two carriers, five cruisers and one battleship definitely sunk; one carrier and two battleships probably sunk; and seven battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers and "several" more destroyers damaged. This makes a total of 26, plus the "several destroyers.' Another cruiser subsequently was reported hit, bringing the toll to 27.

OPA Lists Amount Of Rationed Oil

To aid householders in continuing to budget their ration to last through the winter, the OPA today issued its third weekly report showing the maximum per cent of the total fuel oil ration which should have been used to date.

As of this week, consumers in this locality should have burned not more than 6 per cent of their total yearly fuel oil ration, according to the OPA report.

The weekly reports as based, first on the type of weather prevailing in each particular area as charted during the winter months by weather stations throughout the country, and second, on the proportion of the heating season which has elapsed. Thus, the figures will vary for each individual locality with the difference in weather.

The percentages are issued to help consumers do an effective job of budgeting their ration over the heating season.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the Yankee hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine archipelago is that their disaster was no worse.

With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the Nipponese have suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the Allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

Big Navy Crippled

Japan's Navy, which was estimated to total about 200 ships before the current engagement, has been crippled. Its back has been broken by the heavy loss in capital ships.

The Japs lost more than 27 important ships—how many more remains to be confirmed. These included 10 battleships which Secretary of Navy Forrestal estimates as representing two-thirds of all Japan had of these leviathans.

It may help up to assess the full significance of the catastrophe that has overtaken the Mikado's Navy if we recall what happened to us at Pearl Harbor in 1941. The brigands from the orient sank or damaged 18 of our warships—and 8 of these were battleships. That pretty well ham-strung us in the Pacific for a long time, and vastly contributed to the enemy success in overrunning strategic islands.

Cannot Recover

Well, that's the misfortune—multiplied—which now has been handed back to the Japanese. But their position is desperate, for they haven't the resources to recover from the blow as did the United States. They no longer are capable of facing the American Naval forces for our Pacific fleet has several times the numerical strength of the best that Japan can muster. Not only that, but the British admiralty announced the other day that it had started to move into the orient a huge fleet capable of giving battle to the entire Japanese Navy—and this was before the Japs suffered disaster off the Philippines.

What chance has the Japanese fleet in face of all this? I think we may expect it to pull out of the South China sea and return to the defensive. Probably much of it will be retained in home waters to shield the motherland against the Allied assault which already is boiling up.

Luck For Allies

This means that Nippon—already short of warships to guard her long and vulnerable communications to the East Indies—is still further weakened in this respect. Upon those communications rests her ability to continue the war, for she is dependent on Java and other Indonesian territory for numerous vital supplies. In short, those communications represent Japan's lifeline.

So far as concerns General MacArthur's invasion, it's hardly likely that the Japs will attempt another heavy stab at him by sea. Admittedly that's a great relief, for any big scale amphibious operation is vulnerable in its initial stages.

It would appear that MacArthur narrowly escaped a wholly nasty situation, for the Japanese attack was perfectly timed, and had it been backed by skill and initiative it might have gone places. As it was, they were out-smarted and out-fought.

LOCAL YOUTHS AT LST NAVAL BASE

Julius H. Swope, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Franklin Swope, Carlisle street, and Robert L. Shroyer, of 131 South Washington street, are training for duty with the amphibious forces aboard an LST (Landing Ship Tank) at the Camp Bradford Naval Base, Norfolk, Va.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly onto enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and Navy planes.

Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Camp Bradford, where the young men are stationed, is one of a group of bases operated by the Amphibious Training Command of the U. S. Atlantic fleet along the eastern seaboard. The Bradford base alone is readying thousands of Navy men to operate the ships of the amphibious fleet, fast growing toward its year-end goal of 80,000 new landing craft.

SIX AMERICAN WARSHIPS LOST IN SEA BATTLE

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese Navy in the battle of the Philippines totaled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers and a destroyer escort.

Names of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the Navy's brief communique today, pending notification of next of kin of casualties aboard the ships.

No details, the Navy said, are yet available on circumstances of the loss of the ships, which probably carried a total of about 3,900 men.

A large portion of this total personnel was aboard the light carrier Princeton from which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, has said more than 1,300 officers and men were rescued.

170th SHIP LOST

The lost carrier escorts each carried a complement of probably 1,000 men, and each had a squadron of more than 21 planes.

Destroyers carry a normal complement of about 200 men, and destroyer escorts about 160.

The six losses raise to 170 the number of warships definitely listed as sunk since the war started.

In addition 38 American vessels are overdue and presumed lost. They include 27 submarines, and nine ships destroyed to prevent capture. The total of ships overdue or destroyed consequently comes to 217.

Japanese losses in the battle which cost the six ships, with official reports still incomplete are:

Two carriers, five cruisers and one battleship definitely sunk; one carrier and two battleships probably sunk; and seven battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers and "several" more destroyers damaged. This makes a total of 26, plus the "several destroyers." Another cruiser subsequently was reported hit, bringing the toll to 27.

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Steady day and night aerial pounding of German columns moving northward in Greece is producing good results, the Allied command announced today.

A communique said medium and fighter bombers hit the columns by daylight and night fighters maintained the attack along the road leading from Larisa to Kozani, thence to the Yugoslav frontier.

Three other enemy road commons in Albania also were attacked and several vehicles were destroyed.

The announcement said British land forces have joined Greek guerrillas in harassing enemy rearguards in the Larisa area.

OPA Lists Amount Of Rationed Oil

To aid householders in continuing to budget their ration to last through the winter, the OPA today issued its third weekly report showing the maximum per cent of the total fuel oil ration which should have been used to date.

As of this week, consumers in this locality should have burned not more than 6 per cent of their total yearly fuel oil ration, according to the OPA report.

The weekly reports as based, first on the type of weather prevailing in each particular area as charted during the winter months by weather stations throughout the country, and second, on the proportion of the heating season which has elapsed. Thus, the figures will vary for each individual locality with the difference in weather.

The percentages are issued to help consumers do an effective job of budgeting their ration over the heating season.

NAVY PROUDLY OBSERVES ITS ANNIVERSARY

By HAMILTON W. FARON

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP) — The United States Navy proudly celebrated its 169th anniversary today, all hands jubilant over what may prove to be its biggest victory in battle.

Exultation is evident throughout the Navy as word spreads of the crushing defeat handed the Japanese Navy by the Pacific fleet.

But with it all there is a note of caution, from Navy Secretary Forrestal himself, who said last night that despite blasting of "30-odd Japanese warships" the enemy still has a sizeable fleet.

Unofficial figures show that this fleet may total as many as 175 warships of all types, excluding submarines, and Forrestal says formally:

May Repair Damage

"Many remaining ships—a sizeable fleet in themselves—remain afloat, more or less seriously damaged. As we know from our own experience crippled vessels may be able to limp to port, undergo repairs and come out and fight again. Therefore, although the temporary damage which we have inflicted upon the Japanese Navy is heavy, they may be able eventually to repair a part of that damage."

Regardless of the final count, there seems to be agreement that the Japanese fleet is crippled and never again can hope for any degree of success in a large scale naval engagement. It must confine efficient and logical operations to harassment of American convoys and small naval units.

"The Japs have failed," said Vice Admiral Edwards, deputy commander in chief of the U. S. Fleet in asserting they had attempted to halt liberation of the Philippines. "Their fleet is badly hurt. Consequently, the battle of the Philippines may be said to be a significant step toward the eventual defeat of Japan."

Proud Claims

Outstanding as an example of the confidence of high naval officers in the strength and power of the fleet is the release for the first time of resumes of battle history of 108 major warships—and the naming of their commanding officers and oceans in which they operated as of the middle of August.

These resumes show that at least 16 battleships and 37 cruisers are on Pacific duty, and at least four battleships and 10 cruisers were in the Atlantic area at the time of the invasion of southern France.

Also the Navy disclosed for the first time by name, the commissioning of two big new battleships, the Wisconsin and Missouri, and two battle cruisers. It also said a new type of ship described unofficially as "pocket battleships," and eight new cruisers have been commissioned.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg. — Dan McMullen, candidate for Congress from the Fifth Maryland district, addressed the Democratic central committee at Emmitsburg, this week, in the Firemen's hall. President Thomas J. Morris, presided. About sixty guests were present.

He spoke of the rehabilitation of veterans after war. "Some will wish to come back to their old pursuits and familiar surroundings, while others will wish to make new friends and look to broader horizons," he said. "The measures now being taken by the Federal government to successfully re-establish the returning soldier in a line of endeavor suitable to him will be the big feature of the post-war effort."

Workers for the coming election, Nov. 7, were selected. Two workers will lead a group in each precinct assisted by volunteer helpers. William Smith announced that the room at 17 West Main street, now occupied by him, will be made available to the democrats for use as Headquarters on election day.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Overholtzer of near town have four sons in the service, Sgt. Chester R. and Pfc. Roy S., both overseas, Pvt. George D., at Camp Blanding, Fla., and Sgt. Sterling, who was held captive by the Italians and released when Italy capitulated, is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

The president of the Republican club, sponsors of the Community rally Saturday evening, announced today that the parade of children headed by the Taneytown band will form at the American Legion hall promptly at 7 p. m., proceed East on De Paul street to East Main, thence west to the war monument of World War No. 1, and return to the square where the band will give a concert and 650 pop-sicles will be given to the children. Congressman Glenn Beall, congressman from the 5th district, will speak at 8 p. m.

SAYS WIFE, 22, KIDNAPT BABY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP) — A 22-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh sailor was to be returned to Philadelphia today to face charges in connection with the alleged kidnaping of a seven-month-old baby girl from the wife of another sailor in Philadelphia.

Detective Ernest C. Dunbar reported Mrs. Anna Jackson Cook was arrested last night in her East end home while she was feeding the child, Nancy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen, of Philadelphia.

Coming here to take custody of the woman were Detective John Thornberry and a policewoman, who Dunbar said had filed an information with a Philadelphia magistrate charging kidnaping.

The baby, meanwhile, was taken to Rosella Founding and Maternity hospital.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook told him she and Mrs. Allen roomed together in Wilmington, Del., while their husbands were stationed there. She took the baby on a shopping trip to Philadelphia last Sept. 6 with the mother's permission, Dunbar said.

The detective said the woman told him she was to meet Mrs. Allen at the railroad station and turn the baby over to her before catching a train to Pittsburgh. Mrs. Allen did not appear, she added, and she took Nancy with her to Pittsburgh.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook claimed she wrote to Mrs. Allen several times about Nancy but received no reply.

CAN YOU USE HALF MILLION MOSQUITO BARS?

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—Want some ice grousers today? Could you use a hundred thousand World War I bolo scabbards?

Half a million mosquito bars . . . disc wheels for gun carriages . . . World War I spurs, of the wishbone type, both brass and aluminum . . .

Pneumatic life rafts, horses, air raid helmets, dogs, mattresses, ambulances — the treasury's office of surplus property is running the screwiest department store in the world.

It's not a store where people can go and buy at retail, but the goods finally reach the consumer through the usual trade channels.

Ice grousers are metal pieces with diagonal blades. They are clamped on tractor tires, for use on ice. The Army had a large quantity it couldn't use. So far, the treasury hasn't been able to sell them. They're considering advertising them as shoe-scrapers: you could nail one to the floor and scrape the mud off your shoes.

200 ART ITEMS BRING $34,400

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP) — Two hundred items went through the going-going-gone routine and brought $37,400 in the first day of sales of furnishings from Whitemarsh Hall, former mansion of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury and her late husband, a prominent Philadelphia financier.

More than four hundred art dealers and students came from as far as Washington and Boston to attend the auction Wednesday—and each paid $1.00 admittance for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Up for sale are 724 items—art objects, furniture, glass and porcelains.

The Stotesbury's elaborate but antiquated Atwater-Kent radio-phonograph brought $200 and jeweled fingerbowls went for $12 a pair. The day's highest price — $4,000 — bought a pair of Chinese procelain unicorns.

A Chelsea porcelain dinner service of 52 pieces, said to be a duplicate of one sold at auction in New York last week for $300 was bid in at $500.

A marble-finished bench holding a quarter of a cord of kindling went for $30.

BRICKER AND TRUMAN BUSY ON LAST TOUR

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 27 (AP) — Turning his attention to this bread-basket of the United States, Gov. John W. Bricker asserted today that New Deal promises to the farmers had been "shamefully broken."

The Republican nominee for Vice-President said that those who toil to produce the nation's food had been deprived of what he called sufficient labor, machinery and supplies, vexed by government regulations and made to face unwarranted shortages of feed grains.

"Yet," he continued in a prepared speech released by his campaign managers, "the American farmer has continued to establish new production records—not because of the New Deal but in spite of the New Deal."

Bricker scheduled stops also at Wellington, Newton, and Emporia, Kansas, today as he proceeded to Kansas City for a major address dealing with the record of President Roosevelt in international affairs and national defense. The speech will be broadcast (NBC) at 9:30 Central War Time, tonight.

With Truman Enroute to Akron, O., Oct. 27 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman invaded Ohio today to ask the defeat of Republican Senator Robert O. Taft in another lap of a transcontinental campaign tour into which, he says, "a reactionary, isolationist press" has sought to inject "a false" Ku Klux Klan issue.

The Democratic Vice-President nominee reiterated to reporters that he "never was, am not and never will be" a member of the Ku Klux Klan, and added "anybody that knows me and my record knows how I fought and helped defeat Klan candidates in Missouri."

Meanwhile, members of Truman's campaign group compiled data which they said would be used later in reply to a story appearing in Hearst newspapers quoting affidavit makers so asserting Truman joined the Klan in Missouri in 1922.

Departing from his prepared farm policy speech at Peoria, Ill., last night, Truman said:

"The isolationists are desperate to win this election. The Hearst papers even go so far as to call me a member of the Ku Klux Klan. That charge is a falsehood. I never have been a member of the Klan or attended one of its meetings in my life."

RETURN TO WORK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—More than 100 welders and fitters who left their jobes at Dravo corporation's Neville island shipyards Wednesday returned to work Thursday. A company spokesman said they had protested a penalty invoked by the firm.

2ND DAY FOR PLANT STRIKE

Bauxite, Ark., Oct. 27 (AP)—A work stoppage at the Aluminum Company of America's Republic Mining and Manufacturing company bauxite plant here went into its second day Thursday.

Approximately 650 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) failed to show up for work Wednesday morning and a union labor official said the action was taken in protest of refusal of the company to grant a machine shop worker seniority rights.

Lee Tucker of Benton, staff representative of the Steelworkers, said a hearing on the grievance was scheduled to be held before a committee of the union in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

William R. Henderson, regional CIO representative, said the management showed "some partiality" in promoting a worker in the machine shop ahead of another who had seniority "two or three weeks ago" and that the company had refused to meet with the union on the matter.

Plant Supt. L. R. Branting said he had not been informed officially as to the reason for the walkout.

Until 1942, the United States imported about 50,000,000 pounds of dates annually.

Missing Sailor Safe After Year; To Wed Italian

Erie, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Missing in action for a year, a 22-year-old sailor is now safe in Tunisia. And what's more he plans to marry the daughter of an Italian family who prevented his capture by the Germans.

That's the storybook tale unfolded in a letter from Seaman second class Jack Talarico to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talarico.

Talarico, reported missing Sept. 14, 1943, requested his parents in the letter to write the girl's parents in his behalf and ask for her hand in marriage.

The girl's family, the sailor wrote, was part of the Italian underground and prevented his capture by the Germans. The letter gave no details of the sailor's escape, although he wrote he had been in hiding with the Italian family since being reported missing.

Bear baiting and bull baiting were legal in England as late as 1835.

"So Help Me God"

By RAY L. DUDLEY

Ray L. Dudley, publisher of the Oil Weekly, Houston, Texas, has lost two of his three sons in this war. Below is what he wrote in the October 9, 1944, issue:

I STOOD in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil. . . .

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

"To the best of my meager ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the Country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being, the efforts which are being made by the Hillmans, the Browders, the Murrays and others, including our President, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our Country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor party, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in reelecting Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our Country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to derives from a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in a great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

200 ART ITEMS BRING $34,400

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (AP) — Two hundred items went through the going-going-gone routine and brought $37,400 in the first day of sales of furnishings from Whitemarsh Hall, former mansion of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury and her late husband, a prominent Philadelphia financier.

More than four hundred art dealers and students came from as far as Washington and Boston to attend the auction Wednesday—and each paid $1.00 admittance for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Up for sale are 724 items—art objects, furniture, glass and porcelains.

The Stotesbury's elaborate but antiquated Atwater-Kent radio-phonograph brought $200 and jeweled fingerbowls went for $12 a pair. The day's highest price — $4,000 — bought a pair of Chinese procelain unicorns.

A Chelsea porcelain dinner service of 52 pieces, said to be a duplicate of one sold at auction in New York last week for $300 was bid in at $500.

A marble-finished bench holding a quarter of a cord of kindling went for $30.

Air conditioning of the Navy's submarines is made possible by a non-toxic, non-explosive fluorine refrigerant.

BRICKER AND TRUMAN BUSY ON LAST TOUR

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 27 (AP) — Turning his attention to this breadbasket of the United States, Gov. John W. Bricker asserted today that New Deal promises to the farmers had been "shamefully broken."

The Republican nominee for Vice-President said that those who toil to produce the nation's food had been deprived of what he called sufficient labor, machinery and supplies, vexed by government regulations and made to face unwarranted shortages of feed grains.

"Yet," he continued in a prepared speech released by his campaign managers, "the American farmer has continued to establish new production records—not because of the New Deal but in spite of the New Deal."

Bricker scheduled stops also at Wellington, Newton, and Emporia, Kansas, today as he proceeded to Kansas City for a major address dealing with the record of President Roosevelt in international affairs and national defense. The speech will be broadcast (NBC) at 9:30 Central War Time, tonight.

With Truman Enroute to Akron, O., Oct. 27 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman invaded Ohio today to ask the defeat of Republican Senator Robert O. Taft in another lap of a transcontinental campaign tour into which, he says, "a reactionary, isolationist press" has sought to inject "a false" Ku Klux Klan issue.

The Democratic Vice-President nominee reiterated to reporters that he "never was, am not and never will be" a member of the Ku Klux Klan, and added "anybody that knows me and my record knows how I fought and helped defeat Klan candidates in Missouri."

Meanwhile, members of Truman's campaign group compiled data which they said would be used later in reply to a story appearing in Hearst newspapers quoting affidavit makers so asserting Truman joined the Klan in Missouri in 1922.

Departing from his prepared farm policy speech at Peoria, Ill., last night, Truman said:

"The isolationists are desperate to win this election. The Hearst papers even go so far as to call me a member of the Ku Klux Klan. That charge is a falsehood. I never have been a member of the Klan or attended one of its meetings in my life."

RETURN TO WORK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—More than 100 welders and fitters who left their jobes at Dravo corporation's Neville island shipyards Wednesday returned to work Thursday. A company spokesman said they had protested a penalty invoked by the firm.

2ND DAY FOR PLANT STRIKE

Bauxite, Ark., Oct. 27 (AP)—A work stoppage at the Aluminum Company of America's Republic Mining and Manufacturing company bauxite plant here went into its second day Thursday.

Approximately 650 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) failed to show up for work Wednesday morning and a union labor official said the action was taken in protest of refusal of the company to grant a machine shop worker seniority rights.

Lee Tucker of Benton, staff representative of the Steelworkers, said a hearing on the grievance was scheduled to be held before a committee of the union in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

William R. Henderson, regional CIO representative, said the management showed "some partiality" in promoting a worker in the machine shop ahead of another who had seniority "two or three weeks ago" and that the company had refused to meet with the union on the matter.

Plant Supt. L. R. Branting said he had not been informed officially as to the reason for the walkout.

Until 1942, the United States imported about 50,000,000 pounds of dates annually.

Missing Sailor Safe After Year; To Wed Italian

Erie, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Missing in action for a year, a 22-year-old sailor is now safe in Tunisia. And what's more he plans to marry the daughter of an Italian family who prevented his capture by the Germans.

That's the storybook tale unfolded in a letter from Seaman second class Jack Talarico to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talarico.

Talarico, reported missing Sept. 14, 1943, requested his parents in the letter to write the girl's parents in his behalf and ask for her hand in marriage.

The girl's family, the sailor wrote, was part of the Italian underground and prevented his capture by the Germans. The letter gave no details of the sailor's escape, although he wrote he had been in hiding with the Italian family since being reported missing.

"So Help Me God"

By RAY L. DUDLEY

Ray L. Dudley, publisher of the Oil Weekly, Houston, Texas, has lost two of his three sons in this war. Below is what he wrote in the October 9, 1944, issue:

I STOOD in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil. . . .

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

"To the best of my meager ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the Country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being, the efforts which are being made by the Hillmans, the Browders, the Murrays and others, including our President, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our Country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor party, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in reelecting Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our Country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to derives from a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in a great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

By HAMILTON W. FARON

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP) — The United States Navy proudly celebrated its 169th anniversary today, all hands jubilant over what may prove to be its biggest victory in battle.

Exultation is evident throughout the Navy as word spreads of the crushing defeat handed the Japanese Navy by the Pacific fleet.

But with it all there is a note of caution, from Navy Secretary Forrestal himself, who said last night that despite blasting of "30-odd Japanese warships" the enemy still has a sizeable fleet.

Unofficial figures show that this fleet may total as many as 175 warships of all types, excluding submarines, and Forrestal says formally:

May Repair Damage

"Many remaining ships—a sizeable fleet in themselves—remain afloat, more or less seriously damaged. As we know from our own experience crippled vessels may be able, to limp to port, undergo repairs and come out and fight again. Therefore, although the temporary damage which we have inflicted upon the Japanese Navy is heavy, they may be able eventually to repair a part of that damage."

Regardless of the final count, there seems to be agreement that the Japanese fleet is crippled and never again can hope for any degree of success in a large scale naval engagement. It must confine efficient and logical operations to harassment of American convoys and small naval units.

"The Japs have failed," said Vice Admiral Edwards, deputy commander in chief of the U. S. Fleet in asserting they had attempted to halt liberation of the Philippines. "Their fleet is badly hurt. Consequently, the battle of the Philippines may be said to be a significant step toward the eventual defeat of Japan."

Proud Claims

Outstanding as an example of the confidence of high naval officers in the strength and power of the fleet is the release for the first time of resumes of battle history of 108 major warships—and the naming of their commanding officers and oceans in which they operated as of the middle of August.

These resumes show that at least 16 battleships and 37 cruisers are on Pacific duty, and at least four battleships and 10 cruisers were in the Atlantic area at the time of the invasion of southern France.

Also the Navy disclosed for the first time by name, the commissioning of two big new battleships, the Wisconsin and Missouri, and two battle cruisers. It also said a new type of ship described unofficially as "pocket battleships," and eight new cruisers have been commissioned.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg. — Dan McMullen, candidate for Congress from the Fifth Maryland district, addressed the Democratic central committee at Emmitsburg, this week, in the Firemen's hall. President Thomas J. Morris, presided. About sixty guests were present.

He spoke of the rehabilitation of veterans after war. "Some will wish to come back to their old pursuits and familiar surroundings, while others will wish to make new friends and look to broader horizons," he said. "The measures now being taken by the Federal government to successfully re-establish the returning soldier in a line of endeavor suitable to him will be the big feature of the post-war effort."

Workers for the coming election, Nov. 7, were selected. Two workers will lead a group in each precinct assisted by volunteer helpers. William Smith announced that the room at 17 West Main street, now occupied by him, will be made available to the democrats for use as Headquarters on election day.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Overholtzer of near town have four sons in the service, Sgt. Chester R. and Pfc. Roy S., both overseas, Pvt. George D., at Camp Blanding, Fla., and Sgt. Sterling, who was held captive by the Italians and released when Italy capitulated, is now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Families of the Emmitsburg district having four sons in the service are: Mrs. Stella Topper, 120 De Paul street, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, 200 Frailey road, Mrs. Howard Gladhill, 527 West Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Overholtzer, of near town.

The president of the Republican club, sponsors of the Community rally Saturday evening, announced today that the parade of children headed by the Taneytown band will form at the American Legion hall promptly at 7 p. m., proceed East on De Paul street to East Main, thence west to the war monument of World War No. 1, and return to the square where the band will give a concert and 650 pop-sicles will be given to the children. Congressman Glenn Beall, congressman from the 5th district, will speak at 8 p. m.

SAYS WIFE, 22, KIDNAPT BABY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP) — A 22-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh sailor was to be returned to Philadelphia today to face charges in connection with the alleged kidnaping of a seven-month-old baby girl from the wife of another sailor in Philadelphia.

Detective Ernest C. Dunbar reported Mrs. Anna Jackson Cook was arrested last night in her East end home while she was feeding the child, Nancy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen, of Philadelphia.

Coming here to take custody of the woman were Detective John Thornberry and a policewoman, who Dunbar said had filed an information with a Philadelphia magistrate charging kidnaping.

The baby, meanwhile, was taken to Roselia Founding and Maternity hospital.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook told him she and Mrs. Allen roomed together in Wilmington, Del., while their husbands were stationed there. She took the baby on a shopping trip to Philadelphia last Sept. 6 with the mother's permission, Dunbar said.

The detective said the woman told him she was to meet Mrs. Allen at the railroad station and turn the baby over to her before catching a train to Pittsburgh. Mrs. Allen did not appear, she added, and she took Nancy with her to Pittsburgh.

Dunbar said Mrs. Cook claimed she wrote to Mrs. Allen several times about Nancy but received no reply.

Bauxite, Ark., Oct. 27 (AP)—A work stoppage at the Aluminum Company of America's Republic Mining and Manufacturing company bauxite plant here went into its second day Thursday.

Approximately 650 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) failed to show up for work Wednesday morning and a union labor official said the action was taken in protest of refusal of the company to grant a machine shop worker seniority rights.

Lee Tucker of Benton, staff representative of the Steelworkers, said a hearing on the grievance was scheduled to be held before a committee of the union in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

William R. Henderson, regional CIO representative, said the management showed "some partiality" in promoting a worker in the machine shop ahead of another who had seniority "two or three weeks ago" and that the company had refused to meet with the union on the matter.

Plant Supt. L. R. Branting said he had not been informed officially as to the reason for the walkout.

Until 1942, the United States imported about 50,000,000 pounds of dates annually.

Missing Sailor Safe After Year; To Wed Italian

Erie, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—Misisng in action for a year, a 22-year-old sailor is now safe in Tunisia. And what's more he plans to marry the daughter of an Italian family who prevented his capture by the Germans.

That's the storybook tale unfolded in a letter from Seaman second class Jack Talarico to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talarico.

Talarico, reported missing Sept. 14, 1943, requested his parents in the letter to write the girl's parents in his behalf and ask for her hand in marriage.

The girl's family, the sailor wrote, was part of the Italian underground and prevented his capture by the Germans. The letter gave no details of the sailor's escape, although he wrote he had been in hiding with the Italian family since being reported missing.

"So Help Me God"

By RAY L. DUDLEY

Ray L. Dudley, publisher of the Oil Weekly, Houston, Texas, has lost two of his three sons in this war. Below is what he wrote in the October 9, 1944, issue:

I STOOD in the blazing sun at Ellington Field, in Texas, last Monday and watched the cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Force. My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy Air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother. They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions: "I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter: SO HELP ME GOD."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil. . . .

Our forefathers who wrote the Constitution knew that they were giving to future generations a document so precious that it would be worth the loss of American lives to preserve . . . and they knew that there would arise enemies to it, domestic as well as foreign.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

> "To the best of my meager ability I shall do all I can to defend against foes at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge them my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the Country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being, the efforts which are being made by the Hillmans, the Browders, the Murrays and others, including our President, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights." And these are the men who are asking that we trust our Country to them.

The situation under which the Communist Front in America is trying to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties, is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one. That a Russian-born radical, with all of the class hate of his native land should aspire to control this country is so fantastic that many cannot believe it. But it is true.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power, indicates a blatant confidence in their victory. That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them, is a disgrace. That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the vice presidency? It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally act which makes it a felony for a labor party, or a corporation, to contribute to a political party). Yes, it was Attorney General Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in reelecting Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution? If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie? If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our Country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to derives from a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in a great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

BOYS AND AN APPLE TREE

I had a fruited apple tree
Which passers-by could never see
And thus shut off from public view
I thought its presence no one knew,
But unto apples, green or red,
By some strange power small boys are led.

Today—though 'tis against the law—
A youngster in that tree I saw,
And two companions down below
To catch whatever fruit he'd throw.
"What's going on out there?" I cried.
"We're stealing apples!" one replied.

Away they ran, as once did I
In happier days so long gone by.
Away they sped, as once I did
When I stope apples, as a kid.
But oh so swiftly time flows on.
It's now my turn to cry: "Begone!"

Now this I've learned: small boys will know,
Howe'er concealed, where apples grow.
Nor all an old man's selfish care
Can keep the lads from thieving there,
But this I know: I'd rather be
A boy than old and own the tree.

Today's Talk

HASTE AND DRUDGERY

Haste and drudgery are relatives—they like each other! When we do things in too great haste we are sure to neglect much that otherwise would have been done better, and in so doing we have lost much of the joy and interest as well. And when this joy and interest are largely lost, the task itself becomes drudgery.

The work that you love to do is not drudgery, no matter how difficult or tedious. You shed yourself into it, and when completed it becomes inanimate you.

Nothing worth while should be done hastily or carelessly. Better not to attempt a job at all if it can only be half done, or without heart and interest, in mixture. The worst phase of drudgery is that it saps the snap and enthusiasm of the worker and lets him down all the way along.

Look at any great work of art and you will see in it years and years of toil, thought, dreams, and purpose. Why do people search out the old things, paying a big price for them, and then treasuring them? Is it not because they have been made with great care and labor—over a long time, with no haste attached to them, and without a single trace of drudgery to them? Rather do you not see the touch of love, and an invisible picture of the maker-artist within them?

The great executive's desk is kept clean. Walk into his office, and if you have ideas or suggestions to make, he always has time to listen. Big men always listen. They have the time. They take it, because it belongs to them.

He who works in haste gains less in speed, and when his work is finished (as he thinks) it isn't finished, for something has been left undone, something has been neglected. The job isn't complete. The worker himself is a picture of neglect. His nerves are on the jump and his mind is confused. Time is always kind to the careful worker—who takes Time as his friend!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "That 'Chip' on Your Shoulder"

42 REPORTERS, PHOTOGRAPHERS ACCOMPANY FDR

By HOWARD FLEIGER

En Route to Philadelphia with President Roosevelt, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt—off for two days of fourth-term campaigning in a territory rich with electoral votes—headed for Philadelphia today for the first of two major outdoor speeches.

His two-day thrust will give him appearances in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana and Illinois—a sharply contested region with a combined total of 95 electoral votes.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Mr. Roosevelt's address tonight in Philadelphia's Shibe Park will "in the main have to do with the basic policy of the war." Tomorrow night he speaks in Chicago. The Chicago subject hasn't been announced but Mr. Roosevelt's followers expect a reply to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's honesty-in-government speech, delivered in the same city Wednesday.

Informal Talks

He will give informal talks from his train platform at Wilmington, Del., today and Ft. Wayne, Ind., Saturday afternoon. In between he'll tour Camden, N. J., and nearby shipyards and head an automobile cavalcade through Philadelphia.

Early said the President's train would travel to Chicago by a "southern route"—not through New York. Asked about a stop in Ohio, he said: "I don't know of any and haven't heard of any."

The President, away from Washington without the secrecy of wartime censorship for the second time in a week, took with him an itinerary crowded with train platform appearances and motorcade tours reminiscent of his four-hour procession through New York city last Saturday.

The trip is the most ambitious yet undertaken by the head of the fourth-term ticket—42 reporters and photographers are aboard the Presidential train—but it won't be his last journey for votes. He is expected in Boston between now and the election (an engagement unconfirmed to date by the White House) and will pay his usual election eve call on his Hyde Park neighbors in the Hudson Valley.

The campaign will close with a speech by Mr. Roosevelt in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on the eve of the election. A closing address in New York's Dutchess county—his home county—has become a Roosevelt tradition.

Big Forts Pound Jap Island Again

A U. S. B-29 Base in West China, Oct. 25 (Delayed) (AP)—Striking again at the Japanese mainland, a strong force of U. S. Superfortresses attacked the Omura airbase on Kyushu Island today, and returning pilots said tonight the target area was perfectly patterned by bombs.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay described the assault as "highly successful." The area embraces one of the most important aircraft assembly plants in the Japanese home islands. Pillars of smoke and flame were observed.

STRIKE CUTS WAR WORK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—A strike among 125 welders and fitters curtailed production of LST'S at the Dravo corporation's Neville Island shipyards. The workers left their jobs Wednesday in protest of a penalty they said was invoked by the firm.

DEWEY READY FOR DRIVE ON HOME STRETCH

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—His western campaign ended, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey started his stretch drive for the presidency today by lining up a schedule of appearances in New York state and New England.

The Republican nominee will travel to Syracuse tomorrow for a major farm speech, (12:30 p. m., EWT) traditional of national campaigns, but for which a candidate ordinarily selects a setting in the agricultural middle west.

The New York governor had scheduled such a speech in Minneapolis, but seized the opportunity, instead, to reply to President Roosevelt's foreign policy talk.

The GOP candidate left unannounced the subject of a Tuesday night speech at Buffalo, apparently to leave the way open if he feels called upon to answer anything President Roosevelt might say in talks at Philadelphia tonight and in Chicago tomorrow night.

Dewey's Syracuse visit will take him into a New York state area which ordinarily could be expected to give him a substantial margin of votes, because New York city traditionally has returned thumping majorities for Mr. Roosevelt, the Republicans are overlooking no opportunities to attempt to boost the upstate GOP vote.

the Syracuse and Buffalo journies may find the candidate making brief train-end appearances enroute, a practice he is likely to follow on a projected trip which may take him through Connecticut and New Hampshire on his way to, or returning from, Boston for a scheduled speech there Nov 1.

Seek Accounting Of Union's Funds

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—Federal Judge Nelson McVicar refused yesterday to dismiss a suit filed in behalf of 1,400 shipbuilding employes of the Blaw-Knox Co., seeking an accounting of $80,000 in union dues and assessments paid to an AFL-Plumbers and Steamfitters union.

An injunction petition to prevent proposed changes in the workers union local affiliations was also involved in the action.

Defense Attorney Clyde P. Bailey asked for the dismissal on the ground that three West Virginians listed as plaintiffs in the suit wished to withdraw their names from the petition. Judge McVicar allowed them to do so and ruled other out-of-state names might be substituted.

Respondents in the suit are Leo A. Green, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph O'Toole, business agent, of Local 449, U. S. Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters.

U. S. Friendship With Reds Needed

Easton, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—American leadership in "morality and in respect to the four freedoms" and this country's close friendship with the Soviet Union are essential to any hope of world peace, says Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, editor and publisher of the newspaper "Pour La Victoire."

Without such American cooperation, Mme. Tabouis told the Lafayette Institute in Support of a World Organized for Security and Peace opening here Wednesday, any who hope for a future peace "are mad."

Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian statesman, are among prominent speakers scheduled to address remaining sessions which are to continue through Friday.

REDS PUSHING NEW GAINS IN EAST PRUSSIA

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fall of the important East Prussian communications center of Gumbinnen appeared imminent today as the Germans announced evacuation of the civilian population from the path of onrushing Soviet forces.

Heavy counterattacks by German armor and infantry against the growing Russian salient in East Prussia were beaten back today by Red Army gunners who levelled their field artillery into a deadly antitank screen.

Despite the enemy's continual reinforcement, Gen. Ivan Cherniakovsky secured control of a 15-mile stretch on the secondary rail line which runs northwest to Tilsit from the junction on the main Konigsberg-Kaunas line, near Stallupoenen.

Frontline dispatches said "dozens of new German batteries" were introduced in an effort to contain the Russian thrusts aimed at Gumbinnen, from the northeast and southwest.

Balk 5 Attacks

Against one side of the Russian bulge the enemy launched five consecutive attacks employing as many as two battalions of infantry each time, supported by Panther tanks and self-propelled guns. They were broken up with heavy losses to the Germans.

Russian combat correspondents said the cannonading was unceasing night and day.

Red troops have not yet completely traversed the zone of concrete and steel fortifications which the Germans for years have been building to protect the home of Junkerdom.

A Moscow communique declared last night that the Red Army had captured Grunweitschen, four miles southeast of Gumbinnen, and Guddinn, seven miles east of the city. Shirgallen and Amalienhof, 10 miles to the east, also were taken.

An American commentator, speaking over the Moscow radio, reported that German civilians already were fleeing Konigsberg in panic.

Berlin, also reporting large scale battles, maintained the Russians had lost 900 tanks in 10 days and were being held except for "a few dents" on an 85-mile front from Augustow in the south to the Niemen river in the north.

Other Russian forces driving through northern Finland captured six localities in the Petsamo area. Soviet planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland sank more than a dozen small German ships presumably moving down the Norwegian coast after the fall of the naval base of Kirkenes, Moscow said.

On the southern flank of the front, Soviet forces which occupied the Czechoslovakian road junction of Munkacs (Mukacevo) yesterday were linked up today in a solid front with other Red Army units cutting across northeastern Hungary from conquered Transylvania. This drive has enveloped two-thirds of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia and taken 18,000 prisoners in two weeks.

Approximately 4,886 square miles of Ruthenia have been overrun by five main Russian columns.

Descending the southern foothills of the Carpathian mountains, Red Army troops yesterday captured Velke Berezne, 19 miles northeast of Ungvar (Uzhorod), former capital of autonomous Ruthenia.

Forty villages were captured by Red Army forces in the advance across the northeastern corner of Hungary, Moscow said. Withdrawing German-Hungarian troops were threatened with entrapment.

More than 5,000 persons who took part in the dedication ceremonies heard the apostolic delegate say the appointment made "was a mark of His Holiness' esteem and appreciation for Bishop Gannon's labors in the Erie diocese."

Among the hierarchy in attendance were Bishop Joseph Burke of Buffalo; Bishop William T. McCarty, military ordinariate of the United States; Bishop William D. O'Brien of Chicago; Bishop Edward Mooney of Detroit; Bishop James McFadden of Youngstown, O., and Bishop William J. Hafey, of Scranton.

BOYS AND AN APPLE TREE

I had a fruited apple tree
Which passers-by could never see
And thus shut off from public view
I thought its presence no one knew,
But unto apples, green or red,
By some strange power small boys are led.

Today—though 'tis against the law—
A youngster in that tree I saw,
And two companions down below
To catch whatever fruit he'd throw.
"What's going on out there?" I cried.
"We're stealing apples!" one replied.

Away they ran, as once did I
In happier days so long gone by.
Away they sped, as once I did
When I stope apples, as a kid,
But oh so swiftly time flows on,
It's now my turn to cry: "Begone!"

Now this I've learned: small boys will know,
Howe'er concealed, where apples grow.
Nor all an old man's selfish care
Can keep the lads from thieving there,
But this I know: I'd rather be

HASTE AND DRUDGERY

Haste and drudgery are relatives—they like each other! When we do things in too great haste we are sure to neglect much that otherwise would have been done better, and in so doing we have lost much of the joy and interest as well. And when this joy and interest are largely lost, the task itself becomes drudgery.

The work that you love to do is not drudgery, no matter how difficult or tedious. You shed yourself into it, and when completed it becomes inanimate you.

Nothing worth while should be done hastily or carelessly. Better not to attempt a job at all if it can only be half done, or without heart and interest, in mixture. The worst phase of drudgery is that it saps the snap and enthusiasm of the worker and lets him down all the way along.

Look at any great work of art and you will see in it years and years of toil, thought, dreams, and purpose. Why do people search out the old things, paying a big price for them, and then treasuring them? Is it not because they have been made with great care and labor—over a long time, with no haste attached to them, and without a single trace of drudgery to them? Rather do you not see the touch of love, and an invisible picture of the maker-artist within them?

The great executive's desk is kept clean. Walk into his office, and if you have ideas or suggestions to make, he always has time to listen. Big men always listen. They have the time. They take it, because it belongs to them.

He who works in haste gains less in speed, and when his work is finished (as he thinks) it isn't finished, for something has been left undone, something has been neglected. The job isn't complete. The worker himself is a picture of neglect. His nerves are on the jump and his mind is confused. Time is always kind to the careful worker—who takes Time as his friend!

42 REPORTERS, PHOTOGRAPHERS ACCOMPANY FDR

By HOWARD FLEIGER

En Route to Philadelphia with President Roosevelt, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt—off for two days of fourth-term campaigning in a territory rich with electoral votes—headed for Philadelphia today for the first of two major outdoor speeches.

His two-day thrust will give him appearances in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana and Illinois—a sharply contested region with a combined total of 95 electoral votes.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Mr. Roosevelt's address tonight in Philadelphia's Shibe Park will "in the main have to do with the basic policy of the war." Tomorrow night he speaks in Chicago. The Chicago subject hasn't been announced but Mr. Roosevelt's followers expect a reply to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's honesty-in-government speech, delivered in the same city Wednesday.

Informal Talks

He will give informal talks from his train platform at Wilmington, Del., today and Ft. Wayne, Ind., Saturday afternoon. In between he'll tour Camden, N. J., and nearby shipyards and head an automobile cavalcade through Philadelphia.

Early said the President's train would travel to Chicago by a "southern route"—not through New York. Asked about a stop in Ohio, he said: "I don't know of any and haven't heard of any."

The President, away from Washington without the secrecy of wartime censorship for the second time in a week, took with him an itinerary crowded with train platform appearances and motorcade tours reminiscent of his four-hour procession through New York city last Saturday.

The trip is the most ambitious yet undertaken by the head of the fourth-term ticket—42 reporters and photographers are aboard the Presidential train—but it won't be his last journey for votes. He is expected in Boston between now and the election (an engagement unconfirmed to date by the White House) and will pay his usual election eve call on his Hyde Park neighbors in the Hudson Valley.

The campaign will close with a speech by Mr. Roosevelt in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on the eve of the election. A closing address in New York's Dutchess county—his home county—has become a Roosevelt tradition.

Big Forts Pound Jap Island Again

A U. S. B-29 Base in West China, Oct. 25 (Delayed) (AP)—Striking again at the Japanese mainland, a strong force of U. S. Superfortresses attacked the Omura airbase on Kyushu Island today, and returning pilots said tonight the target area was perfectly patterned by bombs.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay described the assault as "highly successful." The area embraces one of the most important aircraft assembly plants in the Japanese home islands. Pillars of smoke and flame were observed.

STRIKE CUTS WAR WORK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—A strike among 125 welders and fitters curtailed production of LST'S at the Dravo corporation's Neville Island shipyards. The workers left their jobs Wednesday in protest of a penalty they said was invoked by the firm.

Yes, it is true, there is a safe harmless medicated liquid called Kleerex that dries up pimples over night. Those who followed simple directions and applied Kleerex upon retiring were amazingly surprised when they found their pimples had disappeared. DEWEY READY FOR DRIVE ON HOME STRETCH

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—His western campaign ended, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey started his stretch drive for the presidency today by lining up a schedule of appearances in New York state and New England.

The Republican nominee will travel to Syracuse tomorrow for a major farm speech, (12:30 p. m., EWT) traditional of national campaigns, but for which a candidate ordinarily selects a setting in the agricultural middle west.

The New York governor had scheduled such a speech in Minneapolis, but seized the opportunity, instead, to reply to President Roosevelt's foreign policy talk.

The GOP candidate left unannounced the subject of a Tuesday night speech at Buffalo, apparently to leave the way open if he feels called upon to answer anything President Roosevelt might say in talks at Philadelphia tonight and in Chicago tomorrow night.

Dewey's Syracuse visit will take him into a New York state area which ordinarily could be expected to give him a substantial margin of votes, because New York city traditionally has returned thumping majorities for Mr. Roosevelt, the Republicans are overlooking no opportunities to attempt to boost the upstate GOP vote.

the Syracuse and Buffalo journies may find the candidate making brief train-end appearances enroute, a practice he is likely to follow on a projected trip which may take him through Connecticut and New Hampshire on his way to, or returning from, Boston for a scheduled speech there Nov. 1.

Seek Accounting Of Union's Funds

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—Federal Judge Nelson McVicar refused yesterday to dismiss a suit filed in behalf of 1,400 shipbuilding employes of the Blaw-Knox Co., seeking an accounting of $80,000 in union dues and assessments paid to an AFL-Plumbers and Steamfitters union.

An injunction petition to prevent proposed changes in the workers union local affiliations was also involved in the action.

Defense Attorney Clyde P. Bailey asked for the dismissal on the ground that three West Virginians listed as plaintiffs in the suit wished to withdraw their names from the petition. Judge McVicar allowed them to do so and ruled other out-of-state names might be substituted.

Respondents in the suit are Leo A. Green, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph O'Toole, business agent, of Local 449, U. S. Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters.

U. S. Friendship With Reds Needed

Easton, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—American leadership in "morality and in respect to the four freedoms" and this country's close friendship with the Soviet Union are essential to any hope of world peace, says Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, editor and publisher of the newspaper "Pour La Victoire."

Without such American cooperation, Mme. Tabouis told the Lafayette Institute in Support of a World Organized for Security and Peace opening here Wednesday, any who hope for a future peace "are mad."

Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian statesman, are among prominent speakers scheduled to address remaining sessions which are to continue through Friday.

REDS PUSHING NEW GAINS IN EAST PRUSSIA

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fall of the important East Prussian communications center of Gumbinnen appeared imminent today as the Germans announced evacuation of the civilian population from the path of onrushing Soviet forces.

Heavy counterattacks by German armor and infantry against the growing Russian salient in East Prussia were beaten back today by Red Army gunners who levelled their field artillery into a deadly antitank screen.

Despite the enemy's continual reinforcement, Gen. Ivan Cherniakovsky secured control of a 15-mile stretch on the secondary rail line which runs northwest to Tilsit from the junction on the main Konigsberg-Kaunas line, near Stallupoenen.

Frontline dispatches said "dozens of new German batteries" were introduced in an effort to contain the Russian thrusts aimed at Gumbinnen, from the northeast and southwest.

Balk 5 Attacks

Against one side of the Russian bulge the enemy launched five consecutive attacks employing as many as two battalions of infantry each time, supported by Panther tanks and self-propelled guns. They were broken up with heavy losses to the Germans.

Russian combat correspondents said the cannonading was unceasing night and day.

Red troops have not yet completely traversed the zone of concrete and steel fortifications which the Germans for years have been building to protect the home of Junkerdom.

A Moscow communique declared last night that the Red Army had captured Grunweitschen, four miles southeast of Gumbinnen, and Guddinn, seven miles east of the city. Shirgallen and Amalienhof, 10 miles to the east, also were taken.

An American commentator, speaking over the Moscow radio, reported that German civilians already were fleeing Konigsberg in panic.

Berlin, also reporting large scale battles, maintained the Russians had lost 900 tanks in 10 days and were being held except for "a few dents" on an 85-mile front from Augustow in the south to the Niemen river in the north.

Other Russian forces driving through northern Finland captured six localities in the Petsamo area. Soviet planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland sank more than a dozen small German ships presumably moving down the Norwegian coast after the fall of the naval base of Kirkenes, Moscow said.

On the southern flank of the front, Soviet forces which occupied the Czechoslovakian road junction of Munkacs (Mukacevo) yesterday were linked up today in a solid front with other Red Army units cutting across northeastern Hungary from conquered Transylvania. This drive has enveloped two-thirds of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia and taken 18,000 prisoners in two weeks.

Approximately 4,886 square miles of Ruthenia have been overrun by five main Russian columns.

Descending the southern foothills of the Carpathian mountains, Red Army troops yesterday captured Velke Berezne, 19 miles northeast of Ungvar (Uzhorod), former capital of autonomous Ruthenia.

Forty villages were captured by Red Army forces in the advance across the northeastern corner of Hungary, Moscow said. Withdrawing German-Hungarian troops were threatened with entrapment.

Harvesting of County Apples Is Nearing End: Harvest of the apple crop, Adams county's leading farm commodity, will be completed in a few days.

The crop is between 40 and 50 per cent of normal this year, and it is expected that more than 1,000 carloads of apples will be shipped from Adams county this fall.

Export of apples to England was not quite as extensive this year as last owing to a larger crop in that country. Some Adams county apples were shipped to South America this year.

42 REPORTERS, PHOTOGRAPHERS ACCOMPANY FDR

By HOWARD FLEIGER

En Route to Philadelphia with President Roosevelt, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt—off for two days of fourth-term campaigning in a territory rich with electoral votes—headed for Philadelphia today for the first of two major outdoor speeches.

His two-day thrust will give him appearances in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana and Illinois—a sharply contested region with a combined total of 95 electoral votes.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Mr. Roosevelt's address tonight in Philadelphia's Shibe Park will "in the main have to do with the basic policy of the war." Tomorrow night he speaks in Chicago. The Chicago subject hasn't been announced but Mr. Roosevelt's followers expect a reply to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's honesty-in-government speech, delivered in the same city Wednesday.

Informal Talks

He will give informal talks from his train platform at Wilmington, Del., today and Ft. Wayne, Ind., Saturday afternoon. In between he'll tour Camden, N. J., and nearby shipyards and head an automobile cavalcade through Philadelphia.

Early said the President's train would travel to Chicago by a "southern route"—not through New York. Asked about a stop in Ohio, he said: "I don't know of any and haven't heard of any."

The President, away from Washington without the secrecy of wartime censorship for the second time in a week, took with him an itinerary crowded with train platform appearances and motorcade tours reminiscent of his four-hour procession through New York city last Saturday.

The trip is the most ambitious yet undertaken by the head of the fourth-term ticket—42 reporters and photographers are aboard the Presidential train—but it won't be his last journey for votes. He is expected in Boston between now and the election (an engagement unconfirmed to date by the White House) and will pay his usual election eve call on his Hyde Park neighbors in the Hudson Valley.

The campaign will close with a speech by Mr. Roosevelt in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on the eve of the election. A closing address in New York's Dutchess county—his home county—has become a Roosevelt tradition.

Big Forts Pound Jap Island Again

A U. S. B-29 Base in West China, Oct. 25 (Delayed) (AP)—Striking again at the Japanese mainland, a strong force of U. S. Superfortresses attacked the Omura airbase on Kyushu Island today, and returning pilots said tonight the target area was perfectly patterned by bombs.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay described the assault as "highly successful." The area embraces one of the most important aircraft assembly plants in the Japanese home islands. Pillars of smoke and flame were observed.

STRIKE CUTS WAR WORK

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—A strike among 125 welders and fitters curtailed production of LST'S at the Dravo corporation's Neville Island shipyards. The workers left their jobs Wednesday in protest of a penalty they said was invoked by the firm.

DEWEY READY FOR DRIVE ON HOME STRETCH

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—His western campaign ended, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey started his stretch drive for the presidency today by lining up a schedule of appearances in New York state and New England.

The Republican nominee will travel to Syracuse tomorrow for a major farm speech, (12:30 p. m., EWT) traditional of national campaigns, but for which a candidate ordinarily selects a setting in the agricultural middle west.

The New York governor had scheduled such a speech in Minneapolis, but seized the opportunity, instead, to reply to President Roosevelt's foreign policy talk.

The GOP candidate left unannounced the subject of a Tuesday night speech at Buffalo, apparently to leave the way open if he feels called upon to answer anything President Roosevelt might say in talks at Philadelphia tonight and in Chicago tomorrow night.

Dewey's Syracuse visit will take him into a New York state area which ordinarily could be expected to give him a substantial margin of votes, because New York city traditionally has returned thumping majorities for Mr. Roosevelt, the Republicans are overlooking no opportunities to attempt to boost the upstate GOP vote.

the Syracuse and Buffalo journies may find the candidate making brief train-end appearances enroute, a practice he is likely to follow on a projected trip which may take him through Connecticut and New Hampshire on his way to, or returning from, Boston for a scheduled speech there Nov. 1.

Seek Accounting Of Union's Funds

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (AP)—Federal Judge Nelson McVicar refused yesterday to dismiss a suit filed in behalf of 1,400 shipbuilding employes of the Blaw-Knox Co., seeking an accounting of $80,000 in union dues and assessments paid to an AFL-Plumbers and Steamfitters union.

An injunction petition to prevent proposed changes in the workers union local affiliations was also involved in the action.

Defense Attorney Clyde P. Bailey asked for the dismissal on the ground that three West Virginians listed as plaintiffs in the suit wished to withdraw their names from the petition. Judge McVicar allowed them to do so and ruled other out-of-state names might be substituted.

Respondents in the suit are Leo A. Green, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph O'Toole, business agent, of Local 449, U. S. Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters.

U. S. Friendship With Reds Needed

Easton, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP)—American leadership in "morality and in respect to the four freedoms" and this country's close friendship with the Soviet Union are essential to any hope of world peace, says Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, editor and publisher of the newspaper "Pour La Victoire."

Without such American cooperation, Mme. Tabouis told the Lafayette Institute in Support of a World Organized for Security and Peace opening here Wednesday, any who hope for a future peace "are mad."

Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian statesman, are among prominent speakers scheduled to address remaining sessions which are to continue through Friday.

REDS PUSHING NEW GAINS IN EAST PRUSSIA

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fall of the important East Prussian communications center of Gumbinnen appeared imminent today as the Germans announced evacuation of the civilian population from the path of onrushing Soviet forces.

Heavy counterattacks by German armor and infantry against the growing Russian salient in East Prussia were beaten back today by Red Army gunners who levelled their field artillery into a deadly antitank screen.

Despite the enemy's continual reinforcement, Gen. Ivan Cherniakovsky secured control of a 15-mile stretch on the secondary rail line which runs northwest to Tilsit from the junction on the main Konigsberg-Kaunas line, near Stallupoenen.

Frontline dispatches said "dozens of new German batteries" were introduced in an effort to contain the Russian thrusts aimed at Gumbinnen, from the northeast and southwest.

Balk 5 Attacks

Against one side of the Russian bulge the enemy launched five consecutive attacks employing as many as two battalions of infantry each time, supported by Panther tanks and self-propelled guns. They were broken up with heavy losses to the Germans.

Russian combat correspondents said the cannonading was unceasing night and day.

Red troops have not yet completely traversed the zone of concrete and steel fortifications which the Germans for years have been building to protect the home of Junkerdom.

A Moscow communique declared last night that the Red Army had captured Grunweitschen, four miles southeast of Gumbinnen, and Guddinn, seven miles east of the city. Shirgallen and Amalienhof, 10 miles to the east, also were taken.

An American commentator, speaking over the Moscow radio, reported that German civilians already were fleeing Konigsberg in panic.

Berlin, also reporting large scale battles, maintained the Russians had lost 900 tanks in 10 days and were being held except for "a few dents" on an 85-mile front from Augustow in the south to the Niemen river in the north.

Other Russian forces driving through northern Finland captured six localities in the Petsamo area. Soviet planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland sank more than a dozen small German ships presumably moving down the Norwegian coast after the fall of the naval base of Kirkenes, Moscow said.

On the southern flank of the front, Soviet forces which occupied the Czechoslovakian road junction of Munkacs (Mukacevo) yesterday were linked up today in a solid front with other Red Army units cutting across northeastern Hungary from conquered Transylvania. This drive has enveloped two-thirds of Hungarian-annexed Ruthenia and taken 18,000 prisoners in two weeks.

Approximately 4,886 square miles of Ruthenia have been overrun by five main Russian columns.

Descending the southern foothills of the Carpathian mountains, Red Army troops yesterday captured Velke Berezne, 19 miles northeast of Ungvar (Uzhorod), former capital of autonomous Ruthenia.

Forty villages were captured by Red Army forces in the advance across the northeastern corner of Hungary, Moscow said. Withdrawing German-Hungarian troops were threatened with entrapment.

NO AGREEMENT ON POLAND SAYS MR. CHURCHILL

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

London, Oct. 27, (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, declaring that "we are in the last lap" in the war against Germany, told Commons today that the Allied powers are "closing in" on the Nazis "and will crush the life out of their resistance."

In a brief report to Commons on his diplomatic-military mission to Moscow, he said that Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" on the problems of southeastern Europe, but expressed hope that he and Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt would meet again before the end of the year.

He frankly acknowledged that a solution had not been reached in the long dispute between Russia and Poland.

"It is certainly not for want of trying," he said, adding: "I am quite sure, however, that we have got a great deal nearer to it."

Want Strong Poland

But, he said, Britain, Russia and the United States, "are all firmly agreed on the recreation of a strong, free, independent, sovereign Poland, loyal to the Allies and friendly to her great neighbor and liberator, Russia."

The Prime Minister expressed the hope that Poland and Russia would lose no time in resuming their discussions "and bringing them to an effective conclusion."

He told Commons the "present stage of war is dour and hard and the fighting must be expected on all fronts to increase in scale and intensity."

"We believe we are in the last lap," he asserted, "but this is a race in which the failure to exert the fullest effort to the end may protract that end."

He bluntly told Commons that Adolf Hitler is pinning his hopes for winning the war on these two factors: "That by lengthening the struggle he may wear down our resolution and that division may arise between the three great powers."

Allies In Accord

He reported that never were Britain's relations with Russia "more close, intimate and cordial than at the present time" and that never had the two nations been able to discuss such "most delicate and potentially vexatious topics" with such frankness as was reached at Moscow.

"Where we could not agree," said Churchill, acknowledging for the first time publicly that there were differences still outstanding, "we understood the grounds for each other's disagreement and each other's points of view."

But he maintained that "over an astonishingly wide area" Britain and Russia found themselves "in full agreement."

"Let all hopes die in German breasts that there will be the slightest division or weakening in the forces that are closing in on them and will crush the life out of their resistance," cried Britain's war leader.

Churchill said that Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" about Greece, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Fight Common Foe

That agreement, he said, was designed with the double objective of concentrating their efforts against "the common foe and providing so far as possible for a peaceful settlement after the war is over."

Shifting to the recognition this week of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's provisional government of France, Churchill said it could be regarded "as a symbol of France's emergence from four dark years of terrible and woeful experience."

And, he said, it can be regarded as "heralding a period in which she will resume her rightful and historic role on the world stage."

He turned then to the problems of Greece, saying that when the country returned to "normal conditions of tranquility x x x the Greek people shall make in perfect freedom their decision as to the form of government under which they desire to live."

In the meantime, Churchill said, Britain is doing her best to stabilize Greek currency. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden now is in Athens consulting with the Greek government on the problem, he added.

Bricker Scores Riots, Strikes

Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 27 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker declared Thursday that the New Deal had "scourged" the employer and precipitated "class hatreds, riots, strikes and strained relations "between capital and labor."

The Republican nominee for Vice President, in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff as he entered Oklahoma after a fast, one-day tour through Texas, pictured the worker and employer as "two wheels on the same axle."

"If one turns," he added, "the other turns. If friction slows down one of them, the progress of the other is impeded. The job of government is to ease the strain and pull between the two and to encourage the forward movement of both."

Bricker said New Dealers considered business success as "the sign to attack."

"While the employer was being scourged," he continued, "the employe has been encouraged to believe that his best interests will be protected by the bureaucrats and that industrial strife is essential to better working conditions and better living standards."

NATION MARKS "NAVY DAY"

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt, amid reports of stirring naval victory in the far Pacific, urged today the unswerving support of the Navy "until the last battle is won."

In a statement recognizing Navy Day, he said.

"On this Navy Day, 1944, the nation pauses to salute the men of the United States Navy. Their heroic performance has won the admiration and gratitude of all men who fight for freedom. Never before has sea power played so significant a role in the determination of American destiny and the course of world history.

"In the greatest and most difficult naval war ever fought, our Navy has emerged from its ordeal by fire as a massive striking force of enormous power and precision. The men of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines have proven themselves the enemy's superior in every branch of warfare.

"There still remains a monumental chapter of naval history to be written in the Pacific. That it will be superbly executed I have no doubt. For our part, it is our duty here at home to continue to give the Navy our unswerving support until the last battle is won.

"The American people will never forget the Navy's courage and sacrifice.

HEIR TO DODGE FORTUNE WEDS

Denver, Oct. 27 (AP)—Corp. and Mrs. Horace Elgin Dodge III, are honeymooning today in a small three-room apartment.

The affable young heir to the Dodge motor fortune and his college sweetheart, the former Margery Gehman of Buffalo, N. Y., were married last night in a simple ceremony, without fuss or frills. No relatives were present.

The wedding climaxed six days of uncertainty since "Bud," 21, and "Gay," 20, announced last Saturday their plans to be married. First, the bridegroom's father, Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., thrice married and divorced, announced he would try to stop the marriage, set for Tuesday night.

Then the elder Dodge gave his consent if the young couple would wait for him to come to Denver. Despite the fact that Corporal Dodge's pass from Lowry Field, where he is stationed, expired early Thursday, the wedding was reset for last night. Maj. Dodge then notified his son he was trying to charter a plane at Louisville, Ky., but probably would not be able to attend.

"We've waited as long as could be expected," the couple announced. Bud obtained an additional military pass and the wedding went through.

Mrs. Dodge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merrill Gehman of Buffalo. Cpl. Dodge's mother is Mrs. Thomas K. Birrell of White Plains, N. Y.

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, declaring that "we are in the last lap" in the war against Germany, told Commons today that the Allied powers are "closing in" on the Nazis "and will crush the life out of their resistance."

In a brief report to Commons on his diplomatic-military mission to Moscow, he said that Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" on the problems of southeastern Europe, but expressed hope that he and Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt would meet again before the end of the year.

He frankly acknowledged that a solution had not been reached in the long dispute between Russia and Poland.

"It is certainly not for want of trying," he said, adding: "I am quite sure, however, that we have got a great deal nearer to it."

Want Strong Poland

But, he said, Britain, Russia and the United States, "are all firmly agreed on the recreation of a strong, free, independent, sovereign Poland, loyal to the Allies and friendly to her great neighbor and liberator, Russia."

The Prime Minister expressed the hope that Poland and Russia would lose no time in resuming their discussions "and bringing them to an effective conclusion."

He told Commons the "present stage of war is dour and hard and the fighting must be expected on all fronts to increase in scale and intensity."

"We believe we are in the last lap," he asserted, "but this is a race in which the failure to exert the fullest effort to the end may protract that end."

He bluntly told Commons that Adolf Hitler is pinning his hopes for winning the war on these two factors: "That by lengthening the struggle he may wear down our resolution and that division may arise between the three great powers."

Allies In Accord

He reported that never were Britain's relations with Russia "more close, intimate and cordial than at the present time" and that never had the two nations been able to discuss such "most delicate and potentially vexatious topics" with such frankness as was reached at Moscow.

"Where we could not agree," said Churchill, acknowledging for the first time publicly that there were differences still outstanding, "we understood the grounds for each other's disagreement and each other's points of view."

But he maintained that "over an astonishingly wide area" Britain and Russia found themselves "in full agreement."

"Let all hopes die in German breasts that there will be the slightest division or weakening in the forces that are closing in on them and will crush the life out of their resistance," cried Britain's war leader.

Churchill said that Russia and Britain had reached "a very good working agreement" about Greece, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Fight Common Foe

That agreement, he said, was designed with the double objective of concentrating their efforts against "the common foe and providing so far as possible for a peaceful settlement after the war is over."

Shifting to the recognition this week of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's provisional government of France, Churchill said it could be regarded "as a symbol of France's emergence from four dark years of terrible and woeful experience."

And, he said, it can be regarded as "heralding a period in which she will resume her rightful and historic role on the world stage."

He turned then to the problems of Greece, saying that when the country returned to "normal conditions of tranquility x x x the Greek people shall make in perfect freedom their decision as to the form of government under which they desire to live."

In the meantime, Churchill said, Britain is doing her best to stabilize Greek currency. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden now is in Athens consulting with the Greek government on the problem, he added.

Bricker Scores Riots, Strikes

Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 27 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker declared Thursday that the New Deal had "scourged" the employer and precipitated "class hatreds, riots, strikes and strained relations "between capital and labor."

The Republican nominee for Vice President, in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff as he entered Oklahoma after a fast, one-day tour through Texas, pictured the worker and employer as "two wheels on the same axle."

"If one turns," he added, "the other turns. If friction slows down one of them, the progress of the other is impeded. The job of government is to ease the strain and pull between the two and to encourage the forward movement of both."

Bricker said New Dealers considered business success as "the sign to attack."

"While the employer was being scourged," he continued, "the employe has been encouraged to believe that his best interests will be protected by the bureaucrats and that industrial strife is essential to better working conditions and better living standards."

NATION MARKS "NAVY DAY"

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt, amid reports of stirring naval victory in the far Pacific, urged today the unswerving support of the Navy "until the last battle is won."

In a statement recognizing Navy Day, he said.

"On this Navy Day, 1944, the nation pauses to salute the men of the United States Navy. Their heroic performance has won the admiration and gratitude of all men who fight for freedom. Never before has sea power played so significant a role in the determination of American destiny and the course of world history.

"In the greatest and most difficult naval war ever fought, our Navy has emerged from its ordeal by fire as a massive striking force of enormous power and precision. The men of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines have proven themselves the enemy's superior in every branch of warfare.

"There still remains a monumental chapter of naval history to be written in the Pacific. That it will be superbly executed I have no doubt. For our part, it is our duty here at home to continue to give the Navy our unswerving support until the last battle is won.

"The American people will never forget the Navy's courage and sacrifice.

HEIR TO DODGE FORTUNE WEDS

Denver, Oct. 27 (AP)—Corp. and Mrs. Horace Elgin Dodge III, are honeymooning today in a small three-room apartment.

The affable young heir to the Dodge motor fortune and his college sweetheart, the former Margery Gehman of Buffalo, N. Y., were married last night in a simple ceremony, without fuss or frills. No relatives were present.

The wedding climaxed six days of uncertainty since "Bud," 21, and "Gay," 20, announced last Saturday their plans to be married. First, the bridegroom's father, Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., thrice married and divorced, announced he would try to stop the marriage, set for Tuesday night.

Then the elder Dodge gave his consent if the young couple would wait for him to come to Denver. Despite the fact that Corporal Dodge's pass from Lowry Field, where he is stationed, expired early Thursday, the wedding was reset for last night. Maj. Dodge then notified his son he was trying to charter a plane at Louisville, Ky., but probably would not be able to attend.

"We've waited as long as could be expected," the couple announced Bud obtained an additional military pass and the wedding went through.

Mrs. Dodge is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Harry Merrill Gehman of Buffalo. Cpl. Dodge's mother is Mrs. Thomas K. Birrell of White Plains, N. Y.

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

Report Germans Leaving Salonika

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Greek guerrilla forces have occupied the important communications center of Larissa on the main railway running to the port of Salonika, 75 miles to the north, Allied headquarters announced Thursday.

(Istanbul dispatches reported that the Germans already have begun evacuating Salonika.)

At the same time, the announcement said troops landed from the British destroyer Teazer and the Greek destroyer Navarino have occupied the island of Skopelos in the northern Sporades group east of the port of Volos. There [illegible] opposition.

Larissa is less than 100 air line miles from Greece's northern frontier. With its evacuation the Nazis lost the only remaining airfield within 300 miles of Crete and with them the last hope of evacuating any substantial part of Crete's garrison by air.

Maritime Officer Wins DSM Award

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Maritime commission's distinguished service medal has been awarded to Captain Albert Spaulding, Kimberton, Pa., of the liner Uruguay, now a troop transport, for rescuing injured following a collision at sea.

The medal will be presented today at a ceremony at Commission headquarters here.

The commission said Spaulding and First Officer Spencer Pardoe, Brighton, Mass., went into the ship's hold to bring out seriously injured and to remove bodies of the dead.

The Uruguay was rammed by another ship while transporting 4,700 soldiers. The date and location of the accident were not announced. Thirteen were killed and more than 50 seriously injured.

Pardoe received the distinguished service medal at Houston, Texas, last week.

HEAVY GERMAN RESISTANCE IN NORTHERN ITALY

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eighth Army forces advancing up the Po valley along Highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defenses two miles east of Forli, Allied headquarters announced today.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp German counterattacks with Tanks.

South of the Bologna-Rimini highway Indian troops also reached the river and sent patrols across. The river flows northward and empties into a canal south of Ravenna.

Yanks Stop Nazis

Vanguard Eighth Army units advanced two miles nearer to Ravenna in the drive up the Adriatic coast and put a bridgehead across the Bevano river on Highway 16 at a point six miles below the city.

However, heavy rain fell over both the Eighth and Fifth Army fronts and generally impeded progress in all sectors. In the central sector below Bologna, in one area it was necessary to transport supplies first five miles by jeep, then five miles by mule and four miles by infantrymen.

American troops on Mount Belmonte threw back a heavy German counterattack and other doughboys captured Il Poggio and Mount Mezzano, west of Vedriano, which is five miles southwest of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

The Cross Keys labor camp was reopened in September at the conclusion of the infantile ban, when 48 boys came from Schuylkill county schools. An additional group of 27 arrived later and the 75 boys worked in the county for two weeks. Later, when the Schuylkill county boys returned to their schools, A group of 27 high school pupils from Dauphin county and 10 from Perry county, reported to the camp. They were the group that left Sunday. The camp was used first in cherry season.

Keller was in charge of the camp during the entire period. His assistant was Robert Smith, also of Schuylkill Haven. The two directors with the two cooks gave the camp a personnel of 41 during the last several weeks

Maritime Officer Wins DSM Award

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Maritime commission's distinguished service medal has been awarded to Captain Albert Spaulding, Kimberton, Pa., of the liner Uruguay, now a troop transport, for rescuing injured following a collision at sea.

The medal will be presented today at a ceremony at Commission headquarters here.

The commission said Spaulding and First Officer Spencer Pardoe, Brighton, Mass., went into the ship's hold to bring out seriously injured and to remove bodies of the dead.

The Uruguay was rammed by another ship while transporting 4,700 soldiers. The date and location of the accident were not announced. Thirteen were killed and more than 50 seriously injured.

Pardoe received the distinguished service medal at Houston, Texas, last week.

Pontoons attached to the sterns of ships built in the Great Lakes shipyards raise the bulk of the ships and allowed them to travel through the shallow channel of the Illinois-Mississippi river.

HEAVY GERMAN RESISTANCE IN NORTHERN ITALY

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eighth Army forces advancing up the Po valley along Highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defenses two miles east of Forli, Allied headquarters announced today.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp German counterattacks with Tanks.

South of the Bologna-Rimini highway Indian troops also reached the river and sent patrols across. The river flows northward and empties into a canal south of Ravenna.

Yanks Stop Nazis

Vanguard Eighth Army units advanced two miles nearer to Ravenna in the drive up the Adriatic coast and put a bridgehead across the Bevano river on Highway 16 at a point six miles below the city.

However, heavy rain fell over both the Eighth and Fifth Army fronts and generally impeded progress in all sectors. In the central sector below Bologna, in one area it was necessary to transport supplies first five miles by jeep, then five miles by mule and four miles by infantrymen.

American troops on Mount Belmonte threw back a heavy German counterattack and other doughboys captured Il Poggio and Mount Mezzano, west of Vedriano, which is five miles southwest of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

western and northern Adams county farms and orchards.

The Cross Keys labor camp was reopened in September at the conclusion of the infantile ban, when 48 boys came from Schuylkill county schools. An additional group of 27 arrived later and the 75 boys worked in the county for two weeks. Later, when the Schuylkill county boys returned to their schools, A group of 27 high school pupils from Dauphin county and 10 from Perry county, reported to the camp. They were the group that left Sunday. The camp was used first in cherry season.

Keller was in charge of the camp during the entire period. His assistant was Robert Smith, also of Schuylkill Haven. The two directors with the two cooks gave the camp a personnel of 41 during the last several weeks.

The word "soviet" means "council" in English.

Report Germans Leaving Salonika

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Greek guerilla forces have occupied the important communications center of Larissa on the main railway running to the port of Salonika, 75 miles to the north, Allied headquarters announced Thursday.

(Istanbul dispatches reported that the Germans already have begun evacuating Salonika.)

At the same time, the announcement said, troops landed from the British destroyer Teazer and the Greek destroyer Navarino have occupied the island of Skopelos in the northern Sporadies group east of the port of Volos. There was no opposition.

Larissa is less than 100 air line miles from Greece's northern frontier. With its evacuation the Nazis lost the only remaining airbase within 300 miles of Crete and with that the last hope of evacuating any substantial part of Crete's garrison by air.

Maritime Officer Wins DSM Award

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Maritime commission's distinguished service medal has been awarded to Captain Albert Spaulding, Kimberton, Pa., of the liner Uruguay, now a troop transport, for rescuing injured following a collision at sea.

The medal will be presented today at a ceremony at Commission headquarters here.

The commission said Spaulding and First Officer Spencer Pardoe, Brighton, Mass., went into the ship's hold to bring out seriously injured and to remove bodies of the dead.

The Uruguay was rammed by another ship while transporting 4,700 soldiers. The date and location of the accident were not announced. Thirteen were killed and more than 50 seriously injured.

Pardoe received the distinguished service medal at Houston, Texas, last week.

Pontoons attached to the sterns of ships built in the Great Lakes shipyards raise the bulk of the ships and allowed them to travel through the shallow channel of the Illinois-Mississippi river.

HEAVY GERMAN RESISTANCE IN NORTHERN ITALY

Rome, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eighth Army forces advancing up the Po valley along Highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defenses two miles east of Forli, Allied headquarters announced today.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp German counterattacks with Tanks.

South of the Bologna-Rimini highway Indian troops also reached the river and sent patrols across. The river flows northward and empties into a canal south of Ravenna.

Yanks Stop Nazis

Vanguard Eighth Army units advanced two miles nearer to Ravenna in the drive up the Adriatic coast and put a bridgehead across the Bevano river on Highway 16 at a point six miles below the city.

However, heavy rain fell over both the Eighth and Fifth Army fronts and generally impeded progress in all sectors. In the central sector below Bologna, in one area it was necessary to transport supplies first five miles by jeep, then five miles by mule and four miles by infantrymen.

American troops on Mount Belmonte threw back a heavy German counterattack and other doughboys captured Il Poggio and Mount Mezzano, west of Vedriano, which is five miles southwest of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

western and northern Adams county farms and orchards.

The Cross Keys labor camp was reopened in September at the conclusion of the infantile ban, when 48 boys came from Schuylkill county schools. An additional group of 27 arrived later and the 75 boys worked in the county for two weeks. Later, when the Schuylkill county boys returned to their schools, A group of 27 high school pupils from Dauphin county and 10 from Perry county, reported to the camp. They were the group that left Sunday. The camp was used first in cherry season.

Keller was in charge of the camp during the entire period. His assistant was Robert Smith, also of Schuylkill Haven. The two directors with the two cooks gave the camp a personnel of 41 during the last several weeks.

The word "soviet" means "council" in English.

Hertogenbosch, eastern corner of the box, was in British hands. Tilburg, a city of 100,000, 12 miles to the southwest in the center of the line, was almost surrounded, with the Allies in the outskirts. The British were fighting at Zundert, nine miles south of Breda to the west, and the Canadians were within two miles of Roosendaal and about as close to Bergen Op Zoom at the western end of the line.

The Canadian fight to free the south bank of the Schelde was all but over, with the Germans cleaned out of Oostburg. Lt. Gen. H. D. Crerar's troops were driving on Cadzand, four miles to the northwest where a few German guns still were active, and had bypassed Groede.

As they crossed the terrace, the colored lanterns gave a dim, exotic light, shaded on the seaward side by dark slides. The lighting played tricks, picking out a profile here, a woman's frock there, among the people sitting at the little tables set among ferns and flowers

Cherry did not look for Julia. She wanted to get away as quickly as she could. It was an effort to walk beside Douglas, smiling up at him in an easy, natural fashion; she wanted to run like a hurt child, to rush out into the enveloping velvet darkness of the garden beyond. The orchestra started playing again, and the dancers sipping drinks began filtering leisurely in through the arches to the Palm Court. The sea, making a soft shirshirring against the steps at the end of the marble terrace, provided an accompaniment to the music. If she had been here, dancing with Rory, it would have been heaven.

"Taxi, sir?" the commissionaire asked

"Yes, please."

The man whistled softly, and a taxi rolled up out of the darkness as if conjured by magic. Cherry stepped into it, unaware that Rory and Julia had stopped halfway across the terrace, recognizing them. Julia stared as the taxi was swallowed up in the pitch darkness of the driveway, an acid comment on the tip of her tongue. Then some instinct warned her to say nothing to the silent young man at her side, nothing about Cherry, anyway. She turned and put her hand on his arm. "Shall we dance again, Rory? This music and the floor are just divine!"

"Certainly," Rory said stiffly, absentmindedly.

The blacked-out streets of Panama still reeked of the day's heat. Here in the town the sea's freshness did not penetrate; there was a peculiar smell compounded of heat, native bodies, bad drains, heavy cigars, and the sickly-sweet perfume used by the half-caste girls who stood about at street corners in pink and white and blue organdie dresses giggling and gossiping. But the city would not be blacked out for long, dim lights were springing up over the myriad restaurants and cafes, and a young moon threatened to flood the twinkling stars from the sky.

If only this were Rory!

She fought it down valiantly. Douglas was too much of a man, too much of a friend, to be used as a puppet in her mood of misery.

The restaurant they stepped into was pretty in a gaudy manner; it had nothing of the size and grandeur of the Wilmington, and they were greeted by hot music, hot air flavored with garlic and other strange cooking smells. Small tables were set around the dance floor. The orchestra was mounted on a platform decked with flowers, and between dances the room was turned into a fantastic cafe by rainbow-colored spotlights. The tables were crowded with Latin Americans with girls varying in hue from bronze to synthetic blonde, shoddily dressed women loaded with make-up that was constantly melting in the heat. Here and there a sprinkling of officers from the American barracks and visiting ships gave a more sober air to the make-believe atmosphere.

"Enjoying yourself, Cherry?"

"I'm having a lovely time—Douglas"

He danced well. Just a trifle correctly, perhaps, as a protest against the tropical languor of the night, but with good rhythm and easy control. Against all her expectations, Cherry enjoyed dancing.

You would have to be very old and very bitter not to enjoy dancing, she thought, in this setting

She had no idea of the time when Douglas called for their last drinks and a taxi, but the open country they drove through was bright as day with the moonlight

Night orchids and huge lilies lifted white arms towards that cool and splendid radiance; the palms and trees threw inky shadows, like woodcuts. And over and above everything was the almost overpowering smell of a tropical country at night, the damp earth and ripe fruit and a thousand nameless flowers. Their Negro driver grinned when he pulled up outside the ruins of Old Panama City.

Cherry found herself walking softly in this enchanted land, as if the ghost city could still feel and hear. She listened to Douglas telling her what the buildings had been, and he spoke so vividly that she could see the cathedral a fortress of the Spanish church again, towering bravely against the blue sky, the bells pealing from the tower and summoning worshippers in queer costumes and flowing black mantillas. She could feel the grim tenacity of those pioneers transplanting the old world to the new; she could see, as Douglas talked, the rise and fall of their power, the coming of pirates, the red ruin as the city was looted and plundered and fell gradually into decay—that swift and terrible decay of the tropics.

"It is strange, the way gold will make and break a country. This place was ruined because it hoarded untold wealth. Men died like flies of fever and plague to cut a trail through jungle and swamp across these mountains from ocean to ocean. Am I boring you, Cherry?"

"No!" she cried breathlessly. "I could listen to you forever. But it frightens me. It's so lovely here."

As they crossed the terrace, the colored lanterns gave a dim, exotic light, shaded on the seaward side by dark slides. The lighting played tricks, picking out a profile here, a woman's frock there, among the people sitting at the little tables set among ferns and flowers.

Cherry did not look for Julia. She wanted to get away as quickly as she could. It was an effort to walk beside Douglas, smiling up at him in an easy, natural fashion; she wanted to run like a hurt child, to rush out into the enveloping velvet darkness of the garden beyond. The orchestra started playing again, and the dancers sipping drinks began filtering leisurely in through the arches to the Palm Court. The sea, making a soft shirshirring against the steps at the end of the marble terrace, provided an accompaniment to the music. If she had been here, dancing with Rory, it would have been heaven.

"Taxi, sir?" the commissionaire asked.

"Yes, please."

The man whistled softly, and a taxi rolled up out of the darkness as if conjured by magic. Cherry stepped into it, unaware that Rory and Julia had stopped halfway across the terrace, recognizing them. Julia stared as the taxi was swallowed up in the pitch darkness of the driveway, an acid comment on the tip of her tongue. Then some instinct warned her to say nothing to the silent young man at her side, nothing about Cherry, anyway. She turned and put her hand on his arm. "Shall we dance again, Rory? This music and the floor are just divine!"

"Certainly," Rory said stiffly, absentmindedly.

The blacked-out streets of Panama still reeked of the day's heat. Here in the town the sea's freshness did not penetrate; there was a peculiar smell compounded of heat, native bodies, bad drains, heavy cigars, and the sickly-sweet perfume used by the half-caste girls who stood about at street corners in pink and white and blue organdie dresses, giggling and gossiping. But the city would not be blacked out for long, dim lights were springing up over the myriad restaurants and cafes, and a young moon threatened to flood the twinkling stars from the sky.

If only this were Rory!

She fought it down valiantly. Douglas was too much of a man, too much of a friend, to be used as a puppet in her mood of misery.

The restaurant they stepped into was pretty, in a gaudy manner; it had nothing of the size and grandeur of the Wilmington, and they were greeted by hot music, hot air flavored with garlic and other strange cooking smells. Small tables were set around the dance floor. The orchestra was mounted on a platform decked with flowers, and between dances the room was turned into a fantastic cave by rainbow-colored spotlights. The tables were crowded with Latin Americans with girls varying in hue from bronze to synthetic blonde, shoddily dressed women loaded with make-up that was constantly melting in the heat. Here and there a sprinkling of officers from the American barracks and visiting ships gave a more sober air to the make-believe atmosphere.

"Enjoying yourself, Cherry?"

"I'm having a lovely time—Douglas."

He danced well. Just a trifle correctly, perhaps, as a protest against the tropical languor of the night, but with good rhythm and easy control. Against all her expectations, Cherry enjoyed dancing.

You would have to be very old and very bitter not to enjoy dancing, she thought, in this setting.

She had no idea of the time when Douglas called for their last drinks and a taxi, but the open country they drove through was bright as day with the moonlight.

Night orchids and huge lilies lifted white arms towards that cool and splendid radiance; the palms and trees threw inky shadows, like woodcuts. And over and above everything was the almost overpowering smell of a tropical country at night, the damp earth and ripe fruit and a thousand nameless flowers. Their Negro driver grinned when he pulled up outside the ruins of Old Panama City.

Cherry found herself walking softly in this enchanted land, as if the ghost city could still feel and hear. She listened to Douglas telling her what the buildings had been, and he spoke so vividly that she could see the cathedral a fortress of the Spanish church again, towering bravely against the blue sky, the bells pealing from the tower and summoning worshippers in queer costumes and flowing black mantillas. She could feel the grim tenacity of those pioneers transplanting the old world to the new; she could see, as Douglas talked, the rise and fall of their power, the coming of pirates, the red ruin as the city was looted and plundered and fell gradually into decay—that swift and terrible decay of the tropics.

"It is strange, the way gold will make and break a country. This place was ruined because it hoarded untold wealth. Men died like flies of fever and plague to cut a trail through jungle and swamp across these mountains from ocean to ocean. Am I boring you, Cherry?"

"No!" she cried breathlessly. "I could listen to you forever. But it frightens me. It's so lovely here."

Nazi Staff Moves

Hertogenbosch, eastern corner of the box, was in British hands. Tilburg, a city of 100,000, 12 miles to the southwest in the center of the line, was almost surrounded, with the Allies in the outskirts. The British were fighting at Zundert, nine miles south of Breda to the west, and the Canadians were within two miles of Roosendaal and about as close to Bergen Op Zoom at the western end of the line.

The Germans had moved their headquarters from Tilburg to north of the Maas, and today's supreme headquarters communique said the enemy had been forced to withdraw "all along the line" from Roosendaal to Tilburg.

The Canadian fight to free the south bank of the Schelde was all but over, with the Germans cleaned out of Oostburg. Lt. Gen. H. D. Crerar's troops were driving on Cadzand, four miles to the northwest where a few German guns still were active, and had bypassed Groede.

The fortress city of Tilburg was virtually outflanked yesterday by the British Second Army's capture of the town of Udenhout, four miles to the north.

As they crossed the terrace, the colored lanterns gave a dim, exotic light, shaded on the seaward side by dark slides. The lighting played tricks, picking out a profile here, a woman's frock there, among the people sitting at the little tables set among ferns and flowers.

Cherry did not look for Julia. She wanted to get away as quickly as she could. It was an effort to walk beside Douglas, smiling up at him in an easy, natural fashion; she wanted to run like a hurt child, to rush out into the enveloping velvet darkness of the garden beyond. The orchestra started playing again, and the dancers sipping drinks began filtering leisurely in through the arches to the Palm Court. The sea, making a soft shirshirring against the steps at the end of the marble terrace, provided an accompaniment to the music. If she had been here, dancing with Rory, it would have been heaven.

"Taxi, sir?" the commissionaire asked.

"Yes, please."

The man whistled softly, and a taxi rolled up out of the darkness as if conjured by magic. Cherry stepped into it, unaware that Rory and Julia had stopped halfway across the terrace, recognizing them. Julia stared as the taxi was swallowed up in the pitch darkness of the driveway, an acid comment on the tip of her tongue. Then some instinct warned her to say nothing to the silent young man at her side, nothing about Cherry, anyway. She turned and put her hand on his arm. "Shall we dance again, Rory? This music and the floor are just divine!"

"Certainly," Rory said stiffly, absentmindedly.

The blacked-out streets of Panama still reeked of the day's heat. Here in the town the sea's freshness did not penetrate; there was a peculiar smell compounded of heat, native bodies, bad drains, heavy cigars, and the sickly-sweet perfume used by the half-caste girls who stood about at street corners in pink and white and blue organdie dresses, giggling and gossiping. But the city would not be blacked out for long, dim lights were springing up over the myriad restaurants and cafes, and a young moon threatened to flood the twinkling stars from the sky.

If only this were Rory!

She fought it down valiantly. Douglas was too much of a man, too much of a friend, to be used as a puppet in her mood of misery.

The restaurant they stepped into was pretty, in a gaudy manner; it had nothing of the size and grandeur of the Wilmington, and they were greeted by hot music, hot air flavored with garlic and other strange cooking smells. Small tables were set around the dance floor. The orchestra was mounted on a platform decked with flowers, and between dances the room was turned into a fantastic cave by rainbow-colored spotlights. The tables were crowded with Latin Americans with girls varying in hue from bronze to synthetic blonde, shoddily dressed women loaded with make-up that was constantly melting in the heat. Here and there a sprinkling of officers from the American barracks and visiting ships gave a more sober air to the make-believe atmosphere.

"Enjoying yourself, Cherry?"

"I'm having a lovely time—Douglas."

He danced well. Just a trifle correctly, perhaps, as a protest against the tropical languor of the night, but with good rhythm and easy control. Against all her expectations, Cherry enjoyed dancing.

You would have to be very old and very bitter not to enjoy dancing, she thought, in this setting.

She had no idea of the time when Douglas called for their last drinks and a taxi, but the open country they drove through was bright as day with the moonlight.

Night orchids and huge lilies lifted white arms towards that cool and splendid radiance; the palms and trees threw inky shadows, like woodcuts. And over and above everything was the almost overpowering smell of a tropical country at night, the damp earth and ripe fruit and a thousand nameless flowers. Their Negro driver grinned when he pulled up outside the ruins of Old Panama City.

Cherry found herself walking softly in this enchanted land, as if the ghost city could still feel and hear. She listened to Douglas telling her what the buildings had been, and he spoke so vividly that she could see the cathedral a fortress of the Spanish church again, towering bravely against the blue sky, the bells pealing from the tower and summoning worshippers in queer costumes and flowing black mantillas. She could feel the grim tenacity of those pioneers transplanting the old world to the new; she could see, as Douglas talked, the rise and fall of their power, the coming of pirates, the red ruin as the city was looted and plundered and fell gradually into decay—that swift and terrible decay of the tropics.

"It is strange, the way gold will make and break a country. This place was ruined because it hoarded untold wealth. Men died like flies of fever and plague to cut a trail through jungle and swamp across these mountains from ocean to ocean. Am I boring you, Cherry?"

"No!" she cried breathlessly. "I could listen to you forever. But it frightens me. It's so lovely here."

LOWER PAXTON TRIPS BIGLER ELEVEN 13-7

Biglerville high school's gridders dropped a bitter 13-7 battle to Lower Paxton high in a Lower Susquehanna conference game played at Biglerville Thursday evening before approximately 500 fans.

The final whistle found the Canners but two yards short of the goal line in what appeared an almost certain touchdown drive which would have resulted in a tie or possible victory.

Despite the visitors holding a weight advantage, Coach "Hen" Bream's lads played their opponents to a standstill throughout.

Biglerville got off to a fast star in the first period when Dave Pitzer crashed through the line for about three yards and a touchdown after the Canners had marched downfield. Pitzer added the extra point on a placement.

Pass to Scores

The game became deadlocked in the second quarter when Lower Paxton took to the air, Corl taking a 15-yard pass and scampering 25 yards unhindered for the touchdown. Cobb added the point on a placement.

Early in the final period Lower Paxton tallied what proved to be the winning marker. Again striking through the air when the forward wall of Biglerville proved too tough for cracking. a 25-yard pass to Thrush on the 5-yard stripe produced the tally, Thrush going into pay dirt on the play. Cobb's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Biglerville rallied gallantly in the fading minutes and seemed destined to pull the game from the fire only to have their drive halted by the whistle on the 2-yard line.

Coach Bream's outfit rolled up 11 first downs to their opponents' 10. While Biglerville was completing five passes, Lower Paxton made good on but three, two of which resulted in scores.

Next Friday the Canners will play Juniata Joint township high away.

The lineups:

	Biglerville	Lower Paxton
L.E.	Dixon	Corl
L.T.	Hikes	Long
L.G.	Miller	Monn
C.	Heller	Brame
R.G.	Brough	Harnsberger

Q.B.	Bucher	B. Groft
L.H.	Utz	T. Groft
R.H.	Ogden	E. Ricker

Score by periods:

Lower Paxton	0	7	0	6	13
Biglerville	7	0	0	0	7

Touchdowns. Pitzer. Corl. Thrush. Points after touchdown, Pitzer (line plunge); Cobb (placement kick). Substitutions: Biglerville—Sternat, Rice; Lower Paxton—Shultz, Swavely, Thrush. Referee, Doremus. Umpire, Mitchell. Headlinesman, J. Pitzer.

CRUCIAL GRID GAMES CARDED THIS WEEKEND

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Leaders of school-boy football conference races face acid tests of strength this week-end as at least six top teams place unsullied records on the block.

Easton's clash with Bethlehem is a headline attraction in the east that will eliminate one contender for big fifteen honors.

Allentown, defending champion in this loop, plays at Pottsville, while Williamsport, fourth of the circuit's unbeaten leaders meets John Harris high in the state capital. In other games Sunbury travels to Hazleton. Lancaster invades Steelton and York goes to Reading.

The fight for the western conference crown, now a four-day affair, narrows to three contenders after Westmont tangles with Somerset. Huntingdon, unbeaten and unscored upon, has no conference game on tap this week, but State college, fourth of the contenders, faces stiff opposition at Tyrone.

Camp Hill and Lemoyne, both unbeaten in Lower Susquehanna conference ranks meet in their annual game.

Other Big Games

Farrell, Erie county and Grove City sport perfect records in big sixteen competition in the northwest. However, Farrell must get by Sharon this week to remain in the running, while Academy faces Erie Tech and Grove City takes on Sharpsville.

Mahanoy City, current leader of the eastern conference, meets Shamokin a big fifteen contender and Lansford with 19 straight wins battles Lebanon, another big fifteen member. Hanover township, the unbeaten northern division leader goes to Larksville.

The Windber-Altoona scrap tops the list of independent games. Other important clashes on the week-end program include Danville at Bloomsburg, Ridgeway at Warren, Punxsutawney at Indiana and Carlisle [illegible] at Canonsburg of Butler.

Catasauqua has hopes of maintaining its winning streak in the Lehigh valley league, Jersey Shore battles Milton and Swatara invades South Williamsport for Susquehanna league tilts. Carlisle is matched against Hershey for a South Penn conference game.

Unbeaten Trojans To Meet Maroons

A large delegation of Chambersburg fans are expected to accompany the unbeaten Trojan gridders here this evening for their game with the Gettysburg high Maroons. The kickoff will be at 8 o'clock.

Chambersburg must down the locals to remain in the race for the South Penn championship.

Despite the impressive record compiled by the Franklin countians, the Dry-men have hopes of pulling an upset.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Word from the west coast is that the Pacific Coast League really intends to stick to that $15,000 or else ultimatum at the winter baseball meetings. . . . In other words, the coast clubs will insist on having the draft price doubled, even though they have heard from one major league president that his circuit will up the price from $7,500 to $10,000 without an argument. . . . If they don't get what they want, the coasters have tentatively agreed to refuse to give up their players in the draft and they say they have the financial resources to go alone. . . . Golf pros are testing a few sample clubs made up with plastic heads, presumably so they can plaster the ball. . . . Seems that only eleven Rockingham Park bettors had the "hunch" to follow up that Lady-In-Red story when Redbush and Blood Hound clicked for a $2,301.60 daily double Wednesday.

HE KNEW HIS PLACE

When Ensign Hampton Pool, former Stanford and Chicago Bears star (and did you know he had a year at California and one at West Point?) was drawing his football equipment to play for the Fort Pierce, Fla., Naval Amphibious Training Base, he was handed jersey 14 as the one that came nearest to fitting his 228 pound frame. . . . Hamp chunked it right back to the equipment man. "No. 14 is Don Hutson's number," he said. "And nobody else should have that—certainly not me."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Boston Braves are reported to be dickering for the Syracuse Internationals as their No. 1 farm club, having decided they can't get along without a double A team. . . . George Terlep, who has been on the receiving end of a lot of Notre Dame passes this season, was a star pass pitcher at Elkhart, Ind., high school a few years ago. . . . Catholic University of Washington, which got into the Madison Square Garden invitation basketball tourney last spring although only ten boys turned out for the team, has given up basketball this year because of the manpower shortage.

SERVICE DEPT.

It took the Third Air Force gremlins only four football games to advance the ball a mile and Charlie Trippi, ex-Georgia ace, accounted for abouthalf the yardage. . . . Joe Verdeur, national breast stroke swimming champion, has reported aboard at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station. With Verdeur, Adolph Kiefer and Wally Ris, the commodore should have a whale of a relay team. . . . A husky young fellow dropped into the Ottumwa, Ia., Naval Air Station athletic office last week and asked: "How's Ohio State doing?" . . . Coaches of the injury-riddled Skyer team, spotting a prospect, asked: "aren't you new here. what's your name? . . . "Gomer Jones," replied the newcomer. . . . Gomer Jones, Ohio State—the combination struck a responsive note with someone whose memory went back to 1935. "Where did you go to school?" he asked hesitantly. . . . "Mount Union college, ever hear of it?" replied this Gomer Jones.

Experimental planting of date palms was begun in 1890 in the southwest by the Department of agriculture.

ARMY, IRISH, AND NAVY ARE PICKED TO WIN

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—If Navy, California, Marquette, U.C.L.A. and the Texas Aggies hadn't let us down last week we would have had a perfect performance (of course no selector counts ties as defeats). So feeling pretty good over a record of 31 victories, five defeats and four ties we plunge into this week's lineup:

Duke-Army—The experts say this will be the Cadets' first real test. Army.

Navy-Pennsylvania—It's , Penn's hard luck that the Middies won everything but the game at Georgia Tech last week. This Navy team is overdue (we said that last week). With proper respect for the undefeated Penn outfit we'll string along with the Navy.

Notre Dame-Illinois — Wisconsin showed that the Irish could be scored against. But it'll be Notre Dame's fifth straight victory.

Third Air Force-Randolph Field—Randolph.

Minnesota-Ohio State—Ohio State.

Washington-California — California.

Purdue-Michigan—Purdue.

Dartmouth-Brown—Brown.

Great Lakes-Wisconsin — Great Lakes.

L.S.U.-Georgia—Georgia.

Iowa-Indiana—Indiana.

Rochester-Yale—Yale.

Southern Methodist-Tulane - Tulane.

St. Mary's-Southern California—Southern California.

Let's skip hither and thither for the remainder: Friday, Bucknell over Temple.

Saturday, Columbia over Colgate, Florida over Maryland, William and Mary over N. C. State, Lafayette over Rutgers, Boston College over Syracuse, Virginia over V.M.I., Penn State over West Virginia, Franklin and Marshall over Muhlenberg, and Pittsburgh over Chatham Field.

DEALERS LACK SHELL SUPPLY

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pennsylvania sportsmen, with the state's small game season opening November 1, are still plagued with the problem of finding supplies of scarce shotgun shells.

Ammunition dealers in the Harrisburg area adopted a voluntary rationing system October 1, under which they limited licensed hunters to the purchase of one box of shells at a time and punched license cards to enforce it. Dealers in many other communities were reported using the same plan.

"The system worked out all right except that we haven't had any ammunition for several weeks," said Frederick Cleckner, one Harrisburg retailer, "and we don't know when we will get any more. Sportsmen are agreed, however, it was the fairest way to avoid unequal distribution."

Another dealer said "Hunters are after me all day long in the store and then keep calling me at night" for ammunition. He said the store's allotment so far has not been enough to meet one-tenth of the de-mand.

A third store, which received part of its second quota of shells yesterday, sold out before the end of the day and still could not fill the dedemand.

The state Game Commission declined comment on the situation, a spokesman explaining it has maintained a hands-off policy.

LOWER PAXTON TRIPS BIGLER ELEVEN 13-7

Biglerville high school's gridders dropped a bitter 13-7 battle to Lower Paxton high in a Lower Susquehanna conference game played at Biglerville Thursday evening before approximately 500 fans.

The final whistle found the Canners but two yards short of the goal line in what appeared an almost certain touchdown drive which would have resulted in a tie or possible victory.

Despite the visitors holding a weight advantage, Coach "Hen" Bream's lads played their opponents to a standstill throughout.

Biglerville got off to a fast start in the first period when Dave Pitzer crashed through the line for about three yards and a touchdown after the Canners had marched downfield. Pitzer added the extra point on a placement.

Pass to Scores

The game became deadlocked in the second quarter when Lower Paxton took to the air, Corl taking a 15-yard pass and scampering 25 yards unhindered for the touchdown. Cobb added the point on a placement.

Early in the final period Lower Paxton tallied what proved to be the winning marker. Again striking through the air when the forward wall of Biglerville proved too tough for cracking, a 25-yard pass to Thrush on the 5-yard stripe produced the tally, Thrush going into pay dirt on the play. Cobb's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Biglerville rallied gallantly in the fading minutes and seemed destined to pull the game from the fire only to have their drive halted by the whistle on the 2-yard line.

Coach Bream's outfit rolled up 11 first downs to their opponents' 10. While Biglerville was completing five passes, Lower Paxton made good on but three, two of which resulted in scores.

Next Friday the Canners will play Juniata Joint township high away.

The lineups:

Biglerville	Lower Paxton
L.E.—Dixon	Corl
L.T.—Hikes	Long
L.G.—Miller	Monn
C. —Heller	Brame
R.G.—Brough	Harnsberger
R.T.—Jester	Mosteller
R.E.—Ebbert	Balmer
L.H.—Utz	T. Groft
R.H.—Ogden	E. Ricker
F.B.—D. Pitzer	Cobb

Score by periods:

Lower Paxton	0	7	0	6—13
Biglerville	7	0	0	0— 7

Touchdowns, Pitzer, Corl, Thrush. Points after touchdown, Pitzer (line plunge); Cobb (placement kick). Substitutions: Biglerville—Sternat, Rice; Lower Paxton—Shultz, Swavely, Thrush. Referee, Doremus. Umpire, Mitchell. Headlinesman, J. Pitzer.

CRUCIAL GRID GAMES CARDED THIS WEEKEND

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Leaders of school-boy football conference races face acid tests of strength this week-end as at least six top teams place unsullied records on the block.

Easton's clash with Bethlehem is a headline attraction in the east that will eliminate one contender for big fifteen honors.

Allentown, defending champion in this loop, plays at Pottsville, while Williamsport, fourth of the circuit's unbeaten leaders meets John Harris high in the state capital. In other games Sunbury travels to Hazleton, Lancaster invades Steelton and York goes to Reading.

The fight for the western conference crown, now a four-day affair, narrows to three contenders after Westmont tangles with Somerset. Huntingdon, unbeaten and unscored upon, has no conference game on tap this week, but State college, fourth of the contenders, faces stiff opposition at Tyrone.

Camp Hill and Lemoyne, both unbeaten in Lower Susquehanna conference ranks, meet in their annual game.

Other Big Games

Farrell, Erie county and Grove City sport perfect records in big sixteen competition in the northwest. However, Farrell must get by Sharon this week to remain in the running, while Academy faces Erie Tech and Grove City takes on Sharpsville.

Mahanoy City, current leader of the eastern conference, meets Shamokin, a big fifteen contender, and Lansford, with 19 straight wins, battles Lebanon, another big fifteen member. Hanover township, the unbeaten northern division leader, goes to Larksville.

The Windber-Altoona scrap tops the list of independent games. Other important clashes on the week-end program include Berwick at Bloomsburg, Ridgeway at Warren, Ebensburg at Indiana and Cathedral prep at Canisius of Buffalo.

Catasauqua has hopes of maintaining its winning streak in the Lehigh valley league. Jersey Shore battles Milton and Selinsgrove invades South Williamsport for Susquehanna league tilts. Carlisle is matched against Hershey for a South Penn conference game.

Unbeaten Trojans To Meet Maroons

A large delegation of Chambersburg fans are expected to accompany the unbeaten Trojan gridders here this evening for their game with the Gettysburg high Maroons. The kickoff will be at 8 o'clock.

Chambersburg must down the locals to remain in the race for the South Penn championship.

Despite the impressive record compiled by the Franklin countians, the Dry-men have hopes of pulling an upset.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Word from the west coast is that the Pacific Coast League really intends to stick to that $15,000 or else ultimatum at the winter baseball meetings. . . . In other words, the coast clubs will insist on having the draft price doubled, even though they have heard from one major league president that his circuit will up the price from $7,500 to $10,000 without an argument. . . . If they don't get what they want, the coasters have tentatively agreed to refuse to give up their players in the draft and they say they have the financial resources to go alone. . . . Golf pros are testing a few sample clubs made up with plastic heads, presumably so they can plaster the ball. . . . Seems that only eleven Rockingham Park bettors had the "hunch" to follow up that Lady-In-Red story when Redbush and Blood Hound clicked for a $2,301.60 daily double Wednesday.

HE KNEW HIS PLACE

When Ensign Hampton Pool, former Stanford and Chicago Bears star (and did you know he had a year at California and one at West Point?) was drawing his football equipment to play for the Fort Pierce, Fla., Naval Amphibious Training Base, he was handed jersey 14 as the one that came nearest to fitting his 228 pound frame. . . . Hamp chunked it right back to the equipment man. "No. 14 is Don Hutson's number," he said. "And nobody else should have that—certainly not me."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Boston Braves are reported to be dickering for the Syracuse Internationals as their No. 1 farm club, having decided they can't get along without a double A team. . . . George Terlep, who has been on the receiving end of a lot of Notre Dame passes this season, was a star pass pitcher at Elkhart, Ind., high school a few years ago. . . . Catholic University of Washington, which got into the Madison Square Garden invitation basketball tourney last spring although only ten boys turned out for the team, has given up basketball this year because of the manpower shortage.

SERVICE DEPT. .

It took the Third Air Force gremlins only four football games to advance the ball a mile and Charlie Trippi, ex-Georgia ace, accounted for abouthalf the yardage. . . . Joe Verdeur, national breast stroke swimming champion, has reported aboard at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station. With Verdeur, Adolph Kiefer and Wally Ris, the commodore should have a whale of a relay team. . . . A husky young fellow dropped into the Ottumwa, Ia., Naval Air Station athletic office last week and asked: "How's Ohio State doing?" . . . Coaches of the injury-riddled Skyer team, spotting a prospect, asked: "aren't you new here, what's your name? . . . "Gomer Jones," replied the newcomer. . . . Gomer Jones, Ohio State—the combination struck a responsive note with someone whose memory went back to 1935. "Where did you go to school?" he asked hesitantly. . . . "Mount Union college, ever hear of it?" replied this Gomer Jones.

Experimental planting of date palms was begun in 1890 in the southwest by the Department of agriculture.

ARMY, IRISH, AND NAVY ARE PICKED TO WIN

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—If Navy, California, Marquette, U.C.L.A. and the Texas Aggies hadn't let us down last week we would have had a perfect performance (of course no selector counts ties as defeats). So feeling pretty good over a record of 31 victories, five defeats and four ties we plunge into this week's lineup:

Duke-Army—The experts say this will be the Cadets' first real test. Army.

Navy-Pennsylvania—It's Penn's hard luck that the Middies won everything but the game at Georgia Tech last week. This Navy team is overdue (we said that last week). With proper respect for the undefeated Penn outfit we'll string along with the Navy.

Notre Dame-Illinois — Wisconsin showed that the Irish could be scored against. But it'll be Notre Dame's fifth straight victory.

Third Air Force-Randolph Field—Randolph.

Minnesota-Ohio State—Ohio State.

Washington-California — California.

Purdue-Michigan—Purdue.

Dartmouth-Brown—Brown.

Great Lakes-Wisconsin — Great Lakes.

L.S.U.-Georgia—Georgia.

Iowa-Indiana—Indiana.

Rochester-Yale—Yale.

Southern Methodist-Tulane - Tulane.

St. Mary's-Southern California—Southern California.

Let's skip hither and thither for the remainder: Friday, Bucknell over Temple.

Saturday, Columbia over Colgate, Florida over Maryland, William and Mary over N. C. State, Lafayette over Rutgers, Boston College over Syracuse, Virginia over V.M.I., Penn State over West Virginia, Franklin and Marshall over Muhlenberg, and Pittsburgh over Chatham Field.

DEALERS LACK SHELL SUPPLY

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pennsylvania sportsmen, with the state's small game season opening November 1, are still plagued with the problem of finding supplies of scarce shotgun shells.

Ammunition dealers in the Harrisburg area adopted a voluntary rationing system October 1 under which they limited licensed hunters to the purchase of one box of shells at a time and punched license cards to enforce it. Dealers in many other communities were reported using the same plan.

"The system worked out all right except that we haven't had any ammunition for several weeks," said Frederick Cleckner, one Harrisburg retailer, "and we don't know when we will get any more. Sportsmen are agreed, however, it was the fairest way to avoid unequal distribution."

Another dealer said "Hunters are after me all day long in the store and then keep calling me at night" for ammunition. He said the store's allotment so far has not been enough to meet one-tenth of the de-mand.

A third store, which received part of its second quota of shells yesterday, sold out before the end of the day and still could not fill the dedemand.

The state Game Commission declined comment on the situation, a spokesman explaining it has maintained a hands-off policy.

LOWER PAXTON TRIPS BIGLER ELEVEN 13-7

Biglerville high school's gridders dropped a bitter 13-7 battle to Lower Paxton high in a Lower Susquehanna conference game played at Biglerville Thursday evening before approximately 500 fans.

The final whistle found the Canners but two yards short of the goal line in what appeared an almost certain touchdown drive which would have resulted in a tie or possible victory.

Despite the visitors holding a weight advantage, Coach "Hen" Bream's lads played their opponents to a standstill throughout.

Biglerville got off to a fast start in the first period when Dave Pitzer crashed through the line for about three yards and a touchdown after the Canners had marched downfield. Pitzer added the extra point on a placement.

Pass to Scores

The game became deadlocked in the second quarter when Lower Paxton took to the air, Corl taking a 15-yard pass and scampering 25 yards unhindered for the touchdown. Cobb added the point on a placement.

Early in the final period Lower Paxton tallied what proved to be the winning marker. Again striking through the air when the forward wall of Biglerville proved too tough for cracking, a 25-yard pass to Thrush on the 5-yard stripe produced the tally, Thrush going into pay dirt on the play. Cobb's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Biglerville rallied gallantly in the fading minutes and seemed destined to pull the game from the fire only to have their drive halted by the whistle on the 2-yard line.

Coach Bream's outfit rolled up 11 first downs to their opponents' 10. While Biglerville was completing five passes, Lower Paxton made good on but three, two of which resulted in scores.

Next Friday the Canners will play Juniata Joint township high away.

The lineups:

Biglerville	Lower Paxton
L.E.—Dixon	Corl
L.T.—Hikes	Long
L.G.—Miller	Monn
C. —Heller	Brame
R.G.—Brough	Harnsberger

R.E.—Ebbert	Balmer
L.H.—Utz	T. Groft
R.H.—Ogden	E. Ricker

Score by periods:

Lower Paxton	0	7	0	6—13
Biglerville	7	0	0	0— 7

CRUCIAL GRID GAMES CARDED THIS WEEKEND

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Leaders of school-boy football conference races face acid tests of strength this week-end as at least six top teams place unsullied records on the block.

Easton's clash with Bethlehem is a headline attraction in the east that will eliminate one contender for big fifteen honors.

Allentown, defending champion in this loop, plays at Pottsville, while Williamsport, fourth of the circuit's unbeaten leaders meets John Harris high in the state capital. In other games Sunbury travels to Hazleton, Lancaster invades Steelton and York goes to Reading.

The fight for the western conference crown, now a four-day affair, narrows to three contenders after Westmont tangles with Somerset. Huntingdon, unbeaten and unscored upon, has no conference game on tap this week, but State college, fourth of the contenders, faces stiff opposition at Tyrone.

Camp Hill and Lemoyne, both unbeaten in Lower Susquehanna conference ranks, meet in their annual game.

Other Big Games

Farrell, Erie county and Grove City sport perfect records in big sixteen competition in the northwest. However, Farrell must get by Sharon this week to remain in the running, while Academy faces Erie Tech and Grove City takes on Sharpsville.

Mahanoy City, current leader of the eastern conference, meets Shamokin, a big fifteen contender, and Lansford, with 19 straight wins, battles Lebanon, another big fifteen member. Hanover township, the unbeaten northern division leader, goes to Larksville.

The Windber-Altoona scrap tops the list of independent games. Other important clashes on the week-end program include Berwick at Bloomsburg, Ridgeway at Warren, Ebensburg at Indiana and Cathedral prep at Canisius of Buffalo.

Catasauqua has hopes of maintaining its winning streak in the Lehigh valley league. Jersey Shore battles Milton and Selinsgrove invades South Williamsport for Susquehanna league tilts. Carlisle is matched against Hershey for a South Penn conference game.

Unbeaten Trojans To Meet Maroons

A large delegation of Chambersburg fans are expected to accompany the unbeaten Trojan gridders here this evening for their game with the Gettysburg high Maroons. The kickoff will be at 8 o'clock.

Chambersburg must down the locals to remain in the race for the South Penn championship.

Despite the impressive record compiled by the Franklin countians, the Dry-men have hopes of pulling an upset.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—Word from the west coast is that the Pacific Coast League really intends to stick to that $15,000 or else ultimatum at the winter baseball meetings. . . . In other words, the coast clubs will insist on having the draft price doubled, even though they have heard from one major league president that his circuit will up the price from $7,500 to $10,000 without an argument. . . . If they don't get what they want, the coasters have tentatively agreed to refuse to give up their players in the draft and they say they have the financial resources to go alone. . . . Golf pros are testing a few sample clubs made up with plastic heads, presumably so they can plaster the ball. . . . Seems that only eleven Rockingham Park bettors had the "hunch" to follow up that Lady-In-Red story when Redbush and Blood Hound clicked for a $2,301.60 daily double Wednesday.

HE KNEW HIS PLACE

When Ensign Hampton Pool, former Stanford and Chicago Bears star (and did you know he had a year at California and one at West Point?) was drawing his football equipment to play for the Fort Pierce, Fla., Naval Amphibious Training Base, he was handed jersey 14 as the one that came nearest to fitting his 228 pound frame. . . . Hamp chunked it right back to the equipment man. "No. 14 is Don Hutson's number," he said. "And nobody else should have that—certainly not me."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Boston Braves are reported to be dickering for the Syracuse Internationals as their No. 1 farm club, having decided they can't get along without a double A team. . . . George Terlep, who has been on the receiving end of a lot of Notre Dame passes this season, was a star pass pitcher at Elkhart, Ind., high school a few years ago. . . . Catholic University of Washington, which got into the Madison Square Garden invitation basketball tourney last spring although only ten boys turned out for the team, has given up basketball this year because of the manpower shortage.

SERVICE DEPT. .

It took the Third Air Force gremlins only four football games to advance the ball a mile and Charlie Trippi, ex-Georgia ace, accounted for abouthalf the yardage. . . . Joe Verdeur, national breast stroke swimming champion, has reported aboard at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station. With Verdeur, Adolph Kiefer and Wally Ris, the commodore should have a whale of a relay team. . . . A husky young fellow dropped into the Ottumwa, Ia., Naval Air Station athletic office last week and asked: "How's Ohio State doing?" . . . Coaches of the injury-riddled Skyer team, spotting a prospect, asked: "aren't you new here, what's your name? . . . "Gomer Jones," replied the newcomer. . . . Gomer Jones, Ohio State—the combination struck a responsive note with someone whose memory went back to 1935. "Where did you go to school?" he asked hesitantly. . . . "Mount Union college, ever hear of it?" replied this Gomer Jones.

Experimental planting of date palms was begun in 1890 in the southwest by the Department of agriculture.

ARMY, IRISH, AND NAVY ARE PICKED TO WIN

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—If Navy, California, Marquette, U.C.L.A. and the Texas Aggies hadn't let us down last week we would have had a perfect performance (of course no selector counts ties as defeats). So feeling pretty good over a record of 31 victories, five defeats and four ties we plunge into this week's lineup:

Duke-Army—The experts say this will be the Cadets' first real test. Army.

Navy-Pennsylvania—It's Penn's hard luck that the Middies won everything but the game at Georgia Tech last week. This Navy team is overdue (we said that last week). With proper respect for the undefeated Penn outfit we'll string along with the Navy.

Notre Dame-Illinois — Wisconsin showed that the Irish could be scored against. But it'll be Notre Dame's fifth straight victory.

Third Air Force-Randolph Field—Randolph.

Minnesota-Ohio State—Ohio State.

Washington-California — California.

Purdue-Michigan—Purdue.

Dartmouth-Brown—Brown.

Great Lakes-Wisconsin — Great Lakes.

L.S.U.-Georgia—Georgia.

Iowa-Indiana—Indiana.

Rochester-Yale—Yale.

Southern Methodist-Tulane - Tulane.

St. Mary's-Southern California—Southern California.

Let's skip hither and thither for the remainder: Friday, Bucknell over Temple.

Saturday, Columbia over Colgate, Florida over Maryland, William and Mary over N. C. State, Lafayette over Rutgers, Boston College over Syracuse, Virginia over V.M.I., Penn State over West Virginia, Franklin and Marshall over Muhlenberg, and Pittsburgh over Chatham Field.

DEALERS LACK SHELL SUPPLY

Harrisburg, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pennsylvania sportsmen, with the state's small game season opening November 1, are still plagued with the problem of finding supplies of scarce shotgun shells.

Ammunition dealers in the Harrisburg area adopted a voluntary rationing system October 1, under which they limited licensed hunters to the purchase of one box of shells at a time and punched license cards to enforce it. Dealers in many other communities were reported using the same plan.

"The system worked out all right except that we haven't had any ammunition for several weeks," said Frederick Cleckner, one Harrisburg retailer, "and we don't know when we will get any more. Sportsmen are agreed, however, it was the fairest way to avoid unequal distribution."

Another dealer said "Hunters are after me all day long in the store and then keep calling me at night" for ammunition. He said the store's allotment so far has not been enough to meet one-tenth of the de-mand.

A third store, which received part of its second quota of shells yesterday, sold out before the end of the day and still could not fill the dedemand.

The state Game Commission declined comment on the situation, a spokesman explaining it has maintained a hands-off policy.

WALLET, $500 ARE RECOVERED BY RED CROSS

The story of a happy man was completed last Friday at the offices of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The happy man is Edward C. Peterson, of Wellsboro, a veteran of the first World War who is receiving a total permanent disability pension for the wounds he received in France in 1918. And what made him happy was the fact that he had recovered his wallet, which contained over $500 and all of his membership cards, driver's license and other papers.

He had gone to Durham, North Carolina, two weeks ago to visit friends, and on the return trip stopped last Wednesday at Remington, Va., to stop overnight at a tourist house. Peterson put his wallet under his pillow after he had paid in advance for his room, and got up early Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money. Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money.

Got Quick Action

He didn't think of his loss until he reached Gettysburg and went for help to the Red Cross. After hearing of Peterson's plight, Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter, phoned the Fauquier county, Virginia, office of the Red Cross.

Swift action on the part of the Red Cross office at Warrington, Virginia, located the wallet in the hands of the rooming house proprietor and it was sent to Gettysburg by registered mail. Peterson, whose lodging and meals had been arranged for by the Red Cross office, recovered his valuables this morning and left for Wellsboro with his collie dog, Queen.

"I don't know how I can ever thank them," he said, speaking of the Red Cross officials. "They're my best friends."

TOTAL MOUNTS TO $2,462 IN WAR FUND DRIVE

A check of War Fund campaign captains in many parts of the county last Thursday evening showed that collections have mounted close to the $2,500 mark with only partial and scattered results available.

The total at noon Friday stood at $2,462.35, an increase of approximately $1,000.00 since the last report issued on Wednesday. The county quota is $29,959 in the campaign which is scheduled to close November 1.

Special gifts from a number of boroughs in the county have not yet been reported. House-to-house solicitors are busy in every county community as the largest War Fund soliciting staff ever set up in the county swings into action.

Firemen Head List

Paul A. Kinsey, county campaign chairman, said Friday he is pleased with the initial reports that have been received and pointed out that they are well above the totals for the comparable dates in last year's drive.

The Adams County Firemen's Association heads Friday's list of contributors with a donation of $50. Next is the Gettysburg fire company's donation of $30.

The others follow:

Order of the Eastern Star	$25
Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Klinefelter	$20
Britcher and Bender drug store	$15
F and T restaurant	$15
M. A. Hartley and Co.	$15
Faber's	$10
Mitchell's restaurant	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reuning	$10
Misses Adams and Wolf	$10
Joe, the Motorist	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bierer	$10
Mrs. S. E. Koser	$10

Reports from the state War Fund headquarters at Scranton show that current collections throughout the state, including Carlisle, already have topped their campaign quotas.

Willard C. Weikert Now In California

Cpl. Willard C. Weikert, 28, son of Mrs. Mary Weikert, near Gettysburg, has arrived at the U.S. Naval hospital, Oakland, Calif., after serving with the Marines in the south Pacific since December, 1942.

Cpl. Weikert became hospitalized due to malaria last May. He saw action with the Marines on Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Gilbert islands and New Caledonia.

He enlisted in the Marines in December, 1941, and trained at Parris Island, S. C, and Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Sailor Wounded In Shooting Accident

S 2/C Nelson Hitchcock, 23, Littlestown R. 2, was reported in a fairly good condition at the Warner hospital Monday following his admittance Sunday evening for treatment of a .22 caliber gun shot wound in his abdimen. He underwent an operation Sunday evening.

Seaman Hitchcock, who was spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hitchcock, was removing the rifle from a shelf when it was accidentally discharged and the shot entered his abdomen. He had been shooting mark.

A call was made to Dr. R. S. McVaugh, Taneytown, who ordered his removal to the hospital.

3 BADLY HURT IN CRASH OF BAKERY TRUCK

Three young men were seriously injured Saturday morning about 8:15 o'clock when the bakery truck in which they were riding ran off the Lincoln highway two and a half wiles west of Gettysburg and was demolished in a collision with a tree just west of the Brownstone inn.

The three occupants of the truck were taken to the Warner hospital in the county ambulance after a tow truck derrick was rushed to the scene from the H. and H. machine shop, Gettysburg, to lift part of the wrecked truck beneath which Merle K. Bietch, 16, 320 South Main street.

Bietch suffered leg injuries that may necessitate an amputation, police said. Both legs are fractured, the hospital reported.

The driver, David A. George, 24, York R. 7, also was badly hurt as was Roy Foust, 20, Chambersburg R. 5. The trio was given first aid at the scene of the crash by Dr. C. G. Crist. George has a broken leg. Foust is being X-rayed.

Officers George J. Evanko and C. F. Renz of the Gettysburg detail of the state police are investigating the crash.

They said parts of the truck were scattered over a radius of 60 feet. The hundreds of pies the truck was hauling to Chambersburg from Mrs. Smith's bakery at York were scattered among the truck wreckage.

Private Evanko said that the westbound truck had run off the right side of the highway, which is straight at that point, and struck an eight-inch tree with its left side. The truck "climbed" the tree for about five feet and then went over on its left side as the tree went down.

A preliminary estimated placed the damage at about $800.

YOUTH MISSING SINCE SEPT. 26

Sgt. James Leroy Bierly, 24, who was reported missing in action in a War Department telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bierly, Fairfield R. D., last Friday morning, was serving with an infantry outfit in France. The telegram stated he has been missing since September 26.

Sgt. Bierly entered the service 27 months ago and trained in Tennessee, Kansas, California and at Fort Dix, N. J. He went overseas in July.

He graduated from Fairfield high school in 1938. On September 26, 1942, he married the former Miss Elizabeth Pryor, Waynesboro. The couple has no children.

A brother, Pvt. Willis Bierly, is serving with a medical outfit in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bierly received their last letter from their son on October 9.

Soldier Slightly Wounded In Action

Pfc. Donald F. Hankey, 21, son of Mrs. Nora B. Hankey, Gettysburg R. 3, was slightly wounded in action in Italy on October 4, according to a War department telegram received Wednesday evening by his mother.

Pfc. Hankey was inducted into the service on February 1, 1943, and received his infantry training at Camp Howze, Texas. He was sent overseas last December and was stationed in North Africa before going to Italy. Before his induction he was employed by the C. H. Musselman company at Gardners.

716 MILITARY BALLOTS ARE ON FILE HERE

Indications pointed today to a soldier vote of more than 1,000 in this county—possibly much more than that figure—as the county commissioners' office reported this morning that 716 marked ballots already have been returned. November 22 is the counting date for the military votes and the last day on which they may be accepted. They must be postmarked not later than November 7, however.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania military ballot law, the county commissioners' office mailed out a total of 2,517 ballots to men and women in the service.

The list of names was compiled by Civilian Defense corps members in all parts of the county months ago. Men in the service did not have to apply for ballots.

A state-wide tabulation showed Franklin county mailed 3,832 military ballots and has received 939. In York county 9,557 ballots were sent out and 3,118 have been returned.

200,000 In State

Harrisburg, (AP)—A Pennsylvania soldier vote of 200,000 or more was indicated Wednesday by a survey of county election boards now receiving sealed military ballots for counting on November 22.

Reports from all 67 counties showed a total of 644,305 ballots mailed out and 182,271 returned. Only from Mercer county was there no report of ballots returned and the figures from a number of other counties lacked those received in the last few days.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which gave President Roosevelt slightly more than his state-wide majority of 281,000 four years ago, accounted for almost 80,000 of the soldier votes already received.

Under Pennsylvania's military voting law, no application was required for ballots, which were mailed starting in September to all members of the armed forces whose addresses could be obtained. The law provides that when an application is made it must be received before Nov. 7. Marked ballots may be returned until the counting date but must bear a date not later than November 7.

125,000 AUTO OWNERS FAIL TO ASK "A" BOOKS

Approximately 125,000 car owners in the Harrisburg 10-county district have failed to date to file applications for the new basic "A" gasoline ration books, despite repeated reminders, and may find themselves without rations when the November 9 validity date rolls around, W. C. Young, acting director of the Harrisburg district OPA office, announced today.

A checkup of the 24 War Price and Rationing boards in this district has revealed that there has been only about a 40 per cent issuance of "A" books up to the present time although motorists have been urged repeatedly in the press and on the radio to act at once.

Records of last October's "A" book registration show that there were about 209,000 books issued in this 10-county area. Local Boards report only approximately 83,600 car owners have received their new "A" rations thus far.

Director Young emphasizes that the "A" books now in use are invalid on November 8 and motorists who do not apply for their new books by October 31 cannot be assured of receiving their new rations by November 9.

Passenger car owners are urged to secure application blanks immediately at service stations, garages, or War Price and Rationing Boards, and to mail or take the form completely filled out to their local boards, together with the signed back cover of their present "A" books.

Boards are mailing new "A" books to motorists as fast as applications are received and it is hoped that a last minute rush will be averted by prompt action on the part of all car owners.

IN CANADIAN HOSPITAL

Exhume Remains Of 3 Victims In Fire; Open Probe

A three-way investigation of the fire last March 8 that claimed the lives of a 74-year-old blind woman, her 24-year-old niece and the latter's infant son, aged 17 months, reached a climax Monday morning when the small white coffin containing charred remains of the three victims was exhumed in Union cemetery at Fairfield.

State police, District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, Sheriff John E. Millhimes, Deputy Sheriff B. E. Bixler, and Dr. C. Harold Johnson, pathologist at the Warner hospital, were on hand for the removal of the three-foot coffin and rough box from the small grave.

Doctor Johnson Examines Bones

The coffin was taken to the S. L. Allison funeral home in Fairfield, from which it had been buried on March 9, the day after the fire, and there the casket was opened and Doctor Johnson began examination of the contents under flood lights placed by a state police photographer.

The fire under investigation, first by state police as a routine fire probe, and then later on a wider basis when undisclosed circumstances developed, cost the lives of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 74; her niece, Mrs. Violet McKee, and the latter's child, Billy Leroy McKee.

Only occupants of the frame and log dwelling at Iron Springs to escape from the flames were Percy Smith, 41, son of the aged woman who was burned, and four-year-old Mary Alice McKee, sister of the infant that burned.

The exhuming Monday morning was carried out under authority of a court order handed down several weeks ago and promptly impounded to maintain the secrecy that has marked the investigation.

First in County

Opening of the grave at Fairfield was the first such instance in this county within the memory of officials present for the operation.

District Attorney Yake would not say what Doctor Johnson's preliminary examination of the remains found in coffin disclosed Monday but said that a thorough analysis of the charred fragments will be made—probably by state chemists.

At the time of the blaze, the cause of which was never determined, Fairfield firemen and the Fairfield funeral director, S. L. Allison, removed charred objects from the ruins which they believed at the time to be the torso of the infant with the head and arms and legs missing, and other fragments which they thought were parts of the bodies of the two women.

All of the remains were placed in the single three-foot coffin and were interred at common rites the morning of March 9. The rough box and coffin were in good condition this morning after having been buried for more than seven months.

The state police investigation has been directed by Jack Arms, special investigator from the state fire marshal's office, with Private Harold K. Trout of the Gettysburg detail of the state police assisting. The offices of the district attorney and the coroner have given "full cooperation," it was emphasized this morning.

The victims of the fire were trapped on the second floor of their home, Percy Smith, told investigators. Smith suffered cuts of the hands and severe burns in vain rescue attempts. Mary Alice McKee escaped with singed curls.

At the hospital on the morning of the fire, Smith told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that he had risen about 5 o'clock that morning and had kindled a fire in the out-kitchen stove where he intended to cook his breakfast and later heat water for the family washing, which was to have been done later in the morning by Mrs. McKee.

He went to another part of the house he said, noticed a light in the out-kitchen and when he opened the door was met by a blast of flames and smoke. The only exit from the home was through that out-kitchen.

Smith said he ran to the second floor and met Mrs. McKee going toward the stairway with one child under each arm. Smith said he relieved her of Mary Alice and escaped from the building with her, calling to the others to follow. He never saw them again. He smashed a first floor window and made two trips into the blazing building in unsuccessful efforts to locate other members of the household.

Neighbors arrived and called the Fairfield fire company. They also took Smith to the office of Dr. Ira Henderson at Fairfield and later to the Warner hospital.

PFC. M. P. OYLER IS WOUNDED ON GERMAN SOIL

Seriously wounded in France in July, Pfc. Melvin P. Oyler, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs Lester Oyler, Gettysburg, was slightly wounded in action in Germany on September 29, the War department notified the parents by telegram Friday morning.

Pfc Oyler, who fights with an infantry division of the First Army, was wounded first on July 11 in France and spent four weeks in a military hospital in France. The parents received weekly reports on his condition and were notified when he returned to duty four weeks to the day after he was injured.

The last letter the Oylers had from their son was written from Belgium on September 10 and told of having received 10 letters and a package there on his twenty-first birthday anniversary, September 7.

Has Purple Heart

The Gettysburg soldier was issued the Purple Heart medal after he was wounded in July and sent the medal home to his parents.

He volunteered for Army duty in August, 1942, and trained with armored troops at Fort Knox, Ky., before going to North Africa in February, 1943. He took part in the successful North African campaign. Serving with a reconnaissance unit, he drove a scout car during the Sicilian campaign. His next action was in France.

Before he entered service he was employed at the Fairchild aircraft factory at Hagerstown. He is a former Gettysburg high school student.

POLICE PROBE TWO ACCIDENTS

State police from the local substation investigated two automobile accidents, one involving approximately $450 damage, over the weekend.

A truck driven by Ernest Jenkins, Newark, New Jersey, struck a car driven by George H. Parks, Bethlehem, on Mount Newman after going out of control when the brakes failed Saturday evening about 7:15 o'clock. Police said Jenkins told them that after the brake failure his truck ran into a ditch beside the road and traveled downhill, striking a concrete abutment. The impact threw the truck across the highway striking the left rear of Parks' automobile which was going up the grade. Damage to the truck was estimated at $400, while that to the car was about $50.

In the second accident, an automobile driven by Donald Julius, Dover R D ran off a back road on East Berlin R 1, and ran into a fence on the property of Ada Berkheimer. Damage to the car was estimated at $25 while the fence was injured to the extent of approximately $10, the police report showed

The story of a happy man was completed last Friday at the offices of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The happy man is Edward C. Peterson, of Wellsboro, a veteran of the first World War who is receiving a total permanent disability pension for the wounds he received in France in 1918. And what made him happy was the fact that he had recovered his wallet, which contained over $500 and all of his membership cards, driver's license and other papers.

He had gone to Durham, North Carolina, two weeks ago to visit friends, and on the return trip stopped last Wednesday at Remington, Va., to stop overnight at a tourist house. Peterson put his wallet under his pillow after he had paid in advance for his room, and got up early Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money.
Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money.

Got Quick Action

He didn't think of his loss until he reached Gettysburg and went for help to the Red Cross. After hearing of Peterson's plight, Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter, phoned the Fauquier county, Virginia, office of the Red Cross.

Swift action on the part of the Red Cross office at Warrington, Virginia, located the wallet in the hands of the rooming house proprietor and it was sent to Gettysburg by registered mail. Peterson, whose lodging and meals had been arranged for by the Red Cross office, recovered his valuables this morning and left for Wellsboro with his collie dog, Queen.

"I don't know how I can ever thank them," he said, speaking of the Red Cross officials. "They're my best friends."

TOTAL MOUNTS TO $2,462 IN WAR FUND DRIVE

A check of War Fund campaign captains in many parts of the county last Thursday evening showed that collections have mounted close to the $2,500 mark with only partial and scattered results available.

The total at noon Friday stood at $2,462.35, an increase of approximately $1,000.00 since the last report issued on Wednesday. The county quota is $29,959 in the campaign which is scheduled to close November 1.

Special gifts from a number of boroughs in the county have not yet been reported. House-to-house solicitors are busy in every county community as the largest War Fund soliciting staff ever set up in the county swings into action.

Firemen Head List

Paul A. Kinsey, county campaign chairman, said Friday he is pleased with the initial reports that have been received and pointed out that they are well above the totals for the comparable dates in last year's drive.

The Adams County Firemen's Association heads Friday's list of contributors with a donation of $50. Next is the Gettysburg fire company's donation of $30.

The others follow:

Order of the Eastern Star	$25
Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Klinefelter	$20
Britcher and Bender drug store	$15
F and T restaurant	$15
M. A. Hartley and Co.	$15
Faber's	$10
Mitchell's restaurant	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reuning	$10
Misses Adams and Wolf	$10
Joe, the Motorist	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bierer	$10
Mrs. S. E. Koser	$10

Reports from the state War Fund headquarters at Scranton show that current collections throughout the state, including Carlisle, already have topped their campaign quotas.

Sailor Wounded In Shooting Accident

S 2/C Nelson Hitchcock, 23, Littlestown R. 2, was reported in a fairly good condition at the Warner hospital Monday following his admittance Sunday evening for treatment of a .22 caliber gun shot wound in his abdimen. He underwent an operation Sunday evening.

Seaman Hitchcock, who was spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hitchcock, was removing the rifle from a shelf when it was accidentally discharged and the shot entered his abdomen. He had been shooting mark.

A call was made to Dr. R. S. McVaugh, Taneytown, who ordered his removal to the hospital.

3 BADLY HURT IN CRASH OF BAKERY TRUCK

Three young men were seriously injured Saturday morning about 8:15 o'clock when the bakery truck in which they were riding ran off the Lincoln highway two and a half wiles west of Gettysburg and was demolished in a collision with a tree just west of the Brownstone inn.

The three occupants of the truck were taken to the Warner hospital in the county ambulance after a tow truck derrick was rushed to the scene from the H. and H. machine shop, Gettysburg, to lift part of the wrecked truck beneath which Merle K. Bietch, 16, 320 South Main street,

Bietch suffered leg injuries that may necessitate an amputation, police said. Both legs are fractured, the hospital reported.

The driver, David A. George, 24, York R. 7, also was badly hurt as was Roy Foust, 20, Chambersburg R. 5. The trio was given first aid at the scene of the crash by Dr. C. G. Crist. George has a broken leg. Foust is being X-rayed.

Officers George J. Evanko and C. F. Renz of the Gettysburg detail of the state police are investigating the crash.

They said parts of the truck were scattered over a radius of 60 feet. The hundreds of pies the truck was hauling to Chambersburg from Mrs. Smith's bakery at York were scattered among the truck wreckage.

Private Evanko said that the westbound truck had run off the right side of the highway, which is straight at that point, and struck an eight-inch tree with its left side. The truck "climbed" the tree for about five feet and then went over on its left side as the tree went down.

A preliminary estimated placed the damage at about $800.

U. S. Condemnation Suit Is Settled

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintended of the Gettysburg Battlefield, was notified Saturday by Henry E. Harner, special assistant of the United States attorney's office in Harrisburg, the condemnation suit brought by the federal government against William I. Shields, Gettysburg, for 22.9 acres of land opposite the Peace Light Inn, has been settled at a price of $1,785 and the title has been transferred to the government.

716 MILITARY BALLOTS ARE ON FILE HERE

Indications pointed today to a soldier vote of more than 1,000 in this county—possibly much more than that figure—as the county commissioners' office reported this morning that 716 marked ballots already have been returned. November 22 is the counting date for the military votes and the last day on which they may be accepted. They must be postmarked not later than November 7, however.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania military ballot law, the county commissioners' office mailed out a total of 2,517 ballots to men and women in the service.

The list of names was compiled by Civilian Defense corps members in all parts of the county months ago. Men in the service did not have to apply for ballots.

A state-wide tabulation showed Franklin county mailed 3,832 military ballots and has received 939. In York county 9,557 ballots were sent out and 3,118 have been returned.

200,000 In State

Harrisburg, (AP)—A Pennsylvania soldier vote of 200,000 or more was indicated Wednesday by a survey of county election boards now receiving sealed military ballots for counting on November 22.

Reports from all 67 counties showed a total of 644,305 ballots mailed out and 182,271 returned. Only from Mercer county was there no report of ballots returned and the figures from a number of other counties lacked those received in the last few days.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which gave President Roosevelt slightly more than his state-wide majority of 281,000 four years ago, accounted for almost 80,000 of the soldier votes already received.

Under Pennsylvania's military voting law, no application was required for ballots, which were mailed starting in September to all members of the armed forces whose addresses could be obtained. The law provides that when an application is made it must be received before Nov. 7. Marked ballots may be returned until the counting date but must bear a date not later than November 7.

125,000 AUTO OWNERS FAIL TO ASK "A" BOOKS

Approximately 125,000 car owners in the Harrisburg 10-county district have failed to date to file applications for the new basic "A" gasoline ration books, despite repeated reminders, and may find themselves without rations when the November 9 validity date rolls around, W. C. Young, acting director of the Harrisburg district OPA office, announced today.

A checkup of the 24 War Price and Rationing boards in this district has revealed that there has been only about a 40 per cent issuance of "A" books up to the present time although motorists have been urged repeatedly in the press and on the radio to act at once.

Records of last October's "A" book registration show that there were about 209,000 books issued in this 10-county area. Local Boards report only approximately 83,600 car owners have received their new "A" rations thus far.

Director Young emphasizes that the "A" books now in use are invalid on November 8 and motorists who do not apply for their new books by October 31 cannot be assured of receiving their new rations by November 9.

Passenger car owners are urged to secure application blanks immediately at service stations, garages, or War Price and Rationing Boards, and to mail or take the form completely filled out to their local boards, together with the signed back cover of their present "A" books.

Boards are mailing new "A" books to motorists as fast as applications are received and it is hoped that a last minute rush will be averted by prompt action on the part of all car owners.

IN CANADIAN HOSPITAL

Kenneth Dengler, Gettysburg, who is residing in Edmonte, Canada, while employed with the U. E. Engineers on the Alcan highway, recently suffered torn ligaments in his leg and is now confined to a hospital at that place.

Exhume Remains Of 3 Victims In Fire; Open Probe

A three-way investigation of the fire last March 8 that claimed the lives of a 74-year-old blind woman, her 24-year-old niece and the latter's infant son, aged 17 months, reached a climax Monday morning when the small white coffin containing charred remains of the three victims was exhumed in Union cemetery at Fairfield.

State police, District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, Sheriff John E. Millhimes, Deputy Sheriff B. E. Bixler, and Dr. C. Harold Johnson, pathologist at the Warner hospital, were on hand for the removal of the three-foot coffin and rough box from the small grave.

Doctor Johnson Examines Bones

The coffin was taken to the S. L. Allison funeral home in Fairfield, from which it had been buried on March 9, the day after the fire, and there the casket was opened and Doctor Johnson began examination of the contents under flood lights placed by a state police photographer.

The fire under investigation, first by state police as a routine fire probe, and then later on a wider basis when undisclosed circumstances developed, cost the lives of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 74; her niece, Mrs. Violet McKee, and the latter's child, Billy Leroy McKee.

Only occupants of the frame and log dwelling at Iron Springs to escape from the flames were Percy Smith, 41, son of the aged woman who was burned, and four-year-old Mary Alice McKee, sister of the infant that burned.

The exhuming Monday morning was carried out under authority of a court order handed down several weeks ago and promptly impounded to maintain the secrecy that has marked the investigation.

First in County

Opening of the grave at Fairfield was the first such instance in this county within the memory of officials present for the operation.

District Attorney Yake would not say what Doctor Johnson's preliminary examination of the remains found in coffin disclosed Monday but said that a thorough analysis of the charred fragments will be made—probably by state chemists.

At the time of the blaze, the cause of which was never determined, Fairfield firemen and the Fairfield funeral director, S. L. Allison, removed charred objects from the ruins which they believed at the time to be the torso of the infant with the head and arms and legs missing, and other fragments which they thought were parts of the bodies of the two women.

All of the remains were placed in the single three-foot coffin and were interred at common rites the morning of March 9. The rough box and coffin were in good condition this morning after having been buried for more than seven months.

The state police investigation has been directed by Jack Arms, special investigator from the state fire marshal's office, with Private Harold K. Trout of the Gettysburg detail of the state police assisting. The offices of the district attorney and the coroner have given "full cooperation," it was emphasized this morning.

The victims of the fire were trapped on the second floor of their home, Percy Smith, told investigators. Smith suffered cuts of the hands and severe burns in vain rescue attempts. Mary Alice McKee escaped with singed curls.

At the hospital on the morning of the fire, Smith told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that he had risen about 5 o'clock that morning and had kindled a fire in the out-kitchen stove where he intended to cook his breakfast and later heat water for the family washing, which was to have been done later in the morning by Mrs. McKee.

He went to another part of the house he said, noticed a light in the out-kitchen and when he opened the door was met by a blast of flames and smoke. The only exit from the home was through that out-kitchen.

Smith said he ran to the second floor and met Mrs. McKee going toward the stairway with one child under each arm. Smith said he relieved her of Mary Alice and escaped from the building with her, calling to the others to follow. He never saw them again. He smashed a first floor window and made two trips into the blazing building in unsuccessful efforts to locate other members of the household.

Neighbors arrived and called the Fairfield fire company. They also took Smith to the office of Dr. Ira Henderson at Fairfield and later to the Warner hospital.

PFC. M. P. OYLER IS WOUNDED ON GERMAN SOIL

Seriously wounded in France in July, Pfc. Melvin P. Oyler, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oyler, Gettysburg, was slightly wounded in action in Germany on September 29, the War department notified the parents by telegram Friday morning.

Pfc. Oyler, who fights with an infantry division of the First Army, was wounded first on July 11 in France and spent four weeks in a military hospital in France. The parents received weekly reports on his condition and were notified when he returned to duty four weeks to the day after he was injured.

The last letter the Oylers had from their son was written from Belgium on September 10 and told of having received 10 letters and a package there on his twenty-first birthday anniversary, September 7.

Has Purple Heart

The Gettysburg soldier was issued the Purple Heart medal after he was wounded in July and sent the medal home to his parents.

He volunteered for Army duty in August, 1942, and trained with armored troops at Fort Knox, Ky., before going to North Africa in February, 1943. He took part in the successful North African campaign. Serving with a reconnaissance unit, he drove a scout car during the Sicilian campaign. His next action was in France.

Before he entered service he was employed at the Fairchild aircraft factory at Hagerstown. He is a former Gettysburg high school student.

POLICE PROBE TWO ACCIDENTS

State police from the local substation investigated two automobile accidents, one involving approximately $450 damage, over the weekend.

A truck driven by Ernest Jenkins, Newark, New Jersey, struck a car driven by George H. Parks, Bethlehem, on Mount Newman after going out of control when the brakes failed Saturday evening about 7:15 o'clock. Police said Jenkins told them that after the brake failure his truck ran into a ditch beside the road and traveled downhill, striking a concrete abutment. The impact threw the truck across the highway striking the left rear of Parks' automobile which was going up the grade. Damage to the truck was estimated at $400, while that to the car was about $50.

In the second accident, an automobile driven by Donald Julius, Dover R. D., ran off a back road on East Berlin R. 1, and ran into a fence on the property of Ada Berkheimer. Damage to the car was estimated at $25 while the fence was injured to the extent of approximately $10, the police report showed.

WALLET, $500 ARE RECOVERED BY RED CROSS

The story of a happy man was completed last Friday at the offices of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The happy man is Edward C. Peterson, of Wellsboro, a veteran of the first World War who is receiving a total permanent disability pension for the wounds he received in France in 1918. And what made him happy was the fact that he had recovered his wallet, which contained over $500 and all of his membership cards, driver's license and other papers.

He had gone to Durham, North Carolina, two weeks ago to visit friends, and on the return trip stopped last Wednesday at Remington, Va., to stop overnight at a tourist house. Peterson put his wallet under his pillow after he had paid in advance for his room, and got up early Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money.
Thursday morning and forgot to retrieve the money.

Got Quick Action

He didn't think of his loss until he reached Gettysburg and went for help to the Red Cross. After hearing of Peterson's plight, Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter, phoned the Fauquier county, Virginia, office of the Red Cross.

Swift action on the part of the Red Cross office at Warrington, Virginia, located the wallet in the hands of the rooming house proprietor and it was sent to Gettysburg by registered mail. Peterson, whose lodging and meals had been arranged for by the Red Cross office, recovered his valuables this morning and left for Wellsboro with his collie dog, Queen.

"I don't know how I can ever thank them," he said, speaking of the Red Cross officials. "They're my best friends."

TOTAL MOUNTS TO $2,462 IN WAR FUND DRIVE

A check of War Fund campaign captains in many parts of the county last Thursday evening showed that collections have mounted close to the $2,500 mark with only partial and scattered results available.

The total at noon Friday stood at $2,462.35, an increase of approximately $1,000.00 since the last report issued on Wednesday. The county quota is $29,959 in the campaign which is scheduled to close November 1.

Special gifts from a number of boroughs in the county have not yet been reported. House-to-house solicitors are busy in every county community as the largest War Fund soliciting staff ever set up in the county swings into action.

Firemen Head List

Paul A. Kinsey, county campaign chairman, said Friday he is pleased with the initial reports that have been received and pointed out that they are well above the totals for the comparable dates in last year's drive.

The Adams County Firemen's Association heads Friday's list of contributors with a donation of $50. Next is the Gettysburg fire company's donation of $30.

The others follow:

Order of the Eastern Star	$25
Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Klinefelter	$20
Britcher and Bender drug store	$15
F and T restaurant	$15
M. A. Hartley and Co.	$15
Faber's	$10
Mitchell's restaurant	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reuning	$10
Misses Adams and Wolf	$10
Joe, the Motorist	$10
Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bierer	$10
Mrs. S. E. Koser	$10

Reports from the state War Fund headquarters at Scranton show that current collections throughout the state, including Carlisle, already have topped their campaign quotas.

Sailor Wounded In Shooting Accident

S 2/C Nelson Hitchcock, 23, Littlestown R. 2, was reported in a fairly good condition at the Warner hospital Monday following his admittance Sunday evening for treatment of a .22 caliber gun shot wound in his abdimen. He underwent an operation Sunday evening.

Seaman Hitchcock, who was spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hitchcock, was removing the rifle from a shelf when it was accidentally discharged and the shot entered his abdomen. He had been shooting mark.

A call was made to Dr. R. S. McVaugh, Taneytown, who ordered his removal to the hospital.

3 BADLY HURT IN CRASH OF BAKERY TRUCK

Three young men were seriously injured Saturday morning about 8:15 o'clock when the bakery truck in which they were riding ran off the Lincoln highway two and a half wiles west of Gettysburg and was demolished in a collision with a tree just west of the Brownstone inn.

The three occupants of the truck were taken to the Warner hospital in the county ambulance after a tow truck derrick was rushed to the scene from the H. and H. machine shop, Gettysburg, to lift part of the wrecked truck beneath which Merle K. Bietch, 16, 320 South Main street,

Bietch suffered leg injuries that may necessitate an amputation, police said. Both legs are fractured, the hospital reported.

The driver, David A. George, 24, York R. 7, also was badly hurt as was Roy Foust, 20, Chambersburg R. 5. The trio was given first aid at the scene of the crash by Dr. C. G. Crist. George has a broken leg. Foust is being X-rayed.

Officers George J. Evanko and C. F. Renz of the Gettysburg detail of the state police are investigating the crash.

They said parts of the truck were scattered over a radius of 60 feet. The hundreds of pies the truck was hauling to Chambersburg from Mrs. Smith's bakery at York were scattered among the truck wreckage.

Private Evanko said that the westbound truck had run off the right side of the highway, which is straight at that point, and struck an eight-inch tree with its left side. The truck "climbed" the tree for about five feet and then went over on its left side as the tree went down.

A preliminary estimated placed the damage at about $800.

716 MILITARY BALLOTS ARE ON FILE HERE

Indications pointed today to a soldier vote of more than 1,000 in this county—possibly much more than that figure—as the county commissioners' office reported this morning that 716 marked ballots already have been returned. November 22 is the counting date for the military votes and the last day on which they may be accepted. They must be postmarked not later than November 7, however.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania military ballot law, the county commissioners' office mailed out a total of 2,517 ballots to men and women in the service.

The list of names was compiled by Civilian Defense corps members in all parts of the county months ago. Men in the service did not have to apply for ballots.

A state-wide tabulation showed Franklin county mailed 3,832 military ballots and has received 939. In York county 9,557 ballots were sent out and 3,118 have been returned.

200,000 In State

Harrisburg, (AP)—A Pennsylvania soldier vote of 200,000 or more was indicated Wednesday by a survey of county election boards now receiving sealed military ballots for counting on November 22.

Reports from all 67 counties showed a total of 644,305 ballots mailed out and 182,271 returned. Only from Mercer county was there no report of ballots returned and the figures from a number of other counties lacked those received in the last few days.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which gave President Roosevelt slightly more than his state-wide majority of 281,000 four years ago, accounted for almost 80,000 of the soldier votes already received.

Under Pennsylvania's military voting law, no application was required for ballots, which were mailed starting in September to all members of the armed forces whose addresses could be obtained. The law provides that when an application is made it must be received before Nov. 7. Marked ballots may be returned until the counting date but must bear a date not later than November 7.

125,000 AUTO OWNERS FAIL TO ASK "A" BOOKS

Approximately 125,000 car owners in the Harrisburg 10-county district have failed to date to file applications for the new basic "A" gasoline ration books, despite repeated reminders, and may find themselves without rations when the November 9 validity date rolls around, W. C. Young, acting director of the Harrisburg district OPA office, announced today.

A checkup of the 24 War Price and Rationing boards in this district has revealed that there has been only about a 40 per cent issuance of "A" books up to the present time although motorists have been urged repeatedly in the press and on the radio to act at once.

Records of last October's "A" book registration show that there were about 209,000 books issued in this 10-county area. Local Boards report only approximately 83,600 car owners have received their new "A" rations thus far.

Director Young emphasizes that the "A" books now in use are invalid on November 8 and motorists who do not apply for their new books by October 31 cannot be assured of receiving their new rations by November 9.

Passenger car owners are urged to secure application blanks immediately at service stations, garages, or War Price and Rationing Boards, and to mail or take the form completely filled out to their local boards, together with the signed back cover of their present "A" books.

Boards are mailing new "A" books to motorists as fast as applications are received and it is hoped that a last minute rush will be averted by prompt action on the part of all car owners.

Exhume Remains Of 3 Victims In Fire; Open Probe

A three-way investigation of the fire last March 8 that claimed the lives of a 74-year-old blind woman, her 24-year-old niece and the latter's infant son, aged 17 months, reached a climax Monday morning when the small white coffin containing charred remains of the three victims was exhumed in Union cemetery at Fairfield.

State police, District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, Sheriff John E. Millhimes, Deputy Sheriff B. E. Bixler, and Dr. C. Harold Johnson, pathologist at the Warner hospital, were on hand for the removal of the three-foot coffin and rough box from the small grave.

Doctor Johnson Examines Bones

The coffin was taken to the S. L. Allison funeral home in Fairfield, from which it had been buried on March 9, the day after the fire, and there the casket was opened and Doctor Johnson began examination of the contents under flood lights placed by a state police photographer.

The fire under investigation, first by state police as a routine fire probe, and then later on a wider basis when undisclosed circumstances developed, cost the lives of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 74; her niece, Mrs. Violet McKee, and the latter's child, Billy Leroy McKee.

Only occupants of the frame and log dwelling at Iron Springs to escape from the flames were Percy Smith, 41, son of the aged woman who was burned, and four-year-old Mary Alice McKee, sister of the infant that burned.

The exhuming Monday morning was carried out under authority of a court order handed down several weeks ago and promptly impounded to maintain the secrecy that has marked the investigation.

First in County

Opening of the grave at Fairfield was the first such instance in this county within the memory of officials present for the operation.

District Attorney Yake would not say what Doctor Johnson's preliminary examination of the remains found in coffin disclosed Monday but said that a thorough analysis of the charred fragments will be made—probably by state chemists.

At the time of the blaze, the cause of which was never determined, Fairfield firemen and the Fairfield funeral director, S. L. Allison, removed charred objects from the ruins which they believed at the time to be the torso of the infant with the head and arms and legs missing, and other fragments which they thought were parts of the bodies of the two women.

All of the remains were placed in the single three-foot coffin and were interred at common rites the morning of March 9. The rough box and coffin were in good condition this morning after having been buried for more than seven months.

The state police investigation has been directed by Jack Arms, special investigator from the state fire marshal's office, with Private Harold K. Trout of the Gettysburg detail of the state police assisting. The offices of the district attorney and the coroner have given "full cooperation," it was emphasized this morning.

The victims of the fire were trapped on the second floor of their home, Percy Smith, told investigators. Smith suffered cuts of the hands and severe burns in vain rescue attempts. Mary Alice McKee escaped with singed curls.

At the hospital on the morning of the fire, Smith told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times that he had risen about 5 o'clock that morning and had kindled a fire in the out-kitchen stove where he intended to cook his breakfast and later heat water for the family washing, which was to have been done later in the morning by Mrs. McKee.

He went to another part of the house he said, noticed a light in the out-kitchen and when he opened the door was met by a blast of flames and smoke. The only exit from the home was through that out-kitchen.

Smith said he ran to the second floor and met Mrs. McKee going toward the stairway with one child under each arm. Smith said he relieved her of Mary Alice and escaped from the building with her, calling to the others to follow. He never saw them again. He smashed a first floor window and made two trips into the blazing building in unsuccessful efforts to locate other members of the household.

Neighbors arrived and called the Fairfield fire company. They also took Smith to the office of Dr. Ira Henderson at Fairfield and later to the Warner hospital.

POLICE PROBE TWO ACCIDENTS

State police from the local substation investigated two automobile accidents, one involving approximately $450 damage, over the weekend.

A truck driven by Ernest Jenkins, Newark, New Jersey, struck a car driven by George H. Parks, Bethlehem, on Mount Newman after going out of control when the brakes failed Saturday evening about 7:15 o'clock. Police said Jenkins told them that after the brake failure his truck ran into a ditch beside the road and traveled downhill, striking a concrete abutment. The impact threw the truck across the highway striking the left rear of Parks' automobile which was going up the grade. Damage to the truck was estimated at $400, while that to the car was about $50.

In the second accident, an automobile driven by Donald Julius, Dover R. D., ran off a back road on East Berlin R. 1, and ran into a fence on the property of Ada Berkheimer. Damage to the car was estimated at $25 while the fence was injured to the extent of approximately $10, the police report showed.

MISSIONARY TELLS OF JAP PRISON CAMP

A story of nearly seven months in a Japanese prison camp in occupied China was told Monday evening by the Rev. Minor W. Myers, of Bridgewater, Va., a Church of the Brethren missionary who spoke at special exercises at the local Church of the Brethren.

Introduced by Walter J. Keeney, an elder deacon, the Rev. Mr. Myers described the treatment the missionaries and other workers received at the hands of the Japs. The missionary was serving at a station in Tienstsin, province of Shansi, North China, when the Japs occupied that territory.

"We had been in a tension for some time before," he said, "and in preparation for such an occupation had evacuated all the missionaries from the station except two women and myself.

"When the Japs came they closed up our compound and placed guards around the fence. They gave the Marines at the embassy until 1 o'clock that afternoon to lay down their arms and surrender, and then they were in complete control.

Treated Civilly

"Because I knew that some of my Chinese friends had been tortured and beaten and some of them killed," he continued, "I did not look with great confidence on my status as an American national.

"However, I can say now, that from the time war was declared until the day I got on the boat to come home, I was not treated, other than civilly by any Japanese."

The Rev. Mr. Myers told how finally the order came for the occupants of his compound and others to get their supplies together for a trip north to a "civilian assembly center," in reality a segregation camp.

"There were about 1,800 of us in the former Presbyterian school center for the province," he said. "Included were Americans, British Belgians and Hollanders. The camp had been built a number of years before by the Presbyterian workers and contained brick sleeping quarters, a church and hospitals and other buildings.

"Camp life was simple and aside from the guards, there were only four other Japanese at the camp. Our camp was organized into committees and every able-bodied person worked. It was surprising to see what a lot of different talents came out. There were butchers, bakers, cooks, black-smiths, barbers and many other kinds of workers.

Not Enough Food

"At first we had to work eight hours a day but later we got it down to five hours a day. Our kitchens were simple and consisted only of fires and huge kettles in which we cooked the soup and stew which, along with the bread, were the main items of diet. We had bread three times a day. Bread and tea for breakfast; bread and soup for lunch, and bread and stew for supper. We made our own bread and it was good, too. There were 50 men on the baking crew.

"The food was monotonous but it was well prepared and for the most part nourishing. We had enough different kinds of vegetables and some meat for our soup and stew, but there was very seldom enough of it. In my seven months at the camp there were only about two dozen times that I went away from the table satisfied."

Some of the people, the Rev. Mr. Myers, said, lost as much as 50 pounds while in the camp. "One thing that was a big help," he stated, "was the little canteen the Japs opened after a while. There we were able to purchase peanuts, two eggs every five days, a limited supply of fruit, candy and cigarets.

Help from Chinese

"The thing that enabled us to keep up our health, however, was the supplementary diet brought to the camp by the Chinese. From them we would purchase at night through the fence lots of eggs and jam and other foods."

Camp had its bright side, too, the missionary said, with mushball games, concerts by musically talented individuals, dramatics, a chorale society, and books to read. "We organized a soft-ball league with the names of the big league American teams and played off round after round of contests.

"Many times we had full-evening concerts by pianists, and the chorale society. Other times we had dramatic presentations. We were most fortunate to have a supply of books and that enabled up to read and study and conduct almost 100 classes for adults besides those we had for the children.

Chinese Church Grows

"I wouldn't say I was sorry to leave the camp, but on the other hand, I didn't actually have a poor time after the adjustment had been made."

The Rev. Mr. Myers was on boats for 74 days and covered 21,000 miles on his journey back to this country.

"The churches in this country should be thankful for the earlier missionary work of their workers for the good foundations they laid. There is no danger for the church in China. It has increased in membership 15 per cent in occupied China since the war and 35 per cent since the war in the free territory. The Chinese church is growing in spite of its handicaps."

CEILING PRICE ON HARD CANDY

The OPA reminded shoppers Saturday that cents-per-pound prices prevail for hard candies much in demand during the holiday season.

Five and ten cent chain stores may not charge over 25c a pound for all types of hard candy. The maximum price in other retail stores has been fixed at 33 cents a pound.

Last season, it will be remembered hard candies sold for as much as 80c a pound until OPA acted in November and clamped on ceilings. These same maximum prices will prevail this season.

OPA also points out that retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers must maintain their "customary" prices on all other candies including chocolate covered assortments. The "customary price" is defined as that charged during the "freeze" period in March 1942. Increases are not permitted unless authorized by OPA.

RED CROSS IN NEED OF FIFTY BLOOD DONORS

A call for "at least 50 new blood donors" was issued Oct. 20 by the Blood Donor Service committee of the local Red Cross chapter for the next Donor Day in Gettysburg, Friday, November 3, as the local leaders pointed to the Philippine invasion and the bloody fighting on the western front as evidences of the urgent need for plasma for fighting men.

The Harrisburg Blood Donor center has told the local unit they will accommodate "as many donors as we can get" at Gettysburg on November 3. Previously the local unit was asked to produce 160 pints of blood on each monthly visit but now the Red Cross staff from Harrisburg will come prepared to handle any number of donors that reports at the local center in the College Lutheran church basement.

Radford H. Lippy, local Donor Service chairman, said that he has been notified that a shortage of Navy doctors will reduce the number of future visits by the blood receiving unit. December and January visits will have to be omitted. The next tentative date is Monday, February 19. Unless more Navy doctors become available, the visits may be reduced to two each six months instead of coming here monthly, Mr. Lippy has been advised.

Twenty new donors already have been listed for the November visit but at least 50 more can be used.

National Red Cross has pointed out that the volume of blood donations must be increased to meet increased demands and to supply the improved facilities for getting blood and plasma to the battlefronts. Whole blood is now being flown from New York and Washington Red Cross blood donor centers to European battlefronts.

LOCAL FLYER COMPLETES 66 AIR MISSIONS

Staff Sgt. Orlo Plank, son of Mrs. John D. Settle, Seven Stars, spent his first day at home in more than eight months last Friday after his return to this country from France.

Young Plank entered the Army Air Corps December 3, 1942, and went to Miami Beach, Florida, for his basic training. Following that he trained at the armament school at Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado; Dill Field, Tampa, Florida; Ardmore, Oklahoma; the Battle Creek, Michigan, Army air field; and the Atterbury Army Air Base, Columbus, Indiana.

Holding the rating of enlisted bombardier, Sergeant Plank completed 66 missiins over the occupied countries of France, Holland, Belgium and other coastal areas before being returned to the United States. His last mission was an attack on the Siegfried line, in the successful attempt of the Allies to breach the German defense wall.

SERGEANT PLANK

He flew on a B-26 Marauder medium bomber. "It's a good plane, too," Sergeant Plank said. "Although experts said it wouldn't fly when it was designed, it has proven to be one of the best planes we have. It carries a good bomb load and is fast. And that's important when you have to dodge flak all the time."

Drops 120 Tons

The young Gettysburg bombardier, who resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Deardorff, 146 Hanover street, figures he has dropped about 120 tons of bombs on German installations and military positions in occupied countries. Among his many missions were attacks on Cherbourg, Brest, Le Havre, Paris, St. Lo, Dunkirk and Rouen.

"The worst experience our crew had," he said, "was during an attack on Caen. When we went over that city there were 187 guns shooting at us. The flak really was thick.

"Out of the 36 planes in our group, six of us went over for another run although we didn't have to. When we got back the ship was so badly shot up that it had to be junked. The fortunate thing about it was that not one of the crew had been hit."

Returning from another mission to Dunkirk during the pre-invasion "softening-up" of the German positions along the coast, Sergeant Plank's ship had to make a crash landing. Enemy fire had punctured the gasoline tanks, disabled the radio and the hydraulic system and put two of the motors out of commission. Although the pilot was able to put down the landing gear, the right wheel collapsed and the plane spun around before the engineer, who was wounded, pulled on the emergency brakes.

"That probably saved our lives." Sergeant Plank related, "and the engineer got the Silver Star award for his deed."

The Gettysburg youth went to France with a Ninth Air Force group about a month before returning to this country. "The French people are swell," he declared, "and they can't do enough for you. One evening when a couple of us fellows went out to dinner with a French family, the old Frenchman brought out a bottle of 1917 champagne. He apologized because he had nothing older to offer us but said, 'The Boche took it all.'

Has Air Medal

"The French folks would give you anything you want if they have it or could get it. They don't blame us for the destruction of their cities because they realize it was made necessary by the German occupation."

Sergeant Plank spent about a week in Scotland when at a rest home and also thinks highly of the Scottish people. "The girls there are prettier than the English girls." he said.

He wears the Air Medal with two silver and two bronze oak leaf clusters, the equivalent of 12 bronze clusters. His other awards include the European theatre of operations service ribbon with two battle stars, one for the pre-invasion battle for France and the second for operations against the enemy after D-Day; and his good conduct medal.

He is a graduate of Gettysburg high school with the class of 1941. At the conclusion of his 21-day leave at home, Sergeant Plank will report to the Air Force station at Atlantic City, after which he will be reassigned to another post.

AUXILIARY BUYS LAMPS, TURKEYS

NAME WINNERS OF SOLDIER'S SCOUT CONTEST

At a joint meeting of the members of Boy Scout Troops 77 and 73 last Thursday evening at Cashtown, the winners of a scout letter-writing contest, initiated by Sgt. Paul J. Kuhn, formerly of Bendersville, but now serving in Assam, India, with U.S. Army forces, were announced and awards were given to the winners.

The letter written by Tommy Hess, son of Mr. and and Mrs. Selmar Hess, 233 Chambersburg street, was selected by Sergeant Kuhn as the best among the 15 submitted by Troop 77 members. Ivan Hartman, Gettysburg R. 3, was the winner from Troop 73. Nine scouts from that troop competed.

The awards, sent by Sergeant Kuhn from India, included a collection of India coins, a rupee paper note, a post card from India and a postage stamp from that country for each winner.

The contest was inaugurated by Sergeant Kuhn in a letter early last January to Scoutmaster Jack Cessna inviting scouts in this district to write letters to him on the subject "Why I Became a Scout." In the letter announcing the winners, Sergeant Kuhn said that an Eagle scout from Salt Lake City helped judge the competing letters. Kuhn formerly was associated with the Bendersville scout troop.

The winning letters were read at Thursday evening's meeting at Cashtown as the awards were made. There were patrol skits, movies and group singing on the program also. Fifteen Gettysburg scouts together with Scoutmaster Cessna and H. W. Baker, a troop committee member, went to Cashtown for the meeting.

Troops 77 and 73 were the only units in the district to enter the letter-writing contest.

JUDGE REVEALS BIBLE STORIES NOT "LEGEND"

"More than 10,000 inscriptions have been unearthed by archaeological expeditions and not one of them has disproved a line of the Bible story," Judge William M. Hargest, president judge of the common pleas court of Dauphin county and an elder in the Market Square Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, asserted in his Layman's Day address in the local Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

His theme was "Recent Proofs of Old Testament History." He declared that discoveries by archaeologists have "forced the retreat" of those students of ancient times, many of them German, who had labelled many of the Old Testament stories as "legends."

He cited many instances in which the historical accuracy of Old Testament writers has been confirmed by cuneiform and hieroglyphic writings covering or referring to the span of years that included many of the most notable stories and events of the Old Testament.

Prove Bible Truths

A Babylonian account of the flood coincides with the Mosaic record, he said. Silt deposits that have been uncovered have further substantiated the fact of the flood while other "finds" in modern times have borne out the biblical accounts of the movement of the children of Israel from Egypt, the fall of Jericho, the episodes of the fiery furnace, the lions' den in the book of Daniel, the crossing of the Jordan and many others.

Judge Karl E. Richards, president judge of the Dauphin county orphans court, conducted the worship service and Judge W. C. Sheely, president judge of the courts of Adams and Fulton counties, presided. Judge Richards also is an elder of the Market Square church and Judge Sheely is an elder in the local church.

The Gettysburg Businessmen's chorus of 17 voices sang two anthems, "Strong in Thy Strength, O Jesus," and "Nearer to Thee."

The guest organist was the Rev. John E. Sanderson.

Judge Sheely Lauded

Layman's Sunday was designated by the Presbyterian church and in the words of Judge Sheely was intended "to show the world that laymen are vitally interested in the work of the church."

Judge Sheely introduced the visiting jurists as men "recognized as the finest judges in Pennsylvania" and spoke of his high personal regard for them.

Judge Hargest, speaking for himself and Judge Richards, acknowledged the assistance Judge Sheely has given them in handling the great volume of business in Dauphin county court and added "We have come to love him for his fine, very fine, qualities of mind and heart."

MISSIONARY TELLS OF JAP PRISON CAMP

A story of nearly seven months in a Japanese prison camp in occupied China was told Monday evening by the Rev. Minor W. Myers, of Bridgewater, Va., a Church of the Brethren missionary who spoke at special exercises at the local Church of the Brethren.

Introduced by Walter J. Keeney, an elder deacon, the Rev. Mr. Myers described the treatment the missionaries and other workers received at the hands of the Japs. The missionary was serving at a station in Tienstsin, province of Shansi, North China, when the Japs occupied that territory.

"We had been in a tension for some time before," he said, "and in preparation for such an occupation had evacuated all the missionaries from the station except two women and myself.

"When the Japs came they closed up our compound and placed guards around the fence. They gave the Marines at the embassy until 1 o'clock that afternoon to lay down their arms and surrender, and then they were in complete control.

Treated Civilly

"Because I knew that some of my Chinese friends had been tortured and beaten and some of them killed," he continued, "I did not look with great confidence on my status as an American national.

"However, I can say now, that from the time war was declared until the day I got on the boat to come home, I was not treated other than civilly by any Japanese."

The Rev. Mr. Myers told how finally the order came for the occupants of his compound and others to get their supplies together for a trip north to a "civilian assembly center," in reality a segregation camp.

"There were about 1,800 of us in the former Presbyterian school center for the province," he said. "Included were Americans, British Belgians and Hollanders. The camp had been built a number of years before by the Presbyterian workers and contained brick sleeping quarters, a church and hospitals and other buildings.

"Camp life was simple and aside from the guards, there were only four other Japanese at the camp Our camp was organized into committees and every able-bodied person worked. It was surprising to see what a lot of different talents came out. There were butchers, bakers, cooks, black-smiths, barbers and many other kinds of workers.

Not Enough Food

"At first we had to work eight hours a day but later we got it down to five hours a day. Our kitchens were simple and consisted only of fires and huge kettles in which we cooked the soup and stew which, along with the bread, were the main items of diet. We had bread three times a day. Bread and tea for breakfast; bread and soup for lunch, and bread and stew for supper. We made our own bread and it was good, too. There were 50 men on the baking crew.

"The food was monotonous but it was well prepared and for the most part nourishing. We had enough different kinds of vegetables and some meat for our soup and stew, but there was very seldom enough of it. In my seven months at the camp there were only about two dozen times that I went away from the table satisfied."

Some of the people, the Rev. Mr. Myers, said, lost as much as 50 pounds while in the camp. "One thing that was a big help," he stated, "was the little canteen the Japs opened after a while. There we were able to purchase peanuts, two eggs every five days, a limited supply of fruit, candy and cigarets.

Help from Chinese

"The thing that enabled us to keep up our health, however, was the supplementary diet brought to the camp by the Chinese. From them we would purchase at night through the fence lots of eggs and jam and other foods."

Camp had its bright side, too, the missionary said, with mushball games, concerts by musically talented individuals, dramatics, a chorale society, and books to read. "We organized a soft-ball league with the names of the big league American teams and played off round after round of contests.

"Many times we had full-evening concerts by pianists, and the chorale society. Other times we had dramatic presentations. We were most fortunate to have a supply of books and that enabled up to read and study and conduct almost 100 classes for adults besides those we had for the children.

Chinese Church Grows

"I wouldn't say I yas sorry to leave the camp, but on the other hand, I didn't actually have a poor time after the adjustment had been made."

The Rev. Mr. Myers was on boats for 74 days and covered 21,000 miles on his journey back to this country.

"The churches in this country should be thankful for the earlier missionary work of their workers for the good foundations they laid. There is no danger for the church in China. It has increased in membership 15 per cent in occupied China since the war and 35 per cent since the war in the free territory. The Chinese church is growing in spite of its handicaps."

CEILING PRICE ON HARD CANDY

The OPA reminded shoppers Saturday that cents-per-pound prices prevail for hard candies much in demand during the holiday season.

Five and ten cent chain stores may not charge over 25c a pound for all types of hard candy. The maximum price in other retail stores has been fixed at 33 cents a pound.

Last season, it will be remembered hard candies sold for as much as 80c a pound until OPA acted in November and clamped on ceilings. These same maximum prices will prevail this season.

OPA also points out that retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers must maintain their "customary" prices on all other candies including chocolate covered assortments. The "customary price" is defined as that charged during the "freeze" period in March 1942. Increases are not permitted unless authorized by OPA.

RED CROSS IN NEED OF FIFTY BLOOD DONORS

A call for "at least 50 new blood donors" was issued Oct. 20 by the Blood Donor Service committee of the local Red Cross chapter for the next Donor Day in Gettysburg, Friday, November 3, as the local leaders pointed to the Philippine invasion and the bloody fighting on the western front as evidences of the urgent need for plasma for fighting men.

The Harrisburg Blood Donor center has told the local unit they will accommodate "as many donors as we can get" at Gettysburg on November 3. Previously the local unit was asked to produce 160 pints of blood on each monthly visit but now the Red Cross staff from Harrisburg will come prepared to handle any number of donors that reports at the local center in the College Lutheran church basement.

Radford H. Lippy, local Donor Service chairman, said that he has been notified that a shortage of Navy doctors will reduce the number of future visits by the blood receiving unit. December and January visits will have to be omitted. The next tentative date is Monday, February 19. Unless more Navy doctors become available, the visits may be reduced to two each six months instead of coming here monthly, Mr. Lippy has been advised.

Twenty new donors already have been listed for the November visit but at least 50 more can be used.

National Red Cross has pointed out that the volume of blood donations must be increased to meet increased demands and to supply the improved facilities for getting blood and plasma to the battlefronts. Whole blood is now being flown from New York and Washington Red Cross blood donor centers to European battlefronts.

Holding the rating of enlisted bombardier, Sergeant Plank completed 66 missiins over the occupied countries of France, Holland, Belgium and other coastal areas before being returned to the United States. His last mission was an attack on the Siegfried line, in the successful attempt of the Allies to breach the German defense wall.

He flew on a B-26 Marauder medium bomber. "It's a good plane, too," Sergeant Plank said. "Although experts said it wouldn't fly when it was designed, it has proven to be one of the best planes we have. It carcies a good bomb load and is fast. And that's important when you have to dodge flak all the time."

Drops 120 Tons

The young Gettysburg bombardier, who resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Deardorff, 146 Hanover street, figures he has dropped about 120 tons of bombs on German installations and military positions in occupied countries. Among his many missions were attacks on Cherbourg, Brest, Le Havre, Paris, St. Lo, Dunkirk and Rouen.

"The worst experience our crew had," he said. "was during an attack on Caen. When we went over that city there were 187 guns shooting at us. The flak really was thick.

"Out of the 36 planes in our group, six of us went over for another run although we didn't have to. When we got back the ship was so badly shot up that it had to be junked. The fortunate thing about it was that not one of the crew had been hit."

Returning from another mission to Dunkirk during the pre-invasion "softening-up" of the German positions along the coast, Sergeant Plank's ship had to make a crash landing. Enemy fire had punctured the gasoline tanks, disabled the radio and the hydraulic system and put two of the motors out of commission. Although the pilot was able to put down the landing gear, the right wheel collapsed and the plane spun around before the engineer, who was wounded, pulled on the emergency brakes.

"That probably saved our lives," Sergeant Plank related, "and the engineer got the Silver Star award for his deed."

The Gettysburg youth went to France with a Ninth Air Force group about a month before returning to this country. "The French people are swell," he declared, "and they can't do enough for you. One evening when a couple of us fellows went out to dinner with a French family, the old Frenchman brought out a bottle of 1917 champagne. He apologized because he had nothing older to offer us but said, 'The Boche took it all.'

Has Air Medal

"The French folks would give you anything you want if they have it or could get it. They don't blame us for the destruction of their cities because they realize it was made necessary by the German occupation."

Sergeant Plank spent about a week in Scotland when at a rest home and also thinks highly of the Scottish people. "The girls there are prettier than the English girls," he said.

He wears the Air Medal with two silver and two bronze oak leaf clusters, the equivalent of 12 bronze clusters. His other awards include the European theatre of operations service ribbon with two battle stars, one for the pre-invasion battle for France and the second for operations against the enemy after D-Day; and his good conduct medal.

He is a graduate of Gettysburg high school with the class of 1941. At the conclusion of his 21-day leave at home, Sergeant Plank will report to the Air Force station at Atlantic City, after which he will be reassigned to another post.

AUXILIARY BUYS LAMPS, TURKEYS

NAME WINNERS OF SOLDIER'S SCOUT CONTEST

At a joint meeting of the members of Boy Scout Troops 77 and 73 last Thursday evening at Cashtown, the winners of a scout letter-writing contest, initiated by Sgt. Paul J. Kuhn, formerly of Bendersville, but now serving in Assam, India, with U.S. Army forces, were announced and awards were given to the winners.

The letter written by Tommy Hess, son of Mr. and and Mrs. Selmar Hess, 233 Chambersburg street, was selected by Sergeant Kuhn as the best among the 15 submitted by Troop 77 members. Ivan Hartman, Gettysburg R. 3, was the winner from Troop 73. Nine scouts from that troop competed.

The awards, sent by Sergeant Kuhn from India, included a collection of India coins, a rupee paper note, a post card from India and a postage stamp from that country for each winner.

The contest was inaugurated by Sergeant Kuhn in a letter early last January to Scoutmaster Jack Cessna inviting scouts in this district to write letters to him on the subject "Why I Became a Scout." In the letter announcing the winners, Sergeant Kuhn said that an Eagle scout from Salt Lake City helped judge the competing letters. Kuhn formerly was associated with the Bendersville scout troop.

The winning letters were read at Thursday evening's meeting at Cashtown as the awards were made. There were patrol skits, movies and group singing on the program also. Fifteen Gettysburg scouts together with Scoutmaster Cessna and H. W. Baker, a troop committee member, went to Cashtown for the meeting.

Troops 77 and 73 were the only units in the district to enter the letter-writing contest.

JUDGE REVEALS BIBLE STORIES NOT "LEGEND"

"More than 10,000 inscriptions have been unearthed by archaeological expeditions and not one of them has disproved a line of the Bible story," Judge William M. Hargest, president judge of the common pleas court of Dauphin county and an elder in the Market Square Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, asserted in his Layman's Day address in the local Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

His theme was "Recent Proofs of Old Testament History." He declared that discoveries by archaeologists have "forced the retreat" of those students of ancient times, many of them German, who had labelled many of the Old Testament stories as "legends."

He cited many instances in which the historical accuracy of Old Testament writers has been confirmed by cuneiform and hieroglyphic writings covering or referring to the span of years that included many of the most notable stories and events of the Old Testament.

Prove Bible Truths

A Babylonian account of the flood coincides with the Mosaic record, he said. Silt deposits that have been uncovered have further substantiated the fact of the flood while other "finds" in modern times have borne out the biblical accounts of the movement of the children of Israel from Egypt, the fall of Jericho, the episodes of the fiery furnace, the lions' den in the book of Daniel, the crossing of the Jordan and many others.

Judge Karl E. Richards, president judge of the Dauphin county orphans court, conducted the worship service and Judge W. C. Sheely, president judge of the courts of Adams and Fulton counties, presided. Judge Richards also is an elder of the Market Square church and Judge Sheely is an elder in the local church.

The Gettysburg Businessmen's chorus of 17 voices sang two anthems, "Strong in Thy Strength, O Jesus," and "Nearer to Thee."

The guest organist was the Rev. John E. Sanderson.

Judge Sheely Lauded

Layman's Sunday was designated by the Presbyterian church and in the words of Judge Sheely was intended "to show the world that laymen are vitally interested in the work of the church."

Judge Sheely introduced the visiting jurists as men "recognized as the finest judges in Pennsylvania" and spoke of his high personal regard for them.

Judge Hargest, speaking for himself and Judge Richards, acknowledged the assistance Judge Sheely has given them in handling the great volume of business in Dauphin county court and added "We have come to love him for his fine, very fine, qualities of mind and heart."

MISSIONARY TELLS OF JAP PRISON CAMP

A story of nearly seven months in a Japanese prison camp in occupied China was told Monday evening by the Rev. Minor W. Myers, of Bridgewater, Va., a Church of the Brethren missionary who spoke at special exercises at the local Church of the Brethren.

Introduced by Walter J. Keeney, an elder deacon, the Rev. Mr. Myers described the treatment the missionaries and other workers received at the hands of the Japs. The missionary was serving at a station in Tienstsin, province of Shansi, North China, when the Japs occupied that territory.

"We had been in a tension for some time before," he said, "and in preparation for such an occupation had evacuated all the missionaries from the station except two women and myself.

"When the Japs came they closed up our compound and placed guards around the fence. They gave the Marines at the embassy until 1 o'clock that afternoon to lay down their arms and surrender, and then they were in complete control.

Treated Civilly

"Because I knew that some of my Chinese friends had been tortured and beaten and some of them killed," he continued, "I did not look with great confidence on my status as an American national.

"However, I can say now, that from the time war was declared until the day I got on the boat to come home, I was not treated other than civilly by any Japanese."

The Rev. Mr. Myers told how finally the order came for the occupants of his compound and others to get their supplies together for a trip north to a "civilian assembly center," in reality a segregation camp.

"There were about 1,800 of us in the former Presbyterian school center for the province," he said. "Included were Americans, British Belgians and Hollanders. The camp had been built a number of years before by the Presbyterian workers and contained brick sleeping quarters, a church and hospitals and other buildings.

"Camp life was simple and aside from the guards, there were only four other Japanese at the camp. Our camp was organized into committees and every able-bodied person worked. It was surprising to see what a lot of different talents came out. There were butchers, bakers, cooks, black-smiths, barbers and many other kinds of workers.

Not Enough Food

"At first we had to work eight hours a day but later we got it down to five hours a day. Our kitchens were simple and consisted only of fires and huge kettles in which we cooked the soup and stew which, along with the bread, were the main items of diet. We had bread three times a day. Bread and tea for breakfast; bread and soup for lunch, and bread and stew for supper. We made our own bread and it was good, too. There were 50 men on the baking crew.

"The food was monotonous but it was well prepared and for the most part nourishing. We had enough different kinds of vegetables and some meat for our soup and stew, but there was very seldom enough of it. In my seven months at the camp there were only about two dozen times that I went away from the table satisfied."

Some of the people, the Rev. Mr. Myers, said, lost as much as 50 pounds while in the camp. "One thing that was a big help," he stated, "was the little canteen the Japs opened after a while. There we were able to purchase peanuts, two eggs every five days, a limited supply of fruit, candy and cigarets.

Help from Chinese

"The thing that enabled us to keep up our health, however, was the supplementary diet brought to the camp by the Chinese. From them we would purchase at night through the fence lots of eggs and jam and other foods."

Camp had its bright side, too, the missionary said, with mushball games, concerts by musically talented individuals, dramatics, a chorale society, and books to read. "We organized a soft-ball league with the names of the big league American teams and played off round after round of contests.

"Many times we had full-evening concerts by pianists, and the chorale society. Other times we had dramatic presentations. We were most fortunate to have a supply of books and that enabled up to read and study and conduct almost 100 classes for adults besides those we had for the children.

Chinese Church Grows

"I wouldn't say I was sorry to leave the camp, but on the other hand. I didn't actually have a poor time after the adjustment had been made."

The Rev. Mr. Myers was on boats for 74 days and covered 21,000 miles on his journey back to this country.

"The churches in this country should be thankful for the earlier missionary work of their workers for the good foundations they laid. There is no danger for the church in China. It has increased in membership 15 per cent in occupied China since the war and 35 per cent since the war in the free territory. The Chinese church is growing in spite of its handicaps."

CEILING PRICE ON HARD CANDY

The OPA reminded shoppers Saturday that cents-per-pound prices prevail for hard candies much in demand during the holiday season.

Five and ten cent chain stores may not charge over 25c a pound for all types of hard candy. The maximum price in other retail stores has been fixed at 33 cents a pound.

Last season, it will be remembered hard candies sold for as much as 80c a pound until OPA acted in November and clamped on ceilings. These same maximum prices will prevail this season.

OPA also points out that retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers must maintain their "customary" prices on all other candies including chocolate covered assortments. The "customary price" is defined as that charged during the "freeze" period in March 1942. Increases are not permitted unless authorized by OPA.

RED CROSS IN NEED OF FIFTY BLOOD DONORS

A call for "at least 50 new blood donors" was issued Oct. 20 by the Blood Donor Service committee of the local Red Cross chapter for the next Donor Day in Gettysburg, Friday, November 3, as the local leaders pointed to the Philippine invasion and the bloody fighting on the western front as evidences of the urgent need for plasma for fighting men.

The Harrisburg Blood Donor center has told the local unit they will accommodate "as many donors as we can get" at Gettysburg on November 3. Previously the local unit was asked to produce 160 pints of blood on each monthly visit but now the Red Cross staff from Harrisburg will come prepared to handle any number of donors that reports at the local center in the College Lutheran church basement.

Radford H. Lippy, local Donor Service chairman, said that he has been notified that a shortage of Navy doctors will reduce the number of future visits by the blood receiving unit. December and January visits will have to be omitted. The next tentative date is Monday, February 19. Unless more Navy doctors become available, the visits may be reduced to two each six months instead of coming here monthly, Mr. Lippy has been advised.

Twenty new donors already have been listed for the November visit but at least 50 more can be used.

National Red Cross has pointed out that the volume of blood donations must be increased to meet increased demands and to supply the improved facilities for getting blood and plasma to the battlefronts. Whole blood is now being flown from New York and Washington Red Cross blood donor centers to European battlefronts.

LOCAL FLYER COMPLETES 66 AIR MISSIONS

Staff Sgt. Orlo Plank, son of Mrs. John D. Settle, Seven Stars, spent his first day at home in more than eight months last Friday after his return to this country from France.

Young Plank entered the Army Air Corps December 3, 1942, and went to Miami Beach, Florida, for his basic training. Following that he trained at the armament school at Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado; Dill Field, Tampa, Florida; Ardmore, Oklahoma; the Battle Creek, Michigan, Army air field; and the Atterbury Army Air Base, Columbus, Indiana..

SERGEANT PLANK

Holding the rating of enlisted bombardier, Sergeant Plank completed 66 missions over the occupied countries of France, Holland, Belgium and other coastal areas before being returned to the United States. His last mission was an attack on the Siegfried line, in the successful attempt of the Allies to breach the German defense wall.

He flew on a B-26 Marauder medium bomber. "It's a good plane, too," Sergeant Plank said. "Although experts said it wouldn't fly when it was designed, it has proven to be one of the best planes we have. It carries a good bomb load and is fast. And that's important when you have to dodge flak all the time."

Drops 120 Tons

The young Gettysburg bombardier, who resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Deardorff, 146 Hanover street, figures he has dropped about 120 tons of bombs on German installations and military positions in occupied countries. Among his many missions were attacks on Cherbourg, Brest, Le Havre, Paris, St. Lo, Dunkirk and Rouen.

"The worst experience our crew had," he said. "was during an attack on Caen. When we went over that city there were 187 guns shooting at us. The flak really was thick.

"Out of the 36 planes in our group, six of us went over for another run although we didn't have to. When we got back the ship was so badly shot up that it had to be junked. The fortunate thing about it was that not one of the crew had been hit."

Returning from another mission to Dunkirk during the pre-invasion "softening-up" of the German positions along the coast, Sergeant Plank's ship had to make a crash landing. Enemy fire had punctured the gasoline tanks, disabled the radio and the hydraulic system and put two of the motors out of commission. Although the pilot was able to put down the landing gear, the right wheel collapsed and the plane spun around before the engineer, who was wounded, pulled on the emergency brakes.

"That probably saved our lives," Sergeant Plank related, "and the engineer got the Silver Star award for his deed."

The Gettysburg youth went to France with a Ninth Air Force group about a month before returning to this country. "The French people are swell," he declared, "and they can't do enough for you. One evening when a couple of us fellows went out to dinner with a French family, the old Frenchman brought out a bottle of 1917 champagne. He apologized because he had nothing older to offer us but said, 'The Boche took it all.'

Has Air Medal

"The French folks would give you anything you want if they have it or could get it. They don't blame us for the destruction of their cities because they realize it was made necessary by the German occupation."

Sergeant Plank spent about a week in Scotland when at a rest home and also thinks highly of the Scottish people. "The girls there are prettier than the English girls," he said.

He wears the Air Medal with two silver and two bronze oak leaf clusters, the equivalent of 12 bronze clusters. His other awards include the European theatre of operations service ribbon with two battle stars, one for the pre-invasion battle for France and the second for operations against the enemy after D-Day; and his good conduct medal.

He is a graduate of Gettysburg high school with the class of 1941. At the conclusion of his 21-day leave at home, Sergeant Plank will report to the Air Force station at Atlantic City, after which he will be reassigned to another post.

NAME WINNERS OF SOLDIER'S SCOUT CONTEST

At a joint meeting of the members of Boy Scout Troops 77 and 73 last Thursday evening at Cashtown, the winners of a scout letter-writing contest, initiated by Sgt. Paul J. Kuhn, formerly of Bendersville, but now serving in Assam, India, with U.S. Army forces, were announced and awards were given to the winners.

The letter written by Tommy Hess, son of Mr. and and Mrs. Selmar Hess, 233 Chambersburg street, was selected by Sergeant Kuhn as the best among the 15 submitted by Troop 77 members. Ivan Hartman, Gettysburg R. 3, was the winner from Troop 73. Nine scouts from that troop competed.

The awards, sent by Sergeant Kuhn from India, included a collection of India coins, a rupee paper note, a post card from India and a postage stamp from that country for each winner.

The contest was inaugurated by Sergeant Kuhn in a letter early last January to Scoutmaster Jack Cessna inviting scouts in this district to write letters to him on the subject "Why I Became a Scout." In the letter announcing the winners, Sergeant Kuhn said that an Eagle scout from Salt Lake City helped judge the competing letters. Kuhn formerly was associated with the Bendersville scout troop.

The winning letters were read at Thursday evening's meeting at Cashtown as the awards were made. There were patrol skits, movies and group singing on the program also. Fifteen Gettysburg scouts together with Scoutmaster Cessna and H. W. Baker, a troop committee member, went to Cashtown for the meeting.

Troops 77 and 73 were the only units in the district to enter the letter-writing contest.

JUDGE REVEALS BIBLE STORIES NOT "LEGEND"

"More than 10,000 inscriptions have been unearthed by archaeological expeditions and not one of them has disproved a line of the Bible story," Judge William M. Hargest, president judge of the common pleas court of Dauphin county and an elder in the Market Square Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, asserted in his Layman's Day address in the local Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

His theme was "Recent Proofs of Old Testament History." He declared that discoveries by archaeologists have "forced the retreat" of those students of ancient times, many of them German, who had labelled many of the Old Testament stories as "legends."

He cited many instances in which the historical accuracy of Old Testament writers has been confirmed by cuneiform and hieroglyphic writings covering or referring to the span of years that included many of the most notable stories and events of the Old Testament.

Prove Bible Truths

A Babylonian account of the flood coincides with the Mosaic record, he said. Silt deposits that have been uncovered have further substantiated the fact of the flood while other "finds" in modern times have borne out the biblical accounts of the movement of the children of Israel from Egypt, the fall of Jericho, the episodes of the fiery furnace, the lions' den in the book of Daniel, the crossing of the Jordan and many others.

Judge Karl E. Richards, president judge of the Dauphin county orphans court, conducted the worship service and Judge W. C. Sheely, president judge of the courts of Adams and Fulton counties, presided. Judge Richards also is an elder of the Market Square church and Judge Sheely is an elder in the local church.

The Gettysburg Businessmen's chorus of 17 voices sang two anthems, "Strong in Thy Strength, O Jesus," and "Nearer to Thee."

Judge Sheely Lauded

Layman's Sunday was designated by the Presbyterian church and in the words of Judge Sheely was intended "to show the world that laymen are vitally interested in the work of the church."

Judge Sheely introduced the visiting jurists as men "recognized as the finest judges in Pennsylvania" and spoke of his high personal regard for them.

Judge Hargest, speaking for himself and Judge Richards, acknowledged the assistance Judge Sheely has given them in handling the great volume of business in Dauphin county court and added "We have come to love him for his fine, very fine, qualities of mind and heart."

J. G. WOLF SUES SCHOOL BOARD FOR BACK PAY

J. Guy Wolf, 32 East Lincoln avenue, a commercial teacher at Gettysburg high school, filed action Thursday to recover from the school district of Gettysburg what he charges is back salary of $200 per year since the beginning of the school year of 1941-42.

The action in assumpsit was in case stated; an action in which both parties agree to the facts as presented in the petition to the court and ask for a special court verdict.

Wolf contends, in his action, that a contract entered into by him and the Gettysburg School board May 6, 1937, guaranteed him an annual salary of $1,800. He further states that the board notified him July 7, 1941, that his salary would be reduced from $1,800 to $1,600 and the latter figure is the salary he has been receiving since the beginning of the 1941-1942 school year.

Others Reduced

The school board action taken in July 1941 reduced the salaries of Miss Dorothy Brindle, former music supervisor, and Miss Ann Mumper, former art supervisor, to $1,600 each. A teachers' salary schedule adopted January 9, 1939, was used as a basis for the reduction in July 1941. The salary schedule set basic salaries for teachers, based on certain educational requirements and the number of years of teaching in the Gettysburg schools.

Wolf said he received a board notice June 13, 1940, in which it was stated that salaries would be reduced to conform with the teachers' salary schedule, but that his salary for the school year, 1940-1941 would remain at $1,800. He stated that his educational credits would not have entitled him to receive more than $1,600 under the salary schedule.

Since the beginning of the school year, 1941-1942, he said, he has not received more than $1,600 plus certain increases required by an act of the state assembly in May 1943. He stated that he endorsed under protest all salary checks received since the pay cut, and on May 30, 1942, addressed a letter to the board in which he formally requested the restoration of his former salary.

Action Next Month

The action asks that if the court decides the school district was not entitled to reduce Wolf's salary, that judgment be entered against the school board for the amount due—a figure to be set by the date of the entry of the judgment.

J. Francis Yake, Jr., Esq and Lewis E. Adler, Esq, of Harrisburg, signed the "in case stated" action for Wolf. Richard A. Brown, Esq., school board attorney, signed for the defendants. A subpoena for the school board to appear in the November court for the hearing of the case was accepted by Brown.

Attached to the case papers were copies of Wolf's contract with the school board; an extract from the minutes of the school board meeting July 7, 1941; and two letters dated June 13, 1940, and July 14, 1941, addressed to Wolf from the board.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT WORK OF SERVICE GROUP

Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., and Paul L. Kinsey conducted an information program on the services being rendered by the local veteran's service committee, at the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening at the YWCA.

The program gave a general outline of the part the committee is playing in helping re-establish returning veterans and the part to be played in such work in the future.

Mr. Bulleit, who is appeal attorney for the local selective service board, spoke generally of the draft board set-up and explained the work it is doing in acting as an information center for the vets.

The selective service system for this war already is four years old as compared to its 18 months' existence during World War I. More than 10 per cent of Adams county's population is serving in the armed forces, he said, and the work of such committees and organizations which will render the returning veterans help is most valuable.

Committee Members

Members of the Veterans' Service committee are headed by Kinsey. Other members are Bulleit, Paul L. Rohrbaugh, commander of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion; and Edward A. Crouse, manager of the local office of the United States Employment service.

That group will work with the local Veterans' Advisory committee, of which Judge W. C. Sheely is director; the Veterans' Administration, the nearest office of which is in Harrisburg, with Ralph Lookingbill in charge; volunteer workers of the local Red Cross chapter, with Mrs. William C. Tyron in charge of the group, and the local selective service board.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college and an honorary Rotarian, also spoke and commended the draft board and the veterans service committee for their work. He told plans now underway at the college to help the vets get back into school work, take advantage of the government's schooling program and complete their education.

Visitors at the meeting included Marle [illegible], Leechburg; Raymond C. Webster, Lemoyne; A. C. Moser, Harrisburg, and the Rev. T. Painter Hanson, Gettysburg. There were 42 members present. President Walter T. Africa presided.

CONTESTS WILL MADE BY AGED COUNTY WOMAN

Court action was instituted here Thursday by John W. Spangler, of Hanover, who contends the will of his late sister, Clara Adelia Stavely, of Germany township, was made under duress and constraint exercised by one of the heirs, a nephew.

Spangler in a petition presented to the court, asked for a jury trial to decide on two questions (1) whether or not at the time of the execution of the will, the decedent was a person of sound mind; and (2) whether or not execution of the will was procured by undue influence, duress, and constraint practiced upon Mrs. Stavely, by the nephew, Amos L. Spangler, and others.

Charges "Undue Influence"

Mrs. Stavely died at her home May 8, of this year. Her will, as filed at the office of Register of Wills Winfield G. Horner, named Amos L. Spangler, Luther H. Spangler, another nephew, Wilbur A. Bankert, all of Littlestown, as executors of her estate. When the will was filed for probate the estate was estimated at $14,800 in personal property and $2,800 in real estate. The will was dated November 13, 1943, and Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler were named sole heirs.

John Spangler said in his petition that he "believes and expects to be able to prove that at the time of the execution of the aforesaid writing (the will) the physical and mental condition of the said decedent was greatly impaired by sickness and the infirmities of age, and that she was not a person of sound mind capable of disposing of her estate by will, and further that said writing was procured by undue influence, duress and constraint practiced upon the said decedent by Amos L. Spangler, one of the executors named in the alleged will and by other persons whom your petitioner is at the present time unable to name."

He stated that Mrs. Stavely was 82 years old when she signed the will, and was "bedfast by reason of serious illness and was so weak and infirm mentally that she was unable intelligently to dispose of her property, that at said time she did not have full knowledge of the property she possessed and of the value thereof and of the disposition she desired to make of it."

Claims One-Seventh of Estate

The petition further stated that John Spangler expects to prove that Mrs. Stavely had "no conscious intention of bestowing all her property upon the legatees named in the purported will without including therein any provision for the remainder of her heirs."

John Spangler, who claims one-seventh of the estate, named as others who would share as heirs-at-law, the following: Luther A. Spangler, a brother; Annie L. Fisher and Emma Hofe, sisters; Nennie Wherley, Edna Sponseller, Mary Sponseller, Alice Little, Gertrude Tipton and Elsie Stover, nieces of the decedent; Paul Spangler, Mark Spangler, Lester Spangler, George Spangler, Arthur S. Spangler, Earl Spangler, Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler, nephews.

John Spangler's appeal was filed Wednesday with Register Horner who set the bond to guarantee payment of expenses in the case at $500. The petition to the court was then filed with Clerk of the Courts Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer.

J. G. WOLF SUES SCHOOL BOARD FOR BACK PAY

J. Guy Wolf, 32 East Lincoln avenue, a commercial teacher at Gettysburg high school, filed action Thursday to recover from the school district of Gettysburg what he charges is back salary of $200 per year since the beginning of the school year of 1941-42.

The action in assumpsit was in case stated; an action in which both parties agree to the facts as presented in the petition to the court and ask for a special court verdict.

Wolf contends, in his action, that a contract entered into by him and the Gettysburg School board May 6, 1937, guaranteed him an annual salary of $1,800. He further states that the board notified him July 7, 1941, that his salary would be reduced from $1,800 to $1,600 and the latter figure is the salary he has been receiving since the beginning of the 1941-1942 school year.

Others Reduced

The school board action taken in July 1941 reduced the salaries of Miss Dorothy Brindle, former music supervisor, and Miss Ann Mumper, former art supervisor, to $1,600 each. A teachers' salary schedule adopted January 9, 1939, was used as a basis for the reduction in July 1941. The salary schedule set basic salaries for teachers, based on certain educational requirements and the number of years of teaching in the Gettysburg schools.

Wolf said he received a board notice June 13, 1940, in which it was stated that salaries would be reduced to conform with the teachers' salary schedule, but that his salary for the school year, 1940-1941 would remain at $1,800. He stated that his educational credits would not have entitled him to receive more than $1,600 under the salary schedule.

Since the beginning of the school year, 1941-1942, he said, he has not received more than $1,600 plus certain increases required by an act of the state assembly in May 1943. He stated that he endorsed under protest all salary checks received since the pay cut, and on May 30, 1942, addressed a letter to the board in which he formally requested the restoration of his former salary.

Action Next Month

The action asks that if the court decides the school district was not entitled to reduce Wolf's salary, that judgment be entered against the school board for the amount due—a figure to be set by the date of the entry of the judgment.

J. Francis Yake, Jr., Esq. and Lewis F. Adler, Esq., of Harrisburg, signed the "in case stated" action for Wolf. Richard A. Brown, Esq., school board attorney, signed for the defendants. A subpoena for the school board to appear in the November court for the hearing of the case was accepted by Brown.

Attached to the case papers were copies of Wolf's contract with the school board; an extract from the minutes of the school board meeting July 7, 1941; and two letters dated June 13, 1940, and July 14, 1941, addressed to Wolf from the board.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT WORK OF SERVICE GROUP

Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., and Paul L. Kinsey conducted an information program on the services being rendered by the local veteran's service committee, at the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening at the YWCA.

The program gave a general outline of the part the committee is playing in helping re-establish returning veterans and the part to be played in such work in the future.

Mr. Bulleit, who is appeal attorney for the local selective service board, spoke generally of the draft board set-up and explained the work it is doing in acting as an information center for the vets.

The selective service system for this war already is four years old as compared to its 18 months' existence during World War I. More than 10 per cent of Adams county's population is serving in the armed forces, he said, and the work of such committees and organizations which will render the returning veterans help is most valuable.

Committee Members

Members of the Veterans' Service committee are headed by Kinsey. Other members are Bulleit, Paul L. Rohrbaugh, commander of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion; and Edward A. Crouse, manager of the local office of the United States Employment service.

That group will work with the local Veterans' Advisory committee, of which Judge W. C. Sheely is director; the Veterans' Administration, the nearest office of which is in Harrisburg, with Ralph Lookingbill in charge; volunteer workers of the local Red Cross chapter, with Mrs. William C. Tyson in charge of the group, and the local selective service board.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college and an honorary Rotarian, also spoke and commended the draft board and the veterans service committee for their work. He told plans now underway at the college to help the vets get back into school work, take advantage of the government's schooling program, and complete their education.

Visitors at the meeting included Merle Hilty, Leechburg; Raymond C. Webster, Lemoyne; A. C. Moser, Harrisburg; and the Rev. T. Painter Hanson, Gettysburg. There were 42 members present. President Walter T. Africa presided.

CONTESTS WILL MADE BY AGED COUNTY WOMAN

Court action was instituted here Thursday by John W. Spangler, of Hanover, who contends the will of his late sister, Clara Adelia Stavely., of Germany township, was made under duress and constraint exercised by one of the heirs, a nephew.

Spangler in a petition presented to the court, asked for a jury trial to decide on two questions (1) whether or not at the time of the execution of the will, the decedent was a person of sound mind; and (2) whether or not execution of the will was procured by undue influence, duress, and contraint practiced upon Mrs. Stavely, by the nephew, Amos L. Spangler, and others.

Charges "Undue Influence"

Mrs. Stavely died at her home May 8, of this year. Her will, as filed at the office of Register of Wills Winfield G. Horner, named Amos L. Spangler, Luther H. Spangler, another nephew, Wilbur A. Bankert, all of Littlestown, as executors of her estate. When the will was filed for probate the estate was estimated at $14,800 in personal property and $2,800 in real estate. The will was dated November 13, 1943, and Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler were named sole heirs.

John Spangler said in his petition that he "believes and expects to be able to prove that at the time of the execution of the aforesaid writing (the will) the physical and mental condition of the said decedent was greatly impaired by sickness and the infirmities of age, and that she was not a person of sound mind capable of disposing of her estate by will, and further that said writing was procured by undue influence, duress and constraint practiced upon the said decedent by Amos L. Spangler, one of the executors named in the alleged will and by other persons whom your petitioner is at the present time unable to name."

He stated that Mrs. Stavely was 82 years old when she signed the will, and was "bedfast by reason of serious illness and was so weak and infirm mentally that she was unable intelligently to dispose of her property, that at said time she did not have full knowledge of the property she possessed and of the value thereof and of the disposition she desired to make of it."

Claims One-Seventh of Estate

The petition further stated that John Spangler expects to prove that Mrs. Stavely had "no conscious intention of bestowing all her property upon the legatees named in the purported will without including therein any provision for the remainder of her heirs."

John Spangler, who claims one-seventh of the estate, named as others who would share as heirs-at-law, the following: Luther A. Spangler, a brother; Annie L. Fisher and Emma Hofe, sisters; Nannie Wherley, Edna Sponseller, Mary Sponseller, Alice Little, Gertrude Tipton and Elsie Stover, nieces of the decedent; Paul Spangler, Mark Spangler, Lester Spangler, George Spangler, Arthur S. Spangler, Earl Spangler, Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler, nephews.

John Spangler's appeal was filed Wednesday with Register Horner who set the bond to guarantee payment of expenses in the case at $500. The petition to the court was then filed with Clerk of the Courts Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer.

J. G. WOLF SUES SCHOOL BOARD FOR BACK PAY

J. Guy Wolf, 32 East Lincoln avenue, a commercial teacher at Gettysburg high school, filed action Thursday to recover from the school district of Gettysburg what he charges is back salary of $200 per year since the beginning of the school year of 1941-42.

The action in assumpsit was in case stated; an action in which both parties agree to the facts as presented in the petition to the court and ask for a special court verdict.

Wolf contends, in his action, that a contract entered into by him and the Gettysburg School board May 6, 1937, guaranteed him an annual salary of $1,800. He further states that the board notified him July 7, 1941, that his salary would be reduced from $1,800 to $1,600 and the latter figure is the salary he has been receiving since the beginning of the 1941-1942 school year.

Others Reduced

The school board action taken in July 1941 reduced the salaries of Miss Dorothy Brindle, former music supervisor, and Miss Ann Mumper, former art supervisor, to $1,600 each. A teachers' salary schedule adopted January 9, 1939, was used as a basis for the reduction in July 1941. The salary schedule set basic salaries for teachers, based on certain educational requirements and the number of years of teaching in the Gettysburg schools.

Wolf said he received a board notice June 13, 1940, in which it was stated that salaries would be reduced to conform with the teachers' salary schedule, but that his salary for the school year, 1940-1941 would remain at $1,800. He stated that his educational credits would not have entitled him to receive more than $1,600 under the salary schedule.

Since the beginning of the school year, 1941-1942, he said, he has not received more than $1,600 plus certain increases required by an act of the state assembly in May 1943. He stated that he endorsed under protest all salary checks received since the pay cut, and on May 30, 1942, addressed a letter to the board in which he formally requested the restoration of his former salary.

Action Next Month

The action asks that if the court decides the school district was not entitled to reduce Wolf's salary, that judgment be entered against the school board for the amount due—a figure to be set by the date of the entry of the judgment.

J. Francis Yake, Jr., Esq. and Lewis F. Adler, Esq., of Harrisburg, signed the "in case stated" action for Wolf. Richard A. Brown, Esq., school board attorney, signed for the defendants. A subpoena for the school board to appear in the November court for the hearing of the case was accepted by Brown.

Attached to the case papers were copies of Wolf's contract with the school board; an extract from the minutes of the school board meeting July 7, 1941; and two letters dated June 13, 1940, and July 14, 1941, addressed to Wolf from the board.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT WORK OF SERVICE GROUP

Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., and Paul L. Kinsey conducted an information program on the services being rendered by the local veteran's service committee, at the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening at the YWCA.

The program gave a general outline of the part the committee is playing in helping re-establish returning veterans and the part to be played in such work in the future.

Mr. Bulleit, who is appeal attorney for the local selective service board, spoke generally of the draft board set-up and explained the work it is doing in acting as an information center for the vets.

The selective service system for this war already is four years old as compared to its 18 months' existence during World War I. More than 10 per cent of Adams county's population is serving in the armed forces, he said, and the work of such committees and organizations which will render the returning veterans help is most valuable.

Committee Members

Members of the Veterans' Service committee are headed by Kinsey. Other members are Bulleit, Paul L. Rohrbaugh, commander of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion; and Edward A. Crouse, manager of the local office of the United States Employment service.

That group will work with the local Veterans' Advisory committee, of which Judge W. C. Sheely is director; the Veterans' Administration, the nearest office of which is in Harrisburg, with Ralph Lookingbill in charge; volunteer workers of the local Red Cross chapter, with Mrs. William C. Tyson in charge of the group, and the local selective service board.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college and an honorary Rotarian, also spoke and commended the draft board and the veterans service committee for their work. He told plans now underway at the college to help the vets get back into school work, take advantage of the government's schooling program, and complete their education.

Visitors at the meeting included Merle Hilty, Leechburg; Raymond C. Webster, Lemoyne; A. C. Moser, Harrisburg; and the Rev. T. Painter Hanson, Gettysburg. There were 42 members present. President Walter T. Africa presided.

CONTESTS WILL MADE BY AGED COUNTY WOMAN

Court action was instituted here Thursday by John W. Spangler, of Hanover, who contends the will of his late sister, Clara Adelia Stavely., of Germany township, was made under duress and constraint exercised by one of the heirs, a nephew.

Spangler in a petition presented to the court, asked for a jury trial to decide on two questions (1) whether or not at the time of the execution of the will, the decedent was a person of sound mind; and (2) whether or not execution of the will was procured by undue influence, duress, and contraint practiced upon Mrs. Stavely, by the nephew, Amos L. Spangler, and others.

Charges "Undue Influence"

Mrs. Stavely died at her home May 8, of this year. Her will, as filed at the office of Register of Wills Winfield G. Horner, named Amos L. Spangler, Luther H. Spangler, another nephew, Wilbur A. Bankert, all of Littlestown, as executors of her estate. When the will was filed for probate the estate was estimated at $14,800 in personal property and $2,800 in real estate. The will was dated November 13, 1943, and Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler were named sole heirs.

John Spangler said in his petition that he "believes and expects to be able to prove that at the time of the execution of the aforesaid writing (the will) the physical and mental condition of the said decedent was greatly impaired by sickness and the infirmities of age, and that she was not a person of sound mind capable of disposing of her estate by will, and further that said writing was procured by undue influence, duress and constraint practiced upon the said decedent by Amos L. Spangler, one of the executors named in the alleged will and by other persons whom your petitioner is at the present time unable to name."

He stated that Mrs. Stavely was 82 years old when she signed the will, and was "bedfast by reason of serious illness and was so weak and infirm mentally that she was unable intelligently to dispose of her property, that at said time she did not have full knowledge of the property she possessed and of the value thereof and of the disposition she desired to make of it."

Claims One-Seventh of Estate

The petition further stated that John Spangler expects to prove that Mrs. Stavely had "no conscious intention of bestowing all her property upon the legatees named in the purported will without including therein any provision for the remainder of her heirs."

John Spangler, who claims one-seventh of the estate, named as others who would share as heirs-at-law, the following: Luther A. Spangler, a brother; Annie L. Fisher and Emma Hofe, sisters; Nannie Wherley, Edna Sponseller, Mary Sponseller, Alice Little, Gertrude Tipton and Elsie Stover, nieces of the decedent; Paul Spangler, Mark Spangler, Lester Spangler, George Spangler, Arthur S. Spangler, Earl Spangler, Luther H. Spangler and Amos L. Spangler, nephews.

John Spangler's appeal was filed Wednesday with Register Horner who set the bond to guarantee payment of expenses in the case at $500. The petition to the court was then filed with Clerk of the Courts Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer.

SQUIRES CRUSH MAROON ELEVEN BY 25-0 SCORE

Gettysburg high school's one-game football "winning streak" was stopped in no uncertain manner Monday evening when Delone Catholic high of McSherrystown crushed the Dry-men on the local field, 25-0, before a crowd of approximately 1,500 fans.

The Maroons were completely outclassed, outrushed and outplayed by their heavier opponents who had everything their own way from start to finish. The Squires rolled up 15 first downs while Gettysburg could muster but four.

Delone staged an uninterrupted march of 60 yards to score its first touchdown early in the second period. The march began midway in the first period with the entire Delone backfield chipping in with some nice gains that eventually wound up with a first down on the Gettysburg 5. Keefer picked up two yards at left tackle and then H. Noel went through the left side of the line for the tally. On a fake placement kick, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for the extra point.

South Penn League Standing

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Hanover	2	0	1	250
Carlisle	2	0	0	195
Hershey	2	1	0	185
Chambersburg	1	0	1	170
Gettysburg	1	2	0	90
Waynesboro	0	3	0	.00

Friday's Schedule

Chambersburg at Gettysburg.
Carlisle at Hershey.
Waynesboro at Mechanicsburg.

Score On Pass

Late in the same quarter W. Noel intercepted a Maroon pass to give the visitors the ball on Gettysburg's 45. W. Noel then dropped back and chucked a 40-yard aerial to Sneeringer on the 10-yard stripe and he raced over for the score. Rider's placement for the extra point was wide.

The Squires marched 57 yards for their third tally in the third period. After pounding out two straight first downs, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for another first down on the 17. H. Noel went through center for a first down on the five. On his second thrust at the line Keefer went over from the one-yard stripe. Again Rider's kick was wide.

Interception Hurts

A pass interception by Keefer on the Delone 45 opened the way for the Squires' final touchdown in the fourth period. H. Noel went around left end for a first down on the Maroons' 36 and then a pass to Sneeringer was good for a first down on the 25. H. Noel again went around left end to reach the 10 from where W. Noel circled right end for the score. Rider's boot went wide for the third straight time.

Fumbles were frequent on both sides with Dick Shealer recovering two made by the opponents and grabbing another in the first period following a pass completion to give Gettysburg a first down.

Gettysburg's attack was sadly lacking. On but two occasions was the local outfit able to move the ball into Delone territory. Early in the final period on a double pass, Haehlen to Fidler to Moyer, the Maroons earned a first down on the visitors' 48 only to have Keefer intercept and pave the way for a Delone touchdown drive.

Again in the waning minutes of play a 15-yard penalty against the Squires reserve team moved the ball to the 48 where the game ended a few seconds later.

MAROONS MEET CHAMBERSBURG HERE TONIGHT

An unbeaten Chambersburg high school football team will seek to keep its record clean here this evening at 8 o'clock when it meets Coach Mel Dry's Gettysburg high outfit in the final home game of the season for the Maroons.

The Trojans, despite their impressive record, have not developed into as strong an outfit as pre-season dopesters anticipated.

In scoring victories over Shippensburg, Columbia and Hershey, Coach Beard's boys came from behind to triumph. In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon Chambersburg held a 14-0 advantage going into the final period but collapsed to allow the Nighthawks to gain a 14-14 tie. Hanover pushed the Franklin countians all over the field in rolling up 16 first downs to their opponents' four.

Alters lineup

Coach Dry indicated he will make two changes in the starting lineup for the locals. George Thrush will replace Luther Sachs at end while William Sperry will move from guard to center with Stevenson moving into Sperry's slot at guard. Hess, who started at center against Delone, may be able to see part time action if his ankle heals sufficiently.

The remainder of the Maroon lineup will include Rasmussen, end; Sanders and Keefer, tackles; Shealer, guard; Haehnlen, Moyer, Fidler and Tonsel, backs.

Chambersburg's starting outfit is expected to include Heindel and Koutris, ends; Hendeson and Housser, tackles; Blair and Boyles, guards; Stumbaugh, center; Bricker, quarterback; Lesher and Renfrew, halfbacks, and Geiman, fullback.

Other Games

Two other conference games are on tap this evening. The most important will be the battle between Carlisle and Hershey at Hershey. Carlisle is in second place in the South Penn loop with two wins in as many starts while Hershey is third with two wins and one setback.

Waynesboro and Mechanicsburg, each seeking their first win of the season, meet at Mechanicsburg. The Tornado has lost four straight games while Mechanicsburg has dropped five.

MAROON SCRUBS PLAY 7-7 TIE WITH HANOVER

The Gettysburg high school jayvees and Hanover junior high school football teams battled to a 7-7 tie Thursday evening under the lights at Hanover.

Using a series of devastating end runs, Hanover tallied in the first period when Louey circled end on a short run for a tally. Rightmire place kicked the extra point.

Coach Haehnlen's lads came right back and marched 60 yards for a tally in the second period, Wolfgang going over from the 10-yard line standing up. A pass, Hershey to F. Rodgers, was good for the extra point.

Make Other Threats

Each team made serious bids to score in the last half, the Maroons moving to the Hanover 20-yard mark before being stopped while Hanover reached the locals' 25 in the final round before yielding the ball a few plays before the end of the game.

As a whole Coach Haehnlen's lads played much better ball than in their previous game and put up a highly credible showing against a much heavier outfit. The strong play of the center of the line was outstanding while the backs played well in all departments.

SEEK TO BOOST WAR BOND SALES

Edgar W. Weaner, chairman of the agricultural division of the Adams county War Finance, urged agricultural committee township chairmen to complete their organizations before the Sixth War Bond drive opens November 20.

He said he hoped each township every 10 farm families in his territory. He emphasized the fact that the war is not over and that southwest Pacific operations are more costly than those in Europe because of the great distances involved. "We can't afford to slow upon bond sales now," he declared.

M. J. Grimes, agricultural deputy of the state committee and the chief speaker for the evening, said he was confident that in the coming Sixth War Loan drive the agricultural groups would make a better showing than in the Fifth. Throughout the nation, he said, the returns from the agricultural regions were lower in the Fifth drive than in any preceding campaign.

At that time there was scarcely any harvesting done throughout the United States, but now, with the exception of apples, all crops are in. For this reason, Mr. Grimes expects a greater response from agricultural groups in the coming drive.

Statistics show, he said, that bond sales are in direct relation to the number of personal solicitations. He urged the workers to contact everyone. In Adams county, Mr. Grimes said that the coverage had been good but that in the Sixth drive there was every reason to expect a larger coverage.

The township chairmen present included Harvey Raffensperger, Butler; Casper Myers, Mt Pleasant; Roy Weaner, Straban; John Settle, Franklin; Mervin Bishop, Freedom; D. H. Neely, Hamiltonban; and E. J. Smith, Huntington.

Those townships not represented included Berwick, Conewago, Menallen, Mt. Joy, Reading, Tyrone, Union, Cumberland, Germany, Hamilton, Highland, Latimore and Liberty.

'Penny Milk' For First Grade Pupils Is Planned

The 100 first grade pupils in the Gettysburg public schools soon will be supplied with a half pint of milk each morning at recess time when a plan announced Wednesday afternoon by the Woman's club of Gettysburg goes into operation.

The club announcement stated that the state will share in the cost of the program under its "Penny Milk Parade" setup while the Woman's club will pay for a share of the cost of each bottle of milk. The cost to the child will be one cent per bottle.

There will be a bottle of milk for every first grader. Boys or girls unable to supply the penny will be served as well as those who can pay for their milk.

Although complete details of the program have not yet been worked out here, the daily bottle of milk is expected to be made available some time next month. Present plans provide for the "Penny Milk Parade" to continue through the winter months.

May Expand Project

Explaining that the project is being undertaken in the way of an experiment, club officers said that if results are satisfactory and funds are available, the milk may be supplied for a longer period.

The club also may seek to interest other local organizations in helping to finance an expansion of the program to include second grade pupils and first and second grade pupils in the local parochial school.

Whole milk will be supplied—not chocolate milk.

The club's welfare committee headed by Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., is in charge of arrangements. The club estimates that the winter-month milk for the public school first graders will cost the club about $65.

LOCAL LIONS HOSTS AT ZONE MEETING HERE

Deputy District Governor C. Glenn Fry of Waynesboro was the speaker for the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening, held in conjunction with fall meeting of clubs in the eastern zone of Region 3. Fifty-five Lions and guests attended the meeting at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. The zone business meeting followed the regular club session.

Deputy District Governor Fry pointed to opportunities and responsibilities for community war time service available to Lions clubs and then presented membership pins to two new members of the Gettysburg club, Charles R. Wolfe, East Middle street, and Kenneth P. Hull, Howard street.

Visiting officers of the Lions clubs at Waynesboro, Blue Ridge Summit, Littlestown, East Berlin, New Oxford, York Springs and Upper Adams county were introduced and these district officers were presented: Russell Frantz, Chambersburg, regional secretary, and Joseph Spangler, also of Chambersburg, chairman of the western zone of Region 3.

Plan Regional Contests

Hugh C. McIlhenny, the chairman of the eastern zone, introduced the officers, presented Mr. Fry and presided at the zone business meeting which followed the club session.

At the zone meeting plans were set up for regional attendance and membership increase contests with $40 to be distributed in prizes in each contest which will run from December 1 through March 31. The prizes will be presented at a regional ladies' night meeting to be held in April or early May. First, second and third place prizes will be given in each contest.

Clubs reported on current activities throughout the zone, discussed club problems and submitted information to be included in zone reports to the district governor and Lions International. The Waynesboro club invited the zone to hold its next meeting there in March. The exact date was not set

845 Hunters Have Bought Licenses

Total sales of hunting licenses for the current year stood at 845 Saturday morning at the office of County Treasurer John W. Brehm at the court house.

With the rabbit season opening November 1, sales in recent weeks have been increasing and Treasurer Brehm reported the sale of between 40 and 50 licenses Friday. He said Saturday he believed total sales to date are higher than for the corresponding period of last year.

An apparent easing of the ammunition shortage, which was evident this week in the sale of 25,000 shotgun shells at a local hardware store, has probably been the largest factor in boosting the ranks of the nimrods, the treasurer said. With only eight days remaining to purchase the licenses before the opening of the small game season, Brehm said he expected a rush of busines this week and "looks forward to a much larger sale than last year."

Local USES Office Places 1,188 Workers

The local United States Employment Service office of the War Manpower Commission placed 1188 workers in jobs last month E. A. Crouse, manager, announced Thursday. Of these placements, he said, 581 were women.

"Under the priority referral system, whereby we channel as many male workers as possible into war jobs where they are most vitally needed," Mr. Crouse said "many of these workers were found jobs supporting the war effort."

Placements in occupational groups were as follows: Service jobs 1, semi-skilled 3, unskilled and others 1184.

MENU COVERS FOR NAVY MADE BY HI STUDENTS

Three hundred menu covers for the Christmas dinner of the Navy have been made this year by 95 art students at Gettysburg high school, Mrs. W. J. Stanton, art instructor in the local public schools, announced Friday.

The covers were made at the request of the Adams County Red Cross. For more than 15 years the Red Cross has provided the Navy with art covers for its Christmas menus.

Because of necessary wartime secrecy concerning ship movements, menu covers are sent for distribution to the commanding officer of each naval district instead of to the ships. Every ship which makes port before Christmas and each naval base and naval training station within the United States receives its quota.

PENN DAY IS OBSERVED BY H.S. STUDENTS

Students in Adams county high schools celebrated Tuesday the 300th anniversary of the birthday of William Penn with special exercises at which each school planted a hemlock, the Pennsylvania state tree.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the Adams County Historical society and head of the history department at Gettysburg college, delivered the dedicatory remarks in connection with the tree planting at the Gettysburg high school. In the program under the auspices of the Local History club at the high school, the tree was planted by the club officers, President Norman Rasmussen, Vice-President Walter Keeney, Secretary Barbara Johnson and Treasurer Cornelius Knorr.

The exercises opened with a selection by the high school band under the direction of Edwin S. Longanecker and Doris Gitlin read the governor's Penn Day proclamation. Janice Sachs sang "Pennsylvania" and Doctor Fortenbaugh reviewed the life of William Penn and told of the characteristics of the founder of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Fortenbaugh spoke of Penn as "the greatest of the founders of any of the American colonies. He was the apostle not only of religious liberty, but also of political liberty and of peace."

The history department head pointed out that not only had Penn founded Pennsylvania, but he also colonized Delaware and a part of New Jersey.

Arrangements for the celebration were directed by Miss Louise Ramer, faculty advisor for the history club.

Other High Schools

At the Fairfield high school, the exercises were begun in the school auditorium where six members of the freshman English civics class read essays they had written on the life and citizenship of Penn. Those reading the essays were Mary Izer, Thomas Sanders, Joseph Topper, Betty Hiner, Janet Sites and Dorothy Jean McCleaf.

Following the program in the auditorium, the student body went to the school yard where Barbara Kleppinger read the governor's proclamation and John Dick and Leonard Sites planted the hemlock. Miss Mary Shaffer, teacher of the English civics class, was in charge of the program.

The Biglerville high school program, under the direction of Ray Shetter, a faculty member, opened with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the school band. Barbara Kleinfelter read the proclamation and Arthur Gordon of the faculty, gave an address, "Penn's Ideals." Jane Beal read the poem, "Trees," and the FFA club members planted the hemlock. The exercises, which were witnessed by the entire student body, closed with the playing of "America," by the band.

Although the hemlock tree was planted Tuesday at the Arendtsville Vocational school, the special Penn assembly program was held this morning in the school auditorium. The planting was done by members of the Future Farmers of America group under the direction of Jack B. Clinch, agricultural teacher. The program this morning was in charge of Charles Lady, Arendtsville FFA president, who spoke on Penn's life.

SQUIRES CRUSH MAROON ELEVEN BY 25 - 0 SCORE

Gettysburg high school's one-game football "winning streak" was stopped in no uncertain manner Monday evening when Delone Catholic high of McSherrystown crushed the Dry-men on the local field, 25-0, before a crowd of approximately 1,500 fans.

The Maroons were completely outclassed, outrushed and outplayed by their heavier opponents who had everything their own way from start to finish. The Squires rolled up 15 first downs while Gettysburg could muster but four.

Delone staged an uninterrupted march of 80 yards to score its first touchdown early in the second period. The march began midway in the first period with the entire Delone backfield chipping in with some nice gains that eventually wound up with a first down on the Gettysburg 5. Keefer picked up two yards at left tackle and then H. Noel went through the left side of the line for the tally. On a fake placement kick, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for the extra point.

Score On Pass

Late in the same quarter W. Noel intercepted a Maroon pass to give the visitors the ball on Gettysburg's 45. W. Noel then dropped back and chucked a 40-yard aerial to Sneeringer on the 10-yard stripe and he raced over for the score. Rider's placement for the extra point was wide.

The Squires marched 57 yards for their third tally in the third period. After pounding out two straight first downs, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for another first down on the 17. H. Noel went through center for a first down on the five. On his second thrust at the line Keefer went over from the one-yard stripe. Again Rider's kick was wide.

Interception Hurts

A pass interception by Keefer on the Delone 45 opened the way for the Squires' final touchdown in the fourth period. H. Noel went around left end for a first down on the Maroons' 36 and then a pass to Sneeringer was good for a first down on the 25. H. Noel again went around left end to reach the 10 from where W. Noel circled right end for the score. Rider's boot went wide for the third straight time.

Fumbles were frequent on both sides with Dick Shealer recovering two made by the opponents and grabbing another in the first period following a pass completion to give Gettysburg a first down.

Gettysburg's attack was sadly lacking. On but two occasions was the local outfit able to move the ball into Delone territory. Early in the final period on a double pass, Haehnlen to Fidler to Moyer, the Maroons earned a first down on the visitors' 48 only to have Keefer intercept and pave the way for a Delone touchdown drive.

Again in the waning minutes of play a 15-yard penalty against the Squires reserve team moved the ball to the 48 where the game ended a few seconds later.

Trojans Here Friday

Gettysburg took to the air 13 times, completed three while three were intercepted. Coach Waleski's lads attempted 12 passes and made good on three.

MAROONS MEET CHAMBERSBURG HERE TONIGHT

An unbeaten Chambersburg high school football team will seek to keep its record clean here this evening at 8 o'clock when it meets Coach Mel Dry's Gettysburg high outfit in the final home game of the season for the Maroons.

The Trojans, despite their impressive record, have not developed into as strong an outfit as pre-season dopesters anticipated.

In scoring victories over Shippensburg, Columbia and Hershey, Coach Beard's boys came from behind to triumph. In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon Chambersburg held a 14-0 advantage going into the final period but collapsed to allow the Nighthawks to gain a 14-14 tie. Hanover pushed the Franklin countians all over the field in rolling up 16 first downs to their opponents' four.

Alters lineup

Coach Dry indicated he will make two changes in the starting lineup for the locals. George Thrush will replace Luther Sachs at end while William Sperry will move from guard to center with Stevenson moving into Sperry's slot at guard. Hess, who started at center against Delone, may be able to see part time action if his ankle heals sufficiently.

The remainder of the Maroon lineup will include Rasmussen, end; Sanders and Keefer, tackles; Shealer, guard; Haehnlen, Moyer, Fidler and Tonsel, backs.

Chambersburg's starting outfit is expected to include Heindel and Koutris, ends; Hendeson and Houser, tackles; Blair and Boyles, guards; Stumbaugh, center; Bricker, quarterback; Lesher and Renfrew, halfbacks, and Geiman, fullback.

Other Games

Two other conference games are on tap this evening. The most important will be the battle between Carlisle and Hershey at Hershey. Carlisle is in second place in the South Penn loop with two wins in as many starts while Hershey is third with two wins and one setback.

Waynesboro and Mechanicsburg, each seeking their first win of the season, meet at Mechanicsburg. The Tornado has lost four straight games while Mechanicsburg has dropped five.

MAROON SCRUBS PLAY 7 - 7 TIE WITH HANOVER

The Gettysburg high school jayvees and Hanover junior high school football teams battled to a 7-7 tie Thursday evening under the lights at Hanover.

Using a series of devastating end runs, Hanover tallied in the first period when Louey circled end on a short run for a tally. Rightmire place kicked the extra point.

Coach Haehnlen's lads came right back and marched 60 yards for a tally in the second period, Wolfgang going over from the 10-yard line standing up. A pass, Hershey to F. Rodgers, was good for the extra point.

Make Other Threats

Each team made serious bids to score in the last half, the Maroons moving to the Hanover 20-yard mark before being stopped while Hanover reached the locals' 25 in the final round before yielding the ball a few plays before the end of the game.

As a whole Coach Haehnlen's lads played much better ball than in their previous game and put up a highly credible showing against a much heavier outfit. The strong play of the center of the line was outstanding while the backs played well in all departments.

SEEK TO BOOST WAR BOND SALES

Edgar W. Weaner, chairman of the agricultural division of the Adams county War Finance, urged agricultural committee township chairmen to complete their organizations before the Sixth War Bond drive opens November 20.

He said he hoped each township every 10 farm families in his territory. He emphasized the fact that the war is not over and that southwest Pacific operations are more costly than those in Europe because of the great distances involved. "We can't afford to slow upon bond sales now," he declared.

M. J. Grimes, agricultural deputy of the state committee and the chief speaker for the evening, said he was confident that in the coming Sixth War Loan drive the agricultural groups would make a better showing than in the Fifth. Throughout the nation, he said, the returns from the agricultural regions were lower in the Fifth drive than in any preceding campaign.

At that time there was scarcely any harvesting done throughout the United States, but now, with the exception of apples, all crops are in. For this reason, Mr. Grimes expects a greater response from agricultural groups in the coming drive.

Statistics show, he said, that bond sales are in direct relation to the number of personal solicitations. He urged the workers to contact everyone. In Adams county, Mr. Grimes said that the coverage had been good but that in the Sixth drive there was every reason to expect a larger coverage.

The township chairmen present included Harvey Raffensperger, Butler; Casper Myers, Mt. Pleasant; Roy Weaner, Straban; John Settle, Franklin; Mervin Bishop, Freedom; D. H. Neely, Hamiltonban; and E. J. Smith, Huntington.

Those townships not represented included Berwick, Conewago, Menallen, Mt. Joy, Reading Tyrone, Union, Cumberland, Germany, Hamilton, Highland, Latimore and Liberty.

'Penny Milk' For First Grade Pupils Is Planned

The 100 first grade pupils in the Gettysburg public schools soon will be supplied with a half pint of milk each morning at recess time when a plan announced Wednesday afternoon by the Woman's club of Gettysburg goes into operation.

The club announcement stated that the state will share in the cost of the program under its "Penny Milk Parade" setup while the Woman's club will pay for a share of the cost of each bottle of milk. The cost to the child will be one cent per bottle.

There will be a bottle of milk for every first grader. Boys or girls unable to supply the penny will be served as well as those who can pay for their milk.

Although complete details of the program have not yet been worked out here, the daily bottle of milk is expected to be made available some time next month. Present plans provide for the "Penny Milk Parade" to continue through the winter months.

May Expand Project

Explaining that the project is being undertaken in the way of an experiment, club officers said that if results are satisfactory and funds are available, the milk may be supplied for a longer period.

The club also may seek to interest other local organizations in helping to finance an expansion of the program to include second grade pupils and first and second grade pupils in the local parochial school.

Whole milk will be supplied—not chocolate milk.

The club's welfare committee headed by Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., is in charge of arrangements. The club estimates that the winter-month milk for the public school first graders will cost the club about $65.

LOCAL LIONS HOSTS AT ZONE MEETING HERE

Deputy District Governor C. Glenn Fry of Waynesboro was the speaker for the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening, held in conjunction with fall meeting of clubs in the eastern zone of Region 3. Fifty-five Lions and guests attended the meeting at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. The zone business meeting followed the regular club session.

Deputy District Governor Fry pointed to opportunities and responsibilities for community war time service available to Lions clubs and then presented membership pins to two new members of the Gettysburg club, Charles R. Wolfe, East Middle street, and Kenneth P. Hull, Howard street.

Visiting officers of the Lions clubs at Waynesboro, Blue Ridge Summit, Littlestown, East Berlin, New Oxford, York Springs and Upper Adams county were introduced and these district officers were presented: Russell Frantz, Chambersburg, regional secretary, and Joseph Spangler, also of Chambersburg, chairman of the western zone of Region 3.

Plan Regional Contests

Hugh C. McIlhenny, the chairman of the eastern zone, introduced the officers, presented Mr. Fry and presided at the zone business meeting which followed the club session.

At the zone meeting plans were set up for regional attendance and membership increase contests with $40 to be distributed in prizes in each contest which will run from December 1 through March 31. The prizes will be presented at a regional ladies' night meeting to be held in April or early May. First, second and third place prizes will be given in each contest.

Clubs reported on current activities throughout the zone, discussed club problems and submitted information to be included in zone reports to the district governor and Lions International. The Waynesboro club invited the zone to hold its next meeting there in March. The exact date was not set.

845 Hunters Have Bought Licenses

Total sales of hunting licenses for the current year stood at 845 Saturday morning at the office of County Treasurer John W. Brehm at the court house.

With the rabbit season opening November 1, sales in recent weeks have been increasing and Treasurer Brehm reported the sale of between 40 and 50 licenses Friday. He said Saturday he believed total sales to date are higher than for the corresponding period of last year.

An apparent easing of the ammunition shortage, which was evident this week in the sale of 25,000 shotgun shells at a local hardware store, has probably been the largest factor in boosting the ranks of the nimrods, the treasurer said. With only eight days remaining to purchase the licenses before the opening of the small game season, Brehm said he expected a rush of busines this week and "looks forward to a much larger sale than last year."

Local USES Office Places 1,188 Workers

The local United States Employment Service office of the War Manpower Commission placed 1188 workers in jobs last month, E. A. Crouse, manager, announced Thursday. Of these placements, he said, 581 were women.

"Under the priority referral system, whereby we channel as many male workers as possible into war jobs where they are most vitally needed," Mr. Crouse said "many of these workers were found jobs supporting the war effort."

Placements in occupational groups were as follows: Service jobs 1, semi-skilled 3, unskilled and others 1184.

MENU COVERS FOR NAVY MADE BY HI STUDENTS

Three hundred menu covers for the Christmas dinner of the Navy have been made this year by 95 art students at Gettysburg high school, Mrs. W. J. Stanton, art instructor in the local public schools, announced Friday.

The covers were made at the request of the Adams County Red Cross. For more than 15 years the Red Cross has provided the Navy with art covers for its Christmas menus.

Because of necessary wartime secrecy concerning ship movements, menu covers are sent for distribution to the commanding officer of each naval district instead of to the ships. PENN DAY IS OBSERVED BY H.S. STUDENTS

Students in Adams county high schools celebrated Tuesday the 300th anniversary of the birthday of William Penn with special exercises at which each school planted a hemlock, the Pennsylvania state tree.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the Adams County Historical society and head of the history department at Gettysburg college, delivered the dedicatory remarks in connection with the tree planting at the Gettysburg high school. In the program under the auspices of the Local History club at the high school, the tree was planted by the club officers, President Norman Rasmussen, Vice-President Walter Keeney, Secretary Barbara Johnson and Treasurer Cornelius Knorr.

The exercises opened with a selection by the high school band under the direction of Edwin S. Longanecker and Doris Gitlin read the governor's Penn Day proclamation. Janice Sachs sang "Pennsylvania" and Doctor Fortenbaugh reviewed the life of William Penn and told of the characteristics of the founder of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Fortenbaugh spoke of Penn as "the greatest of the founders of any of the American colonies. He was the apostle not only of religious liberty, but also of political liberty and of peace."

The history department head pointed out that not only had Penn founded Pennsylvania, but he also colonized Delaware and a part of New Jersey.

Arrangements for the celebration were directed by Miss Louise Ramer, faculty advisor for the history club.

Other High Schools

At the Fairfield high school, the exercises were begun in the school auditorium where six members of the freshman English civics class read essays they had written on the life and citizenship of Penn. Those reading the essays were Mary Izer, Thomas Sanders, Joseph Topper, Betty Hiner, Janet Sites and Dorothy Jean McCleaf.

SQUIRES CRUSH MAROON ELEVEN BY 25 - 0 SCORE

Gettysburg high school's one-game football "winning streak" was stopped in no uncertain manner Monday evening when Delone Catholic high of McSherrystown crushed the Dry-men on the local field, 25-0, before a crowd of approximately 1,500 fans.

The Maroons were completely outclassed, outrushed and outplayed by their heavier opponents who had everything their own way from start to finish. The Squires rolled up 15 first downs while Gettysburg could muster but four.

Delone staged an uninterrupted march of 80 yards to score its first touchdown early in the second period. The march began midway in the first period with the entire Delone backfield chipping in with some nice gains that eventually wound up with a first down on the Gettysburg 5. Keefer picked up two yards at left tackle and then H. Noel went through the left side of the line for the tally. On a fake placement kick, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for the extra point.

South Penn League Standing

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Hanover	2	0	1	250
Carlisle	2	0	0	195
Hershey	2	1	0	185
Chambersburg	1	0	1	170
Gettysburg	1	2	0	90
Mechanicsburg	0	2	0	.00
Waynesboro	0	3	0	.00

Friday's Schedule

Chambersburg at Gettysburg.
Carlisle at Hershey.
Waynesboro at Mechanicsburg.

Score On Pass

Late in the same quarter W. Noel intercepted a Maroon pass to give the visitors the ball on Gettysburg's 45. W. Noel then dropped back and chucked a 40-yard aerial to Sneeringer on the 10-yard stripe and he raced over for the score. Rider's placement for the extra point was wide.

The Squires marched 57 yards for their third tally in the third period. After pounding out two straight first downs, W. Noel passed to H. Noel for another first down on the 17. H. Noel went through center for a first down on the five. On his second thrust at the line Keefer went over from the one-yard stripe. Again Rider's kick was wide.

Interception Hurts

A pass interception by Keefer on the Delone 45 opened the way for the Squires' final touchdown in the fourth period. H. Noel went around left end for a first down on the Maroons' 36 and then a pass to Sneeringer was good for a first down on the 25. H. Noel again went around left end to reach the 10 from where W. Noel circled right end for the score. Rider's boot went wide for the third straight time.

Fumbles were frequent on both sides with Dick Shealer recovering two made by the opponents and grabbing another in the first period following a pass completion to give Gettysburg a first down.

Gettysburg's attack was sadly lacking. On but two occasions was the local outfit able to move the ball into Delone territory. Early in the final period on a double pass, Haehnlen to Fidler to Moyer, the Maroons earned a first down on the visitors' 48 only to have Keefer intercept and pave the way for a Delone touchdown drive.

Again in the waning minutes of play a 15-yard penalty against the Squires reserve team moved the ball to the 48 where the game ended a few seconds later.

Trojans Here Friday

Gettysburg took to the air 13 times, completed three while three were intercepted. Coach Waleski's lads attempted 12 passes and made good on three.

MAROONS MEET CHAMBERSBURG HERE TONIGHT

An unbeaten Chambersburg high school football team will seek to keep its record clean here this evening at 8 o'clock when it meets Coach Mel Dry's Gettysburg high outfit in the final home game of the season for the Maroons.

The Trojans, despite their impressive record, have not developed into as strong an outfit as pre-season dopesters anticipated.

In scoring victories over Shippensburg, Columbia and Hershey, Coach Beard's boys came from behind to triumph. In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon Chambersburg held a 14-0 advantage going into the final period but collapsed to allow the Nighthawks to gain a 14-14 tie. Hanover pushed the Franklin countians all over the field in rolling up 16 first downs to their opponents' four.

Alters Lineup

Coach Dry indicated he will make two changes in the starting lineup for the locals. George Thrush will replace Luther Sachs at end while William Sperry will move from guard to center with Stevenson moving into Sperry's slot at guard. Hess, who started at center against Delone, may be able to see part time action if his ankle heals sufficiently.

The remainder of the Maroon lineup will include Rasmussen, end; Sanders and Keefer, tackles; Shealer, guard; Haehnlen, Moyer, Fidler and Tonsel, backs.

Chambersburg's starting outfit is expected to include Heindel and Koutris, ends; Hendeson and Houser, tackles; Blair and Boyles, guards; Stumbaugh, center; Bricker, quarterback; Lesher and Renfrew, halfbacks, and Geiman, fullback.

Two other conference games are on tap this evening. The most important will be the battle between Carlisle and Hershey at Hershey. Carlisle is in second place in the South Penn loop with two wins in as many starts while Hershey is third with two wins and one setback.

Waynesboro and Mechanicsburg, each seeking their first win of the season, meet at Mechanicsburg. The Tornado has lost four straight games while Mechanicsburg has dropped five.

MAROON SCRUBS PLAY 7-7 TIE WITH HANOVER

The Gettysburg high school jayvees and Hanover junior high school football teams battled to a 7-7 tie Thursday evening under the lights at Hanover.

Using a series of devastating end runs, Hanover tallied in the first period when Louey circled end on a short run for a tally. Rightmire place kicked the extra point.

Coach Haehnlen's lads came right back and marched 60 yards for a tally in the second period, Wolfgang going over from the 10-yard line standing up. A pass, Hershey to F. Rodgers, was good for the extra point.

Make Other Threats

Each team made serious bids to score in the last half, the Maroons moving to the Hanover 20-yard mark before being stopped while Hanover reached the locals' 25 in the final round before yielding the ball a few plays before the end of the game.

As a whole Coach Haehnlen's lads played much better ball than in their previous game and put up a highly credible showing against a much heavier outfit. The strong play of the center of the line was outstanding while the backs played well in all departments.

SEEK TO BOOST WAR BOND SALES

Edgar W. Weaner, chairman of the agricultural division of the Adams county War Finance, urged agricultural committee township chairmen to complete their organizations before the Sixth War Bond drive opens November 20.

He said he hoped each township every 10 farm families in his territory. He emphasized the fact that the war is not over and that southwest Pacific operations are more costly than those in Europe because of the great distances involved. "We can't afford to slow upon bond sales now," he declared.

M. J. Grimes, agricultural deputy of the state committee and the chief speaker for the evening, said he was confident that in the coming Sixth War Loan drive the agricultural groups would make a better showing than in the Fifth. Throughout the nation, he said, the returns from the agricultural regions were lower in the Fifth drive than in any preceding campaign.

At that time there was scarcely any harvesting done throughout the United States, but now, with the exception of apples, all crops are in. For this reason, Mr. Grimes expects a greater response from agricultural groups in the coming drive.

Statistics show, he said, that bond sales are in direct relation to the number of personal solicitations. He urged the workers to contact everyone. In Adams county, Mr. Grimes said that the coverage had been good but that in the Sixth drive there was every reason to expect a larger coverage.

The township chairmen present included Harvey Raffensperger, Butler; Casper Myers, Mt. Pleasant; Roy Weaner, Straban; John Settle, Franklin; Mervin Bishop, Freedom; D. H. Neely, Hamiltonban; and E. J. Smith, Huntington.

Those townships not represented included Berwick, Conewago, Menallen, Mt. Joy, Reading Tyrone, Union, Cumberland, Germany, Hamilton, Highland, Latimore and Liberty.

'Penny Milk' For First Grade Pupils Is Planned

The 100 first grade pupils in the Gettysburg public schools soon will be supplied with a half pint of milk each morning at recess time when a plan announced Wednesday afternoon by the Woman's club of Gettysburg goes into operation.

The club announcement stated that the state will share in the cost of the program under its "Penny Milk Parade" setup while the Woman's club will pay for a share of the cost of each bottle of milk. The cost to the child will be one cent per bottle.

There will be a bottle of milk for every first grader. Boys or girls unable to supply the penny will be served as well as those who can pay for their milk.

Although complete details of the program have not yet been worked out here, the daily bottle of milk is expected to be made available some time next month. Present plans provide for the "Penny Milk Parade" to continue through the winter months.

May Expand Project

Explaining that the project is being undertaken in the way of an experiment, club officers said that if results are satisfactory and funds are available, the milk may be supplied for a longer period.

The club also may seek to interest other local organizations in helping to finance an expansion of the program to include second grade pupils and first and second grade pupils in the local parochial school.

Whole milk will be supplied—not chocolate milk.

The club's welfare committee headed by Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., is in charge of arrangements. The club estimates that the winter-month milk for the public school first graders will cost the club about $65.

LOCAL LIONS HOSTS AT ZONE MEETING HERE

Deputy District Governor C. Glenn Fry of Waynesboro was the speaker for the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening, held in conjunction with fall meeting of clubs in the eastern zone of Region 3. Fifty-five Lions and guests attended the meeting at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. The zone business meeting followed the regular club session.

Deputy District Governor Fry pointed to opportunities and responsibilities for community war time service available to Lions clubs and then presented membership pins to two new members of the Gettysburg club, Charles R. Wolfe, East Middle street, and Kenneth P. Hull, Howard street.

Visiting officers of the Lions clubs at Waynesboro, Blue Ridge Summit, Littlestown, East Berlin, New Oxford, York Springs and Upper Adams county were introduced and these district officers were presented: Russell Frantz, Chambersburg, regional secretary, and Joseph Spangler, also of Chambersburg, chairman of the western zone of Region 3.

Plan Regional Contests

Hugh C. McIlhenny, the chairman of the eastern zone, introduced the officers, presented Mr. Fry and presided at the zone business meeting which followed the club session.

At the zone meeting plans were set up for regional attendance and membership increase contests with $40 to be distributed in prizes in each contest which will run from December 1 through March 31. The prizes will be presented at a regional ladies' night meeting to be held in April or early May. First, second and third place prizes will be given in each contest.

Clubs reported on current activities throughout the zone, discussed club problems and submitted information to be included in zone reports to the district governor and Lions International. The Waynesboro club invited the zone to hold its next meeting there in March. The exact date was not set.

845 Hunters Have Bought Licenses

Total sales of hunting licenses for the current year stood at 845 Saturday morning at the office of County Treasurer John W. Brehm at the court house.

With the rabbit season opening November 1, sales in recent weeks have been increasing and Treasurer Brehm reported the sale of between 40 and 50 licenses Friday. He said Saturday he believed total sales to date are higher than for the corresponding period of last year.

An apparent easing of the ammunition shortage, which was evident this week in the sale of 25,000 shotgun shells at a local hardware store, has probably been the largest factor in boosting the ranks of the nimrods, the treasurer said. With only eight days remaining to purchase the licenses before the opening of the small game season, Brehm said he expected a rush of busines this week and "looks forward to a much larger sale than last year."

Local USES Office Places 1,188 Workers

The local United States Employment Service office of the War Manpower Commission placed 1188 workers in jobs last month, E. A. Crouse, manager, announced Thursday. Of these placements, he said, 581 were women.

"Under the priority referral system, whereby we channel as many male workers as possible into war jobs where they are most vitally needed." Mr. Crouse said "many of these workers were found jobs supporting the war effort."

Placements in occupational groups were as follows: Service jobs 1, semi-skilled 3, unskilled and others 1184.

MENU COVERS FOR NAVY MADE BY HI STUDENTS

Three hundred menu covers for the Christmas dinner of the Navy have been made this year by 95 art students at Gettysburg high school, Mrs. W. J. Stanton, art instructor in the local public schools, announced Friday.

The covers were made at the request of the Adams County Red Cross. For more than 15 years the Red Cross has provided the Navy with art covers for its Christmas menus.

PENN DAY IS OBSERVED BY H.S. STUDENTS

Students in Adams county high schools celebrated Tuesday the 300th anniversary of the birthday of William Penn with special exercises at which each school planted a hemlock, the Pennsylvania state tree.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the Adams County Historical society and head of the history department at Gettysburg college, delivered the dedicatory remarks in connection with the tree planting at the Gettysburg high school. In the program under the auspices of the Local History club at the high school, the tree was planted by the club officers, President Norman Rasmussen, Vice-President Walter Keeney, Secretary Barbara Johnson and Treasurer Cornelius Knorr.

The exercises opened with a selection by the high school band under the direction of Edwin S. Longanecker and Doris Gitlin read the governor's Penn Day proclamation. Janice Sachs sang "Pennsylvania" and Doctor Fortenbaugh reviewed the life of William Penn and told of the characteristics of the founder of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Fortenbaugh spoke of Penn as "the greatest of the founders of any of the American colonies. He was the apostle not only of religious liberty, but also of political liberty and of peace."

The history department head pointed out that not only had Penn founded Pennsylvania, but he also colonized Delaware and a part of New Jersey.

Arrangements for the celebration were directed by Miss Louise Ramer, faculty advisor for the history club.

Other High Schools

At the Fairfield high school, the exercises were begun in the school auditorium where six members of the freshman English civics class read essays they had written on the life and citizenship of Penn. Those reading the essays were Mary Izer, Thomas Sanders, Joseph Topper, Betty Hiner, Janet Sites and Dorothy Jean McCleaf.

Following the program in the auditorium, the student body went to the school yard where Barbara Kleppinger read the governor's proclamation and John Dick and Leonard Sites planted the hemlock. Miss Mary Shaffer, teacher of the English civics class, was in charge of the program.

The Biglerville high school program, under the direction of Ray Shetter, a faculty member, opened with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the school band. Barbara Kleinfelter read the proclamation and Arthur Gordon of the faculty, gave an address, "Penn's Ideals." Jane Beal read the poem, "Trees," and the FFA club members planted the hemlock. The exercises, which were witnessed by the entire student body, closed with the playing of "America," by the band.

Although the hemlock tree was planted Tuesday at the Arendtsville Vocational school, the special Penn assembly program was held this morning in the school auditorium. The planting was done by members of the Future Farmers of America group under the direction of Jack B. Clinch, agricultural teacher. The program this morning was in charge of Charles Lady, Arendtsville FFA president, who spoke on Penn's life.
